HENRY JOHNSTON.

Tarboro', Feb. 23, 1830.

Southern

Female Classical Seminary,

OXFORD, NORTH-CAROLINA.

THIS Seminary has been removed from Mecklenburg, Va. where it has been in operation for two years past, to this place. The appellation of Classical is adopted, from its being used to designate those Female Academies in which the method of instruction pursued, is the Pestalozzian or Inductive. This plan of instruction is employed here, and extended, as far as practicable into the various branches of study.

The School is arranged in three Classes, the studies of which are as follows:

I. Minor Class—Reading, Writing, Spelling and Defining, General outline of Geography, Mental Arithmetic, First Principles of Grammar and Etymological Parsing, the Composition of Sentences and Simple Descriptions.

II. Junior Class—The three first of the above continued, Geography, Arithmetic continued, Syntactical Parsing, Punctuation, Outline of Astronomy and use of the Globes, Natural Philosophy, History of the United States and Composition.

III. Senior Class—Arithmetic continued, Chemistry, History, Ancient and Modern, Chronology, Mythology, Astronomy, Rhetoric and Composition.

Those who are not prepared to enter the first of these Classes, are retained for a time in a Preparatory Class. Those who wish to pursue a more extensive course, compose an Honorary Class.

Instruction is also given in the Languages, Needlework, Drawing and Painting, and Music.

Lectures are delivered to the Senior Class, on Mineralogy, Botany, and Mental and Moral Philosophy. The School is furnished with a considerable collection of Minerals and Botanical Collection, and with Apparatus for performing experiments in Natural Philosophy and Chemistry.

The branches mentioned in the List of Studies are taught by Mr. and Mrs. HOLLISTER, to be assisted by such other teachers as the number of pupils may require. The Lectures and Instruction in Latin and French, are given by Mr. Hollister. Plain and ornamental Needlework, Drawing in Perspective, Painting in water colors, including Landscapes, and Painting on velvet, are taught by Mrs. Hollister.

The Department of Music is under the direction of Miss E. F. Humphreys, who has maintained a high reputation for the two last years as a teacher of Music in Oxford, and who had previously been at the head of the Music Department in the celebrated Moravian School at Bethlehem, Pa. Two Pianos are provided for the use of the pupils in Music, one of which is a superior instrument.

Parents who wish to place their daughters at School, where the course of instruction is liberal and calculated to discipline and enlarge the mind, while at the same time, the ornamental branches of female education may be attended to under the most favorable circumstances, will, it is believed, do well to place them here. The situation is pleasant and healthy, and the accommodations spacious and comfortable. A parental care is exercised over the pupils, who reside with the instructors, and plans employed for encouraging the improvement of time and the practice of amiable manners, which are peculiarly powerful in their influence.

The Scholastic year is divided into two sessions of five months each, the first commencing on the second Monday in January, and ending early in June, when the second session commences and continues until about the middle of November.

The terms for Board and Tuition in the branches mentioned in the list of studies, are $55 per session; Music $25; Drawing and Painting $10; French or Latin $10, payable in advance. No other extra charges are made. Books and Stationary are furnished, if desired, at the Richmond prices. Scholars are received at any time, and charged only from the time of their entrance.

For information respecting the character and qualifications of the teachers, the public are referred to the citizens of Oxford or any of the numerous patrons of the School. Applications for admission of scholars may be made to

Rev. E. HOLLISTER, Jan. 1830. Oxford, N. C.

M. T. C. GOULD,

No. 6, North Eighth-street, Philadelphia.

MR. GOULD teaches persons to record the language of public speakers as fast as delivered. Those who cannot attend his personal instructions may acquire the art from his book—the 7th edition of which is now before the public, price 50 cents.

N. B. This work will be sent by mail to any part of the United States, upon the following conditions, viz:

If $1 be enclosed in a letter, from a less distance than 150 miles, the writer will receive a copy of Short Hand free from postage both ways. If from a greater distance than 150, he will receive two copies, paying his own postage both ways. Postmasters and others, who prefer to pay postage both ways, will of course receive two copies in all cases.

A copy shall be sent to the publisher of any newspaper in the United States, who will give this advertisement one conspicuous insertion, and forward a number of his paper containing the same.

Just Published and for sale, a second and much improved edition of

Gould's Stenographic Chart,

For the use of Schools; exhibiting at one view, in the form of a tree, the entire elements of the theory of Short Hand. With this Chart upon the wall of a school-room, the teacher may communicate a knowledge of the art to a large class, as readily as to an individual, and without the expense of a book for each scholar. It is published upon beautiful imperial drawing paper, elegantly painted, varnished and mounted. It is extracted from the 7th, or stereotype edition of Gould's Short Hand, as taught by the author and proprietor, in the principal cities, towns and colleges of the United States, and at the above establishment in the city of Philadelphia.
