

are loudest in profession have not always been most remarkable for uniformity of practice. Perhaps too, I am not without the hope, that a knowledge of the fact may serve to blunt the keenness of those denunciations in which Mr. Mangum so freely indulges towards the "principles" of others. That man surely has lived to little purpose who after having experienced the utmost lenity himself, is not ready to accord honest and patriotic intentions to those from whom his own subsequent vacillations may have separated him.

Again—it will doubtless be recollected that for some time after the election of Judge Mangum to the Senate of the U. S. his opinions, upon a subject which at that day excited general interest throughout the country, were so freely commented upon in newspapers and elsewhere, that at a Convention in Hillsborough in 1832 he made this public avowal:—

"He had been charged by his enemies with being a Nullifier, whether through ignorance or malice, he knew not; but he spurned the charge with indignation. His opinion had been formed upon the subject, for more than two years, and had undergone no change whatever. He viewed it as a rank absurdity."

Whether this opinion has been reviewed or not, I will not undertake to affirm. The Hon. gentleman is as skillful in concealing his own views, as he is in assailing those of others. But if any indication is to be drawn from his recent course in the Senate and from his personal and political associations at Washington, the inference would seem to be authorized, that he had ceased to regard the South Carolina doctrine, so redolent of absurdity, as when he exclaimed against it in the memorable Hillsborough Convention.

How far the predictions of the Honorable Senator may be verified in regard to the future position of Edgecombe, "time, which is so important an element in testing the soundness of opinion," will alone determine. Doubtless in venturing the prophecy, the Senator recollected the versatility that has marked his own tortuous course; and in reference to the state of public opinion in North Carolina, if I could catch the prophetic spirit, I might warn the Hon. gentleman not to mistake the ripples upon the surface of the deep for the movements of its mighty Leviathan.

We have devoted a larger space than usual to the favors of correspondents, to the exclusion of other interesting matter, which we will endeavor to compress in our next. "Brougham" is received, but is unaccompanied by that indispensable requisite to insure an introduction into our columns, viz: the author's real name or a responsible reference. "A constant reader" in our next.

Congress.—A portion of the proceedings of the House of Representatives on Friday evening, during the confusion on the previous question, was omitted by our reporters, in the report of that day.

Colonel Crockett rose to order. He had been endeavoring, he said, for a week past, to catch the Speaker's eye. That he was anxious to make a speech, and was prepared to do so, but that he had been prevented twice, by the previous question. He therefore wished to know of the Speaker, if it would be in order for him to write out his speech, and publish it as delivered on the floor.

The Speaker, we believe, made no decision on the point, but as there seemed to be an universal approbation on the part of the House, we hope the Col. will take it as an assent on their part to the intimation given by him. We hope, therefore, soon to see the speech that was to have been.—Wash. Tel.

Shipwreck.—We have heard but few particulars of the effects of the late gale, but these few are sufficiently distressing. It commenced on the 3d instant, and continued, with nearly unabated violence, till the night of the 6th. A gentleman from below reports, that out of sixty or seventy sail which were inside of Ocracoke Bar, the following are on shore.

- Schr. Marlo, of Newport, will be got off.
- " George Pollock, of Beaufort do.
- " do.
- " Baltimore, of Baltimore, lost.
- " Susan, of Newbern, do.
- " — from Philadelphia, sunk.

Others parted their cables and sustained considerable damage, but the above are the only serious disasters of which we have been informed. Though many narrowly escaped a watery grave, the crew of the Baltimore especially, we have heard that no lives were lost.

Newbern Spec.
We have conversed with Captain Sheffield, late of the Encomium, who informs us that the statement made of the occurrences, and published at New Orleans, (as we expressed our belief when noticed in this paper) is too highly coloured, and in some particulars incorrect. The passengers were not prevented from landing at Nassau, longer than usual, under similar circumstances, where quarantine regulations are in force; and were permitted to leave the vessel sooner than was expected, on account of their being in a distressed situation. They were also treated politely by the Officers of the man of war, who directed some of them to be landed in the barges of that vessel. The letter of the Lieutenant Governor, of which an extract was given, referred to those who should attempt to force away the slaves, and did not apply to persons who wished to take slaves that were willing to go with their masters—as an evidence of which, Captain S. carried one away with him, and a passenger, it is stated, took away eight. Captain S. contradicts the statement, that there was only a jolly boat attached to the brig, when she was wrecked, but informs us that it was a first rate long boat. He states that he was not aware of the whole character of the statement when he signed it, being engaged when it was presented to him, by one of the passengers, and not having time to read the whole paper, which was unquestionably written when under excitement. That the conduct of the officers who boarded the vessel was not such as it should have been, there is no doubt; and the detention of the slaves was also a most unwarrantable act, and will, we doubt not be taken proper notice of by our Government...Charleston Cou.

DIED,
In Johnston county, on the 28th ultimo, Mr. George Wimberley, aged 64 years 3 months and 8 days. Mr. Wimberley was an exemplary member of the Baptist Church for more than 22 years. It is not the intention of the writer to eulogize the memory of the dead, but this case is too bright and exemplary to be passed in silence. For a long period he labored under bodily affliction which he endured with Christian resignation, but as his strength failed him his hopes of heaven and immortality brightened, until with his last expiring breath he was enabled to say—Come, Lord Jesus. Upon being asked if he felt his supporting arm underneath him, yes, he replied, I found the Lord merciful and gracious to me when young, and blessed be his name he is precious to me as ever, and his promise that he will never leave me nor forsake me; and now I am going through the valley of the shadow of death his hand still sustains me—and he expressed in his last expiring breath a desire to depart this mortal existence and be with his blessed Saviour. He is gone home to the bosom of his Father and God—he has left behind him a rich legacy of a well spent life devoted to his Redeemer. Reader, while contemplating the exit of this exemplary Christian say, Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my end be like his.

Land for Sale.
BEING anxious to move to the West, I offer for sale the Tract of Land whereon I now live, containing About One Thousand Acres.
It is a healthy situation, in Nash county, on Stony Creek, about three miles above the great Falls of Tar River, with a commodious two story dwelling house (new,) and other out houses; apple and peach orchards sufficient to make 15 or 20 barrels brandy, besides other fruit trees. The land is of tolerable good quality and well watered. On the said Stony Creek (a constant stream) there is an excellent grist and saw mill, cotton machine, &c. (on solid rock foundation,) all in good order. Long credit can be given if it best suits the purchaser, or negroes will be taken in part payment.

MARION,
WILL STAND the ensuing season at the New Hope Race Course, Halifax, North Carolina; and will render service at FIFTY DOLLARS the season, payable at its expiration, which may be discharged by Forty Dollars cash; SEVENTY-FIVE Dollars insurance; One Dollar cash, to the Groom in every instance. The season will commence the 10th February and end 1st August. Major West will furnish good and extensive pasturage gratis, and mares grazed at 25 cents per day. Every attendance will be given to prevent accidents or escapes, but no responsibility for either.

MARION
IS of fine size, great muscular power, and commanding appearance, his blood and performance place him in the foremost rank of our racing stock; he is the very type of his sire and grand-sire, old Archy and Citizen, from whose loins he sprung, and whose unrivalled fame he is sustaining, as will be seen by his own performances and those of his get:—Francis Marion bore off at two heats, the great sweepstakes of One Thousand Dollars entrance at Tallahassee, Florida, 3 mile heats, for 3 years old, 5 entries, 2 paid forfeit; beating Veto of South Carolina, and Mary Smith of Tennessee, in handsome style, two distinguished nags; but the old Roanoke, (as D. would say) produced Francis, which caused his owner to fob Three thousand five hundred Dollars in rale chink, [in the language of Major Downing.] and refused Two thousand five hundred Dollars for him immediately after the race—Maria West, Clar de Kitchen, Z. A. Patsy Burton, Zuleika, Mr. Corpew's colt, and Mr. Whitaker's filly have all been winners.
To my knowledge, not more than 15 of his colts have as yet been on the turf—and several of them out of common mares.
