delphia. He says as follows: "About ten years ago, while residing in New Jersey, I had a violent attack of chills and fever. The chill would come on regularly about ten o'clock, and continues for nearly two hours, followed by a burning fever for more than five hours, which no medicine would relieve; and I became so weak that I could hardly walk across the room, and could not ascend one flight of stairs in less time than ten minutes. My life became a burden to me. I loathed every kind of food, and every kind of food, and even water tasted to me like copperas. I could get no refreshing sleep either by night or by day; the medi-cines prescribed for me by physicians gave me no relief, and I was fast sinking into the grave. One day a lady persuaded me to pur-chase a box Bellamy's Pills. I took three at twelve o'clock noon, and three at night. Af-ter taking the two doses I felt better, and that night, for the first time in three months, slept for my daily chill, but to my intense joy my unwelcome visitor did not come; and after eating a hearty dinner at one o'clock, I took three more pills, and at night three more .-The next morning, after a delightful night's rest, I arose at seven o'clock, feeling quite well; and although still very weak, yet I was able to enjoy my food, and whether eating or tasted sweet and pleas ant to me.
