Senator Edmunds has introduced a bill for the protection of the American hog. He proposes that the animal shall no longer be barred out of Europe. Germany especially pretends that she is afraid it may be diseased when it reaches her borders, and so discriminates against it, but really. Mr. Edmunds says, she deires to exclude it under any circumstances. Hence it is proposed that we shall adopt retalialory measures and thus enable the hog to root his way abroad if he cannot go it on all fours .-News & Observer.

There is one opinion of the President in Buffalo, his home, it is said, that is universal among all classes,-He is considered so thoroughly honest that the richest would trust him with their millions and the poorest in the past thirty years, of this kind, as would make him their savings bank, In money and all business transactions his integrity is spotiess and confidence in him is without limit,-That is the sort of man for President, and it is gratifying to have this further testimony to the effect that our democratic executive is of the right stamp. Great Railroad Strike.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 2 .-There was universal surprise in this city last night at the great railroad strike which began at 5.30 p. m -There was ro intimation that it was I can most always sleep. Business on the Texas and I go a mile or two and find my Pacific and Missouri Pacific was mind running around in a circle from greatly retarded for a time. Three which there is no relief. hundred men had stopped work in best and most various relief I can get. an instant. Orders came from Sedulia. The causes are said to be numerous, but the chief one is that $1.50 per day is demanded as a day's wages for unskilled laborers, who now receive $1.15 per day. Other reasons are the e usul to make eight hours a day. Other reasons are the refusal to make eight hours a 'lay's work and the discharge of men at Marshall. No railroad work of any | Then, after the bath and the rub, a little description was done last night except the movement of passenger trains.

Never Heard of Death.

We are told that in the mountain fastnesses of North Georgia, where the locomotive whistle has never been heard, where the "worm of the still never dieth" and the missionary has has not preached, that there are men and children who cannot read, never heard of Jesus Chritt, His mission or death, know nothing of Sunday schools, or the proper observance of the Sabbath or what Christmas means. It is related that when a man's thirteen year old daughter died up there not long ago, the father bent over the corpse, with weeping eyes and lacerated heart, and exclaimed; "She did not know there was such a thing as death." She had never seen anybody dead; she bad pever been taught she had to die, knew nothing of the shadawy land, or eternity or hell: yet-thousands of dollars are annually collected from the people and sent to christanize the "heathen Chinee," while in the . mountain seclusions the rough and illiterate inhabitants scratch the ground, shoot the deer, barb the trout, make and drink their whiskey, and are oblivious of the gospel of Christ, "Ignorance is bliss," but there is a misdirection of funds and a lack of discernment in this matter quite apparent. - Ashville Advance. A Husband's Cruelty.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27. - Informawas lodged against a man named Groger by Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Sweetfand, of Rouseville, Pennsylvania, yesterday afternoon, and a permit was obtained to remove Mrs Groger to the county poor-house. The story told by these women, who carefully investigated the case, is one of re volting cruelty and crime on the part of the husband. He is charged with shutting up his wife, who had lost her reason, in a horribly filthy hut where she was obliged to huddle with a fleck of sheep kept in the place in order to keep herself from freezing. She had no clothing or covering but an old buff do robe with nearly all the fur worn oif. The only food she was given was commeal and water. Two years ago, and three years after her incarceration, she regained her reason and claims to remember all that has happened since then. Mrs. Groger was taken to Franklin. REST AFTER MENTAL LABOR.

"Gath" Tells How He Recuperates After Severe Literary Work.

Living in our very active age, with every individual working at the top of his speed, it becomes often a question where to get the resuscitation absolutely required after some continuous interise mental work. I see that Elward Everett Hale has recently written an article upon his own personal habits, saying that he sleeps whenever he can get a chance, and that it is only by sleeping that he arouses and recurs to what he says is the most exciting occupation to man, regular literary composition. I have probably done as much work anybody living. It has often been a matter of health and almost life to me to know how to get the necessary change. Sometimes I have to clear out for three or four days and get into the country somewhere and take a long ride through new scenes. About 300 miles in a railroad car and thirty or forty miles in an open carriage gives my. mind's thoroughly new outfit, and I

But it is in the city with the daily at-tack and drudgery of mental occupation that one needs the small hourly relief which sleep will give, but it is at the expense of the physical part of the man. Suppose, for instance, that I work from 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning till 2 in the afternoon. What shall I then do to be ready for work at 5? If I go to bed, and tal rest, but I get no exercise for my muscles and physical organs. I encourage a tendency to the gent. If I go out in the street and walk, very often the themes I have left follow me and seem to fasten themselves in my feet,

The walk to the bath or back from it is a fair amount of exercise for the logs. In the bath there is the exercise of diving and plunging, or swimming, and of the rubbing or massage by the attendants. The cold water following the swent is an absolute change of the whole mental system, as if the brain itself had been scoured off and put back. The sweating in the bath carries from the body much that corrolles and slogs it, and alters the speed of the larger organs, sleep of half an hour is equal to two hours at home in bed without exer-These baths ought to be in every important American city. There is an idea that they kill people by giving them colds. I have had cold in every way except by going to the baths. Then there is an idea that they are a shock to shocked by cold water applied in gradations from the warm to, the cold ought to strengthen itself by trying more water. The heat of the American climate, the action of coal smoke, the ment-enting habits of our people, the stinting ourselves of exercise, all call out for the bath as it is taken in Russia, whether in the cold or warm belts of that empire of vigorous mon,-Cincinnati Enquirer. Use for an Old Insurance Policy. I doubt if any one ever heard of an old fire insurance policy having any value. Yet almost any business man can produce a dozen for inspection on a moment's notice. I happened to drop in at the office of Col. W. P. Fogg the other day, when he was sorting over his old policies. He gave me a description of how a fellow traveler with himself in the Orient had used an expired fire insurance policy to good advantage.

His name was Murray. He was on board the same ship with Col. Fogg, when the came to Jaffa, where they had to make the usual landing by boats to go to Jersulem. At the landing place stood a military officer, gorgeous in eastern garb, with a magnificent silver mounted cimeter in his sash. Murray went ahead. As he presented his passport Col. Fogg noticed that it had a queer look. But the officer turned it round and round, unside down and over and over, as he gazed blankly at its pages and then gravely returned it with a low salaam and a wave of his hand that indicated his satisfaction in the correctness of it. When they were out of hearing and sight of the officer, Cel. Fogg asked to see the passport and Murray handed out an old are insurance policy. "It looks just the same, said Murray, "and it has signatures and scal; and here is the American eagle. What more do these heathen want? they can't read anyhow. Why, I never think of traveling on anything else,"-New York

The Paris Omnibus Company's System. Whoever wishes to enter an omnibus must go into an office close by one of the stations and obtain a number, which number entitles its holder to a place in due order, and all he has to do when the omnibus arrives is to wait among the group at the door until his number is called. The system, however, it must be confessed, rather breaks down on fete days, where it is customary at very crowded stations to issue half a dozen tickets or more of the same number, the holders of which are all let in one after the other. It is hard to tell why this is done, except it be to keep up people's patience by the illusion that their turn is six times as near as it

The Paris omnibuses being all in the hands of one company, which, of course, is will be looked after by the authorities, the city is so mapped out that a person with but a little knowledge of the city has only to buy one of the twopennny guides sold at the omnibus stations, and in a very short time he can acquaint himself with the forty-nine routes, and with the various signs by which he can recognize during day or night the omnibusses which ply among them. The results appear to be as beneficial to the company as to the public .- Good Words,

HOME FERTILIZER.

IN USE 11 YEAR3 .- The following Certificate is from the Rev. G. W. cal tests of fertilizers. Read what he teed.

BESTON, WAYNE CO., N. C., Sept. MESSES. BOYKIN, CARMER & Co., BALTIMORE, MD.

DEAR SIRG: Within the past eight years I have made careful experiments with as many as twenty different sorts of guanos, fertilizers, &c., already prepared or compounded and prepared by myself, with a view to ascertaining Carriage A Material. Fine Stationery, ed or compounded and prepared by the one which should combine the two ideas of being the best and at the same time the cheapest for promoting the largest yields of cotton, corn, rice and peanuts; and I give it IRON MERCHANT as my deliberate judgement that the "HOME FERTILIZER" most completely fills the bill of any and all in the long list of fertilizers tested by me. I have tried it under cotton for the past eight years, and it has always more than equaled my expectathe guanos costing $40 per ton. I have tried it repeatedly under corn and it has increased the yield out of all proportion to the cost of the fer tilizer. I have tried it under rice in competition with seven other kinds fertilizers, and it has proved itself equal to the best. And this year I an (besides using it under cotton, corn and rice) also trying it under 26 acres of peannes, using nothing Oct. 15 tf. else, and to my surprise and gratification, after a careful examination made three days since, I find the whole crop filling out splendidly, and this, too, after a very dry August, which is generally fatal to the peanut crop. Taking it every way, I should pronounce the "HOME" the best all purpose fertilizer of any with in the range of my observation or experionce, while it is certainly by long dds the cheapest. I will not use the sterotyped phrase: 'I expect to use it another year," for that goes with out saying. I expect to use more of it and use it more exclusively every year I may be engaged in farming. Yours truly G. W. SANDERLIN.
