

The Ansonian

W. C. BIVENS, Editor and Proprietor. R. S. PINKSTON, Assistant Manager. Entered as second-class matter July 5, 1906, at the postoffice at Wadesboro, N. C. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1907

REFERRING to what THE ANSONIAN had to say last week in regard to the "Rest Room for Ladies," our esteemed Wilmington Messenger, and, by the way, one of the best papers in the state, comments as follows on the subject:

The business men of the town have made a good move in the establishment of the "rest room for ladies." It will work a two-fold good. It will help the business of the town and the merchants who contribute to its maintenance will reap pecuniary advantage therefrom.

We hear it reported that Wadesboro has a disorderly house that should be investigated. It has become notorious on account of its occupants who, it is said, disgrace the "peace and dignity" of our town. We trust that the authorities will not consider such as being "necessary evils."

AMBITIOUS Charlotte, not content with securing the next session of the Presbyterian General Assembly, is now courting the next reunion of the United Confederate Veterans. She will probably want a Peace Congress next.

It is rumored that Commissioner of Agriculture Patterson will resign his office on account of his health. Dr. W. J. McLendon of this place would make a worthy successor.

"Voter" of Gullidge Township Discusses the Whiskey Question. Editor of The Ansonian

The question to be voted on the 31st of August is not a political question, as I view it but it is a question of right or wrong, although it will be decided at the ballot box. And since the evil has reached the point it has, and so many of our educated and married men have taken sides with whiskey, perhaps a vote of the people is the only way the matter will ever be settled.

Kill Two Negroes. Early Sunday morning Joe and Telman Barnes, negroes, aroused J. B. Morgan, a white farmer, living near Augusta, Ga., by knocking on his front door. Morgan's suspicions were aroused and he went through the rear of and around the house, finding one negro standing on the steps with a drawn revolver and the other crouched by the door with a knife.

The negro was ordered by Morgan to drop his pistol, but attempted to fire. He was shot dead by Morgan. Joe Barnes rushed upon Morgan with a knife and was fatally wounded by a second shot from the farmer.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Mr. Amos H. Richardson and Mrs. Lucy Gillis Wed—Mr. Richardson Well Known Here.

The following is taken from the Dayton, Wash., Courier-Press:

"Quite an interesting and romantic story could be written about the marriage of Amos H. Richardson and Mrs. Lucy Gillis Wed—Mr. Richardson Well Known Here.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are natives of this county and we learn will make their home at Ansonville, where Mr. Richardson has resided since the death of his brother, J. B. Richardson, last year.

Mr. Richardson was a Miss Crump before her marriage to Mr. Gillis.

Meeting of County Commissioners. The county commissioners held their regular monthly meeting yesterday.

Jesse Lisenby and wife were allowed $1.50 per month. The rate for boarding the prisoners in the jail was increased from 25 to 30 cents per day.

Phil Hendley was admitted to the county home. It was ordered that the Clerk to the Board purchase a flag to be displayed over the court-house in accordance with a recent act of the Legislature.

Adam Helms was allowed $1.50 per month. Anthony Edwards was allowed $1.00 per month.

The special tax for Merventownship school purposes, which was voted last week, was not ordered to be levied on account of an irregularity in keeping the registration books open after the time provided for closing them.

It was ordered that the law office heretofore occupied by Mr. H. S. Boggan, be used by the County Treasurer and Board of Education jointly, after July 1st.

Mosven News—School Tax Voted. Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Hardison left last Saturday for Chapel Hill, where they went to witness the graduation of their son, Mr. R. B. Hardison.

Miss Mae Meisenheimer returned home from Greensboro last week, where she has been in school.

Miss May McQueen is visiting relatives at Society Hill this week. Miss Sophia Moore has returned home from Pembroke, Ga., where she has had a position as music teacher for the past winter.

Miss Mary Lee Liles, who has been attending school at the Pee Dee Institute at Wadesboro, returned home Saturday.

The election on special school tax was held Saturday and the vote stood 17 to 41 in favor of the tax. There was right much interest manifested in the election as there were some that strongly opposed the tax, and we understand that there will be an effort made to throw it out, on the grounds that the registration was illegal.

There is no question in our mind but the school will prove to be a good thing and will surely go far towards helping build up our little town.

Slapped Northerner's Face. Richmond, Va., June 2.—An interesting, not to say sensational, incident of the reunion became known to a few persons to-day. According to the story, a prominent Tennessee veteran, Rush Pearson, figured as the hero of the affair.

According to the story, Pearson and several old soldiers were in a store on Broad street, when a New Yorker, whose name was not learned and who had evidently been drinking, began making himself disagreeable, cursing and applying even more offensive epithets to the Confederate soldiers in general. Finally Pearson, becoming disgusted, approached the Northerner, and catching him by one ear with one hand, with the other soundly slapped his jaws and rebuked him for his offensive language and gratuitous insults. The man did not resent the slap.

Kill Two Negroes. Early Sunday morning Joe and Telman Barnes, negroes, aroused J. B. Morgan, a white farmer, living near Augusta, Ga., by knocking on his front door. Morgan's suspicions were aroused and he went through the rear of and around the house, finding one negro standing on the steps with a drawn revolver and the other crouched by the door with a knife.

The negro was ordered by Morgan to drop his pistol, but attempted to fire. He was shot dead by Morgan. Joe Barnes rushed upon Morgan with a knife and was fatally wounded by a second shot from the farmer.
