TUESDAY. AUG. 6. 1903

WHEN a man sets himself up as a leader of his people, his per sonal conduct is apt to be scrutini zed very closely. It ought to be such as would set the proper example for those who expect to follow a leader. Yet it does seem that the time has now come when if the average man took the liber ties unto himself and conducted himself with as little regard to the honest principles of his party many of the would-be as do leaders, the destiny of this commonwealth would not be hard to foresce

It was clearly the purpose of the last constitutional amendment to disfranchise a certain class of tioned by many as a suitable and the discussions.
