AN APPREAL TO THE SOUTH

An envelope has fallen into our hands upon which is printed the following appeal to the Southen people:

The Central Committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument Asistion, United Daughters of the Confederacy, feel as sured if the people of the South are the purpose of preventing the conproperly approached they will tool of government machiney by ly contribute to the Monu ment to Jefferson Davis. This Monument will do honor not only to Mr. Davis, but to the cause he represented, and its erection is a duty too long delayed. We have determined to erect this tribute of love in 1903

The veterans turned over to us two years [ago $20,000] which has been increased to $35,000, now in bank drawing interest.

We enclose a stamped envel ope, and request a contribution of one dollar, but even the smallest amount will be received. There are no paid collectors either by salary or per cent. The veterans have entrusted the completion of this monument to the women of the South, and they have never betrayed a trust.

MRS. E. D. TAYLOR, Treas. No. 3 East Franklin St.,

Richmond, Va

MRS. N. V. RANDOLPH.

Chairman Central Committee. No words of a newspaper can add force to this appeal. The South owes it to itself, as well as to the memory of the noble man who so heroically espoused her cause, to build this monu ment, and every man, woman and child in the Southern States should esteem it a privilege to subscribe to the fund. These envelopes will be put into the Fagan, J V Gray, E Glasgow, Thos hands of the Southern people W Gurkin, Hannon Gurkin, Hasley and we have an abiding faith Hardison, J F Holliday, W H Marthat they will bring back the tin, Hannon modlin, W L Sexton.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Two subjects of the rst importance have been revived J A Nelson, J K Ross through reports that cannot fail to venor-General Wood's comprethe other Captain Charles D. Sigsbee's annual notes on the advancement of the world's navies, the increase of their tonnage, etc.

There is no topic more interestng to Americansat the present than that of Cuban develompent. The cost in blood and treasure for the emancipation of the infant nation so near to our shores, along with the hope of the United States that ders will prove themselves worthy of the sacrifice, has caused H Wynn the people to follow the trend of Robersonville—R A Bailey, D J Cherry, A S Roberson, G. telligent summary of the efforts made for the purification and better nent of the population. In brief, General Wood's documents recconends fuller reciprocity with the United States, without which, he says, the thorough development of the island will be impossible. He explains that the American Authorties, with native assistance, have abolished many petty officers: These ncreased the tax burden unne es iarly and militated against a roper centralization of power and esponsibility. The objections to curtailment in this direction met with protes's, inspired more by personal losses than regard for the common weal.

A gratifying feature of the sitution is that fewer police are remired in the towns. The progress of the island's agirculture, the root of its prosperity, is marked. The first large crop since the war will be harvested next spring, and the profor the market, se-m to furnish a guarantee that Cuban municipalities will soon be able to assume obligations connected with new public works, Under American protection and encouragement, prison abuses have been largely eliminated.
