ATTENTION

CITIZENS OF WILLIAMSTON.

There is scarcely six months more before the tobacco season will be upon us. Have you thought how much there is to be done before that time?

How is Williamston going to take care of the people who must come here to run this market? It strikes us that the most important step now is to make arrangements to house the men, and their families who will have to come here to take charge of this business.

Williamston needs more houses; we have said this before and we say it again, and unless there are houses built to rent out, and built in time for the tobacco season you are going to be sadly fooled in your expectations of a tobacco market at this place.

Let the men of our town who have the means think about this matter, and ask themselves what would they do under the same circumstances, placing themselves in the shoes of those whom we want to come here.

We understand that a thorough warehouse manager and owner of a fine steam plant has put in an application for one of the warehouses, and will, if successful in renting the warehouse, bring his steam plant to Williamston.

It also strikes us as being a very plausible idea to have these warehouse men sign a contract not to ship the tobacco they buy, or have left on their hands, to Rocky Mount or Greenville. These markets are our most formidable rivals, and if we allow our tobacco, especially that of the warehouse men, to be shipped to these points it will be placing deadly weapons in their hands with which to assault our market.

We must form an impregnable protection for our market. We must not leave the smallest loop whereby these markets can work in upon us.

With the necessary precaution, and a good steam plant to care for the tobacco, Williamston will start upon her career as a tobacco market well armed to fight the battles that will be inevitable.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. E. Glass, an employe of Bartlett and Dennis Co., Gardner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr. Houshian and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines."—For sale by N. S. Peel & Co.

The Charleston Exposition didn't get the President, but it pulled off a successful Mardi Gras.

Cuba will be glad to get a tariff concession of 25 per cent, but the Filipinos are asking for 75 per cent.

Norfolk, Virginia, has Metropolitan aspirations. Its officials are accused of financial grabbing.

Prince Henry can't see the democracy of this country he will be so completely surrounded by a wall of toadyism.

Senators will think twice before they wind up Gov. Taft again and start him to going about the Philippines.

Well, Admiral Schley is having a good time with the people, if he can't shake off the official hoodoo.

The political party that promises to establish a titled nobility in this country can count upon a wealthy, if not a numerous following.

The Boston physician who ridiculed and opposed vaccination and went into a smallpox hospital to prove his immunity contacted the disease in its worst form and may die.

It is a little queer that all the Senators who are interested in preventing Ishmian canal legislation should be in doubt about the best route for a canal.

A number of big fires in cities has made this a hard winter on fire insurance companies some of which may have to substitute assessments for dividends this year.

The Kaiser has jumped on Christian Science, which the German wits call "the latest American importation," and ordered the public halls of Berlin closed to them.

Sugar has been giving quite as much trouble to an international conference, now sitting in London, as to our own Congress. Sweet things usually are troublesome.

London insurance companies are doing a land office business in issuing policies against the smallpox. The premium charged is about one-third more for unvaccinated applicants.

A batch of 280 Census Bureau clerks were fired at one time the other day and Washington was filled with weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth. It always goes hard to be forced away from Uncle Sam's pie-counter.

Look out for a yawp from the yellows. It has been decided that the American newspaper men allowed to travel on the train with Prince Henry will be three representatives of the press association.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(From our regular Correspondent.)

Feb. 12, 1902.

If those Senators who say that the Senate will not take up the Isthmian canal question until after the Philippine tariff bill has been disposed of are correct in their diagnosis, it will be some time before the canal question is reached, as there is no sign of haste in acting on the Philippine tariff. To tell the truth, it looks as though the Senate were going about as slow as possible with any measure having the right of way on it: Philippine tariff bill, and nothing has yet transpired to indicate when a vote will be reached. The trouble is that the bill is regarded as a partisan political measure and is therefore a standing target for the making of partisan speeches for the purpose of affecting votes at home.

Senator Gallinger proposed a good amendment to the Pension appropriation bill, which was adopted by a vote of the Senate but was later struck out on a point of order. It was intended to lessen special pension legislation, which has grown to an enormous expense—more than 5,000 special pension bills have been introduced at this session. It prohibited the collection of a special fee by an attorney for aiding in getting a special pension bill through Congress.

The G. A. R. is again after Commissioner Evans. Following is a copy of a petition that is being sent to the House from a number of G. A. R. posts: "Believing that the administration of Hon. Clay Evans, the Commissioner of Pensions, has nullified the pension laws as passed by Congress thereby depriving pensions to thousands of claimants fully entitled thereto under such laws, we respectfully petition the House of Representatives to appoint a committee to investigate the administration of said Commissioner."

Secretary Long has declined to approve the recommendation of the general naval board that naval constructors be appointed from civil life. The recommendation was made by a vote of the insufficient number of junior naval constructors and the impossibility of supplying the need from the Naval Academy under present rules, which prescribe that only the three cadets who graduate at the head of their classes annually shall be transferred to the construction corps. While Secretary Long is not willing that civilians shall be appointed, he has modified the rule so that any graduate of the Naval Academy may be assigned to vacancies in the construction corps.

An amendment to the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial bill offered by Representative Hill, of Conn., and adopted before the House passed the bill, hits a blow at a little game by which a few men have been able to draw salaries largely out of proportion with the work done in handling the assets of national banks that fail. The amendment simply provides that a full list of all employes of the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, in Washington and elsewhere, shall be printed annually in the U. S. Blue Book. In the discussion of the amendment it was stated that there were a number of men employed by the Comptroller, but paid from the assets of the banks, to handle the assets of national banks that have failed, under the title of 'receivers,' at salaries ranging from $15 a day to $7,000 a year, whose names do not appear in any list of government employes and who are appointed by the Comptroller.

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, salines or drugs in paste form, but their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open a bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges and curing all inflammation. Georgia and Massachusetts club-women are reported to have reached a mutually satisfactory solution of the color-line problem, raised by the application of colored women's clubs for membership in the General Federation of Women's Clubs. May be they have! All things are possible, but we shall wait for proof.

There are no new developments in connection with Cuban reciprocity but it is now generally conceded that Cuba will get reciprocity, although there is much doubt about how great the tariff concessions will be. This is fully realized by the beet sugar men, who are no longer fighting tariff concession but are putting in their best licks to keep it as low as possible.

The opposition in the Senate to admission of any of the Territories to Statehood is so strong that it is very doubtful whether any of the bills will get through this Congress.
