The aggregate receipts of fifty of our largest post offices were 11 per cent greater in April than for the corresponding month of last year, but perhaps this increase was due to the endless chain fakes that the Post Office Department has just put on the fraud list. The Charleston Exposition will close on the 1st of June. The News and Courier says that it has accomplished its purpose, that it has placed Charleston in touch with the outside world and has brought the outside world to Charleston, and that its influence has been for the good of the city, the State, and the country.

Aycock for Vice-President

Everybody knows that no man who served in the Confederate army would be eligible as a candidate because too many voters in the North are as yet unreconstructed, but why is not a Southern man who was too young to take part in the war an available candidate? Is he to share the inherited hostility.

The Columbia State, discussing Presidential timber, suggests Governor Aycock as fit timber for Vice-President. We quote: "Congressman Champ Clark and Cochran, of Missouri, it seems, have under taken to start a Presidential boom for Senator Bailey, of Texas. It would appear that Mr. Bailey's place is in the Senate, for the duties of which he is peculiarly fitted. But at any rate it is yet too early to nominate a Southern man for President. The prevailing opinion is that the nominee of the Democrats in 1904 should come from a strong doubtful State—New York, if possible. Mr. Hill is perhaps endeavoring to make the most of this belief but Mr. Hill is not the man. Judge Parker or Edward M. Shepard is nearer the mark. With a man like Shepard for President—a Northern man of conspicuous ability and high character attractive to independents as well as party men—the Democrats would naturally go to the west to fill the second place on the ticket. Should there be a desire to select the VicePresidential candidate from the South, however, we know of no other man in all this section so preeminently qualified both for the nomination and for the office as Chas. B. Aycock, the Governor of North Carolina. He is a man of force, intelligence, character and ability—a leader whose wisdom and resource have been demonstrated. As a stump speaker he can hold his own with the best. Keep him in mind in all your calculations as to future politics."

This tribute from the State will gratify all North Carolinians who believe that higher honors are in store for the eloquent Educational Governor of this State.—News and Observer.

BRIEF AND BREEZY.

Slugging, abusing, and apologizing are rapidly becoming Senatorial specialties.

Senator McLaurin prefers voluntarily withdrawing to being kicked off the Senatorial track.

A coal miners strike isn't as alarming now as it would be if the thermometer were dancing around zero.

Well, if they keep on saying "peace at an early day," in South Africa, they are bound to hit it sometime.

Strikes are always loaded and require the most careful handling to avoid accidental explosions.

Uncle Sam is more firmly fixed in power than President Sam, of Hayti, who was compelled to resign.

The May snow storm was not imaginary this year, but a very serious affair in a wide section of the country.

The majority of the Senate will now give the country an exhibition of how to force a vote on the Philippine bill.

It requires an occasional St. Pierre horror to keep stiff-necked humanity from forgetting that the whole world is kin.

Because other nations have waged wars of extermination against inferior races furnishes no good reason for us to do so.

Germany can now proceed to get jealous while we unveil the Rochambeau monument, and do the brother act with the visiting Frenchmen.

The Senate wants to know about the sale of Indian lands in Kansas, and has adopted a resolution calling on the secretary of the Interior for information.

Congressman Hopkins, of Ill., has shown that he knows a thing or two about the Senatorial game, even if Senator "Billy" Mason does insist that he isn't yet licked.

The Omnibus Statehood bill drove through the House with flying colors, but it will be lucky if it has a spoke left in either wheel when it gets over the first lap in the Senate.

If Congressman Lacey, of Iowa, really was ignorant of the meaning of "a good pair to draw to" it speaks well for the morals of his associates in Washington as well as his constituents.

Dan Lamont used the position of Secretary to the President as a stepping stone to the Cabinet, and Washington Gossip says that Secretary Cortelyou, who is slated for the first Secretary of Commerce and Labor, will do likewise.

We suppose there is now to be high-jumping, as well as rough riding, as it is announced that the President has bought two hunting horses, either of which makes five-foot jumps with ease. If he can make them go a little higher he can jump over the heads of most of the politicians.

In putting the price of beef a notch higher the trust indicates its belief that it might as well hang for sheep killing as for lamb killing.

Those who control the legislative programme of Congress will do well not to forget that there is a limit to the patience of the people upon such questions as the Isthmian canal.

Congressman Underwood, of Ala., refused to see brethren in the earthquake sufferers in the French West Indies, or even to admit that they might be step-brothers.

The Department of Justice and the Beef Trust have started their big wrestling match. The rules are in the Sherman anti-trust law, and the referee is Judge Grosseup, of the U. S. circuit court.

Those Arkansas train robbers after blowing open the express safe and getting no money were in a position to realize the feelings of some of the nomination hunters in the political field.

The House has authorized the printing of 5,000 facsimile copies of what is known as the "Jefferson Bible," being a compilation by Thomas Jefferson of the morals of Jesus. The original and only copy of this book is now in the Smithsonian Institution, at Washington.

STATE NEWS.

Items of Interest Clipped from Our Exchanges.

At Kelford Thursday six buildings were destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Guy Sutton, near Kinston, was horribly burned Thursday. Her dress ignited while she was boiling soap in the yard.

The smallpox continues to be troublesome at Charlotte. There are 65 people in the pest house and house of detention.

Ayden N. C. was visited last Saturday night by a $25,000 fire, among other things burned was the Free Will Baptist office.

During a slight storm Tuesday night Mr. Ben. Joyner's stables were blown down and two mules and a horse were killed. The storm was not very heavy generally in this community but the stables were blown down with the result stated.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Jail Birds Fly Away.

George McMahan and Will Hall, young white men who were serving sentences for larceny, broke out of jail by saving one of the bars in two and prying up one of the planks in the corridor floor, going out through the basement. The prisoners cut the bar with a knife furnished them by J. L. Hilton, a United States prisoner who was moved here recently from Statesville for safe keeping. It is thought he brought the knife in one of his shoes. The hole made by the two boys was not large enough for Hilton to get out.

SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

The hospital association has decided to establish a school for training and educating nurses. Thorough instructors will be employed and the school will grant diplomas and confer degrees upon its graduates.

Unwilling Guest Leaves Salisbury City Prison.

John Mills, an escaped convict from the Buncombe county chain gang, was liberated from the City prison at Salisbury one evening last week between 6 and 7 o'clock.

Mills had just completed an 18-months sentence on the Rowan county chain gang yesterday morning and was arrested immediately after his release and placed in the city prison. When the officers inspected his cell last night he was missing, and an aperture in the cell showed how his liberation had been effected. Neither Mills nor his liberator has been captured.

Never fight the devil with fire—he's used to that. Better freeze him out.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

May 12, 1902

One thing has been made very plain by the Philippine debate during the past week, which has at times been sensational and bitterly personal, and that is that the Philippine bill will not be voted upon this month. But it is not equally plain when it will be voted upon. The attempt to get unanimous consent for taking a vote some day this month brought out strenuous objections from the minority Senators. That is as far as the matter has gone. There are rumors that the majority intend to try to force a vote by holding continuous sessions of the Senate and that the younger Senators of the minority, who seem to be managing the opposition intend to filibuster as soon as an attempt to force a vote is started. Meanwhile time is passing and much important legislation remains unacted upon, and unless present conditions undergo a change will remain unacted upon at this session unless Congress remains in session all summer.

The President is still insisting that Cuban reciprocity and Isthmian canal legislation must go through at this session. Representative Cowherd, of Mo., thinks the house is growing less inclined to listen to set speeches. Speaking of the matter he said: "I recall only one speech this session that commanded complete silence in the chamber. It was the speech of Mr. Cushman, of Washington. He surely had an attentive audience. When I first came to Congress such things were not the exception." One has but to enter the gallery of the House when the average member is making a speech to see that Mr. Cowherd is not far wrong about speeches not being listened to. Nob. dy hears a whole sentence of an average speech except the official stenographer.

Gen. George W. Davis, commander of the Department of Mindanao and Jolo in the Philippines, advocates a vigorous policy toward the Moros. In a report he recommends that Congress abrogate the treaty with the Sultan of Jolo, about which has been printed. He says we must make these born pirates feel the weight of our power. He says these districts will never be controlled by white men, owing to their wildness; that the native races will continue to form 95 per cent, of their inhabitants forever and ever. Of the Sultan of Jolo he says: "If he is to be retained as a puppet kingling he should be robbed of all real power through measures such as have been so successfully employed in Oriental lands." But that is not as far as he would like to go, as he adds: "I prefer to abate the sultan's nuisance."

Hon. H. Clay Evans has made public a statement saying that his retirement from the head of the Pension Bureau was entirely voluntary and that it had nothing to do with his being appointed consul general at London. He says he left the Pension Bureau because he thought he had given as much of his time as he cared to the most trying position in the government. Senator McLaurin, of S. C., has had a rather tight fight. It was with Mr. A. A. Gates, of Greenville, S. C., and occurred in a Washington hotel. The Senator got in the first blow and knocked his opponent down. He got up and hit back as lively as possible until they were separated.

The result of Senator Depew's amendment to the joint resolution for a constitutional amendment for the election of Senators by direct vote of the people—that the election should be held under Federal control—has been to deadlock the Senate committee on Privileges and Elections. This is not surprising, as the members of the committee who are advocates of the election of Senators by the people are the most bitter opponents of Federal control of elections. The Depew amendment was intended to kill the resolution, and it looks now as though it would do it, although Senator Burroughs has promised that it will be reported.

Representative Robinson, of Indiana, is one of the Congressional contingent of baseball "rooters." He carries a souvenir of the days when he was a player in a crooked finger. The other day, in speaking of that finger, he said: "That finger has a remarkably crooked history. It was broken in a ball game and the fellow who pulled it back into place soon afterward was sent to the penitentiary for life. Of course, I had to go to a doctor and have the finger set. That doctor was convicted of bigamy and served a term in the penitentiary."

Mr. Perry de Leon, who had to retire from the position of U. S. consul general at Guayaquil, Ecuador, because of his activity in behalf of Americans caused the government over there to declare him persona non grata, gives the following hint to To a Nast, the cartoonist, who will succeed him, which he says is good advice, if not good poetry.

"The pen you will find Does but serve to bind A man to his post Should he indulge in a 'roast.' Far less will the pencil Should you dare stencil The land as it is: So, as a matter of 'bliss,' I advise you, in kindness To affect perfect blindness When wrongs are committed; Or you 'll not be acquitted By the sons of the sun (or gun) Who Ecuador run."

The opposition to the Omnibus Statehood bill in the House collapsed after the amendment for the consolidation of Arizona and New Mexico into a single State was defeated by vote of 106 to 28, and the bill providing for the admission to Statehood of Arizona, New Mexico, and Oklahoma was passed without a division. The bill will now go to the Senate, where its chance to get even consideration at this session is not one in a possible one hundred.

Two Students Missing. Burr's University School near Charlottesville, Va., was destroyed by fire one morning last week. Students Knox, of Richmond, and McNeal, of Alexandria, are missing and are supposed to have perished in the flames.

GENERAL NEWS.

Ex-Governor E. E. Jackson and Mrs. Jackson, Cathedral and Richmond streets, Baltimore Md., recently joined in a handsome and very useful gift to Bishop and Mrs. Alpheus W. Wilson of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The gift is the large three-story residence at the northwest corner of Park place and McMechen street, said to be valued at about $30,000. Bishop Wilson is now occupying his residence at 2408 Madison Ave. but it is thought that he will remove into his new home some time this summer. Ex-Governor Jackson is an ardent member of the Southern branch of the church, and has extended it many financial favors.

A POSTMASTER MISSING.

Portsmouth's Postmaster Disappears—His Accounts $2,000 Short.

Postmaster Samuel L. Burroughs, of Portsmouth, Va., is missing, and United States Postoffice Inspector Bulla is in charge of the accounts, which are short. Mr. John W. Rutter, a prominent local republican, has been placed in temporary charge of the office by Burroughs's bondsmen. It is stated that the accounts of the missing postmaster are short from $2,000 to $2,500. He was not known to be a speculator nor to have had other expensive habits. Mr. Burroughs's term expired the latter part of March, but he was held over awaiting the action of the President in naming his successor. He has been active in seeking re-appointment. Mr. Burroughs was recently married, and his wife, who has several children by a former husband, is still in the city.

Contributions Solicited for the Relief of the Stricken People of the French West Indies. Washington, May 13.—Soon after the Senate convened to-day Mr. Cullom, from the committee on foreign relations, reported a joint resolution appropriating $500,000, including the $200,000 already appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the President in such manner as will most promptly and efficiently relieve the stricken people of the French West Indies and St. Vincent. The resolution was adopted without comment.

The cabinet spent two hours to-day considering ways and means for relief for the volcano sufferers of the West Indies. It was finally decided to issue an appeal to the people of the country to supplement the appropriation of Congress by private subscriptions, to be paid to committees in the principal cities of the country. It was also decided to go ahead swiftly with preparations for the sailing of ships of the navy.

The entire energy of the President and cabinet was devoted to planning the quickest and best way of effective relief both by the government and the people.

The navy, treasury and war departments are pushing their arrangements to the utmost, and the President has directed that all possible dispatch be made.

An hour after the cabinet adjourned the following was made public at the White House:

"The President has appointed a committee to receive funds for the relief of the sufferers from the recent catastrophe in Martinique and St. Vincent. The gentlemen appointed from each city are asked to collect and receive the funds from their localities and neighborhoods as quickly as possible and forward them to Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the New York committee, which committee will act as a central distributing point for the country."

"The President directs all the postmasters throughout the country and requests the Presidents of all the national banks to act as agents for the collection of contributions and to forward the same at once to Mr. Bliss. The postmasters are also requested to report to the Postmaster-General within ten days any funds collected on this account."

"The President appeals the public to contribute generously for the relief of those upon whom this appalling calamity has fallen, and asks that the contributions be sent in as speedily as possible. The gentlemen designated on the several committees are requested to act at once."
