Lost Reason After LaGrippe.
Daughter Had Frequent Spasms.
Dr. Miles' Nervine Cured Them Both.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is a specific for nervous disorders. It removes the cause and effects a rapidly permanent cure. It is a remedy for all nervous ailments.

It is my duty to let you know that your medicines have cured my little girl of nervous spasms. She recovered having been at the age of three. Our family doctor said she was a hysterical child but she did not. We took her to another physician who said her trouble was epileptic fits in a mild form. He did her no good either. She was so nervous she could hardly walk. As I had already used Dr. Miles' Nervine and found it a good remedy for myself I commenced giving it to my child. I gave her in a few bottles of the Nervine and one of the little bottles. That was over two years ago and she has not had an attack since we commenced the treatment. She is no longer troubled with nervousness and we consider her permanently cured. I enclose her picture. My mother-in-law had her reason and mind restored for three months from the effects of LaGrippe. Six bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine cured her. My sister has also taken it for tick headache with great relief. We all thank you very much for your good medicine and kind advice. I don't think there is any other medicine half so good. I send my daughter's photograph so that you may see what a sweet little girl lives out in Arkansas. — Mrs. HANNAH BARKER, Springfield, Ark.

Feeding the Baby.
When a baby cannot be nursed by the mother, the next best is cow's milk—two-thirds milk, one-third water. After three months once a day a little orange or prune juice; at six months, a sweetener rolled fine, wet with boiling water, a little warm milk, half a teaspoonful of milk, sugar and beef juice; at nine months, a little clear soup may be added to the daily meal, and at one year a soft boiled egg.

Sometime Griddle.
A sometime griddle should be heated slowly and allowed to get very hot. Before using rub thoroughly with dry salt; then wipe. Never grease it. The advantage of a sometime griddle is that the cakes are baked on it instead of being fried in fat, as on the ordinary iron one.

Heating Fans.
Oblong heating fans of tin or nickel, with small alcohol lamps underneath, are a desirable convenience for the household. There is room for a small piece inside on which food may be placed to keep warm for folks too late for regular meals.

Narrow for Leveling Furrow Slice. eighths or one inch, bent as indicated, to rub on the bottom and side of the furrow and fastened to the harrow by going diagonally from the lower outside corner to the upper inside corner, with a nut to hold it.

The teeth I used were not all knife shaped, like the one illustrated, yet I think it would be well to make them all of this style, as holes can then be bored perpendicularly any place you find the teeth are needed or work best, and they can be changed very easily with only a wrench to unscrew the holes. The holes should be large enough so the teeth will slip in or out easily, as they can be screwed up tight to hold them in the direction desired.

This little harrow is attached to the shaft of the horse in the furrow with the short chain so that it will harrow the furrow turned the round before, working just forward of the furrow being turned by the plow. This harrow, however, may fall partially on the rear side of the harrow working in the furrow. This does no harm, but only helps to hold that point down to its place. The left upright support for the handle should be placed well forward, so the furrow slice will not strike it.

For those who plow with three horses abreast and use a large stand called plow with center, and also rolling collar attached, this little harrow will need to be appreciated, as it does such thorough pulverizing of each furrow as fast as plowed.

Dimensions.—Width of harrow at the back end, 34 inches, inside measure; width between handles, 49 inches; length of harrow, 55 inches; made of 2 by 4 scantling; crosspieces 2 by 3. Bolt the crosspieces on top or notch down but little, so they will not rub the ground. If all the teeth are made like the one indicated, the holes can all be bored perpendicular through the wood, and the right-angle or slant back will be obtained. The hinge at the front is made of a pair of strap hinges placed so that a single bolt passing through the chain, then through the eye of the straps, make a good hitch as well as hinge.

A plank drag is also figured in the paper mentioned. It consists of four 3

ALIX OF HESSE.
The Czarina is constantly seeking to help her people.
The czarina, Alix of Hesse, is a strong factor in the methods of advancement in Russia and is constantly seeking means to ameliorate the condition of the peasants of her country. The czarina has a singularly charming and thoughtful face and eyes very little of her attractiveness to the accessories of dress and culture. In fact, she cares little about children and would, if the exigencies of court life prevailed, go about in a starker mantle from morning to evening. She has plenty of dark, heavy hair simply arranged at the back of her head in a knot. She has usually a very serious expression, but is by no means dull. As an unmarried girl she was merry and lively enough to amuse silent, melancholy

THE CZARINA, ALIX OF HESSE.
Nicholas and make him fall desperately in love. She is not very musical, but excels as an artist, and her caricatures of great personages, which more than once in her youthful days got her into tremendous scrapes, are intensely amusing and clever.

A lady at the Russian court, writing to a contemporary, describes the czarina as a woman in every way to be admired. "An excellent mother, she nevertheless does not give herself over entirely to domestic felicity. The welfare of the Russian people is her constant thought. The sufferings of the outcasts in Siberia really wound her tender heart. As a companion she pleases everybody. You think her face looks mournful? Ah, but you should see it light up! There is no one who enjoys a happier laugh than she. The amusing caricatures she perpetrates, and the suggestions of her humorous fancy. Like many people with a strong sense of humor, she knows not what real friendliness means. I can say that the czarina cares more truly for essentials than any other woman I could name."

How Savants Fried Fish.
In Savarin's "Physiology of the Gent," which was, according to Balzac, a veritable deacon's irrefragable as the laws of Kepler, is thus set down the way to fry fish: "The beauty of a good fry is in carbonizing or browning the surface by sudden immersion—the process known as the surprise. It forms a sort of vault to inclose all that is valuable, prevents the fat from reaching it and concentrates the juices so as to best develop the alimentary qualities. Don't forget when you have any of those trout weighing scarcely more than a quarter of a pound and fetched from streams that murmur far from the capital—don't forget, I say, to fry them in the very finest olive oil you have. This simple dish, properly served with slices of lemon, is worthy of a cardinal. In exactly the same way you should treat smelts, of which adapts think so much."

Have you, my dear housewife—have you ever tried to fry your fish this way? Have you ever cooked small fish in deep boiling oil or lard in the way you would a doughnut or a cruller? Did you ever fry your meat croquettes this way, or are they generally soft and greasy out of a shallow pan?—Dealer Welch in Good Housekeeping.

Plank Drag.
by 4 scantling fastened together with rods with small blocks two inches thick between the scantlings, with rings on the ends of the rods hitched to by means of rods and a ring or a chain and ring. The drag is for the purpose of lifting the drag to free it from rubbish or stones. This drag carries the dirt along between the scantlings, which fills up all low places and levels the ground. A drag of this description eight feet long is a good load for a team of horses without a harrow attached behind. If more weight is wanted, the man can ride the drag. It does efficient work in leveling and putting the ground in order.

News and Notes.
Look out for the fat headed borer in the young trees. In some localities it lays most of its eggs in April and May. The Cornell (N. Y.) university is now endeavoring to get a state appropriation of $200,000 for new agricultural buildings.

The American nurseryman's convention will meet at Buffalo June 10 and the apple shippers' at Niagara Falls Aug. 5.

A Canadian dairymen says the whole source of trouble in handling and eating of milk can be summed up in four letters, d-d-r-t.

"Sewer" and silkworms are two of the side issues that now tempt the farmers' fancy.

Not So Little After All.
We notice that a Cleveland (O.) newspaper speaks patronizingly of Argentina as a "little republic." What tarks! There are 41,000 square miles of Ohio; there are 1,319,247 square miles of Argentina—that is to say, you could tuck away thirty-one Ohio in the "little republic" and then have considerably more than room enough left for seven Connecticut. Argentina may be feeble in some ways, but there's nothing the matter with Argentina's size.—Harford Courant.

WINE OF CARDUI
Mrs. Laura S. Webb, Vice-President Woman's Democratic Club of North Carolina. "I dreaded the change of life which was fast approaching. I noticed Wine of Cardui, and decided to try a bottle. I experienced some relief the first month, so I kept on taking it for three months and now I menstruate with no pain and I shall take it all my life now until I have passed the climax."

When you come to the change of life, Mrs. Webb's later will mean more to you than it does now. But you may now avoid the suffering she endured. Druggists sell $1 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Value of Moderation.
When we endeavor to include within our lives too many pleasures, they become as hirsute as cacti, and when we would take the responsibility of too many duties some of them is thoroughly accomplished. A great writer tells us that "moderation is the inseparable companion of wisdom," and another writer says, "Moderation is the silken string running through the pearl chain of all virtues." When we try to do too many things at once, we are unfitting ourselves for that practical usefulness which holds no overcrowded state of affairs. She is a wise woman who regulates her life to take upon herself no more duties than what she can attend to properly and successfully. She not only saves her health and her strength, but her work is satisfactory and her pleasures, though few, are thoroughly enjoyed. Indeed there is no greater blessing than a well regulated life.

For the Writing Table.
Many people indulge in the unhealthy habit of applying their tongues to moisten the pens on envelopes, etc. Although one is now getting used to seeing little vessels in the post office on which to wet postage stamps, they are not used as much as they ought to be in private households, and an article of this sort should be found on every writing table. An old glass saltcellar or any small china vessel, even an egg cup, can be used. If a small piece of sponge freely saturated with water is slipped into the receptacle. When the sponge becomes impregnated with the pen, take it out and wash thoroughly with warm water and soap; then put back again soaked with clean water.

Thoughtless Miss Cutting.
"That Miss Cutting is a fierce proposition." "Why so?" "Well, I proposed to her by letter, and after rejecting my proposal in plain terms she wound up her reply with 'very truly yours.'"—Indianapolis Sun.

A Domestic Mystery.
Hubby (walking the floor at 3 a. m.)—"I'd just like to know why this baby persists in staying awake every night." "Wife—Really, I can't imagine. I never have had trouble keeping him asleep in the daytime."—New York Weekly.

Marmery Desired.
Knippe—Why did Johnson hire all such portly people for his servants? "Touque—He says that his wife insisted upon having them like that so they would match her new heavy dining room furniture."—Syracuse Herald.

Asked and Answered.
"Do you believe in marrying for love?" asked the girl whose face was her principal misfortune. "Not necessarily," replied the gray haired parson. "I have often married for money."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
