Mack Stalls, of Gold Point, died yesterday from injuries received on Wednesday by a falling tree. Mr. Stalls was cutting down a tree which became lodged in another tree, and while he was trying to devise means to bring it down it fell, catching him under it. He was literally broken to pieces. He was about 32 years old and leaves a wife.

Rev. T. H. Sutton, the popular pastor of the Methodist church left Wednesday morning to attend the Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South, which is being held in Goldsboro this week. This is Mr. Sutton's third year at this place and he has made a host of warm friends who will be greatly disappointed if he is not returned next year.

Major A. J. Mizell, who has been ill since October 14, died late last night, aged 85 years. He was the oldest citizen in this county, a good, conscientious man and beloved by all who knew him. He is survived by four children: Messrs. W. P. Mizell, Emporia, Va.; J. A. Mizell, this city; Mrs. Tarkenton, of Edenton, and Mrs. Zeb Brown, of Greenville. The burial will take place from his late residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the interment will be made in the family burying ground.

J. T. Ragan, the popular and clever solicitor for the Dixie Warehouse, left the first of this week for his home in Roseville, Wake county. Mr. Ragan is indeed a good tobacco solicitor and did good work for his home here, and would have stayed longer, but, being an active farmer, had to leave on account of work at home that he had to do. We miss Uncle Tommie very much and hope that it will only be a short time before he comes this way again. Much success to him in his undertakings.

WEDDING BELLS.

Lamb-MacRae Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 25—(Special.) A beautiful wedding took place at noon yesterday in the Chapel of the Cross Episcopal Church, when Miss Frances Wetmore MacRae, of this place, and Mr. John Cotten Lamb, of Williamston, took the solemn marriage vows, both being members of prominent North Carolina families with hundreds of friends in this and other states.

The church was most artistically decorated, the scheme of white being beautifully set off with palms and potted plants, while the soft light of waxen tapers added to the effectiveness of the scene of beauty. There were gathered in the little church many friends of the popular couple.

Tannhauser's wedding march was the signal for the entrance of eight lovely young women, all special friends of the bride. These were: Misses Mary Davis and Dora MacRae, of Chapel Hill; Misses Eliza, Annie and Mayo Lamb, of Williamston; Misses Lily Gray and Nelle Hinsdale, of Raleigh, and Miss Olivia Lamb, of Henderson. All these young ladies were exquisitely gowned in white silk with picture hats, and were escorted to the front seats.

The ushers were Messrs. James C. MacRae, brother of the bride, and Wilson G. Lamb, Jr., brother of the groom.

Then entered the maid of honor, Miss Annie Hinsdale, of Raleigh, who was most beautifully gowned in violet crepe de chene, and who carried a bouquet of Panama violets.

Next came the bride, who entered with her father, Judge James C. MacRae. She was a picture of loveliness, wearing the bridal veil and being gowned in a white crepe de chene elaborately embroidered with white satin silk roses over white taffeta. She carried a lovely shower bouquet of bride's roses.

At the altar there awaited the groom, who had entered with his best man, Mr. Kader Crawford, of Williamston. Here the impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. H. Meade, and as it closed the bridal party left the church while Mrs. Prince rendered the wedding march from Lohengrin.

Preceding the wedding the night before there was tendered the bridal party an elegant reception at the home of Judge MacRae which was largely attended, many relatives and friends being present. The large collection of beautiful wedding gifts were admired, and delicious refreshments were served in the dining hall, elaborately decorated in ferns and white chrysanthemums.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Lamb left for Richmond, where they will spend Thanksgiving and will then leave for an extended northern tour.

The charming bride is one of the loveliest and most popular young women of the state, and is a daughter of Judge James C. MacRae, the highly esteemed Dean of the Law Department of the State University. The groom is a son of Hon. Wilson G. Lamb, of Williamston, and is a popular and prominent young business man of Williamston. Hosts of friends extended to the couple congratulations and the best wishes for a long life of happiness.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. MacRae, of Fayetteville; Mrs. Wilson Lamb, of Williamston; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gray, of Raleigh; Mrs. John W. Hinsdale, of Raleigh; Mr. Dennis Biggs, of Williamston; Mr. Charles Lamb, of Henderson.—News and Observer of the 26th.

Carstarphen-Manning The Cumberland Street Methodist parsonage was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding at eight o'clock last night, when Mr. W. H. Carstarphen, a well known commission merchant of this city, led to hymen's altar Mrs. J. A. Manning, of Norfolk. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. L. Bane in the presence of only a few friends of the contracting parties.—Virginian-Pilot of the 26th.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Dancing Class Closed With the dance on Friday evening the 20th inst., the dancing class which has been conducted by Miss Helen Moore, of Washington, closed. The evenings which have been enjoyed by so many will be greatly missed, but Miss Moore, who possesses such a charming personality, such sweetness of disposition and displays such a kind thoughtfulness for all whom she meets, will be missed more. During her stay among the young people of Williamston she has greatly endeared herself to them, and whenever she returns will be greeted by an unlimited number of admirers. In spite of this being the last dance of the series, it was greatly enjoyed.

There were many spectators present, also many dancers, among whom were the Misses Emma Hassell, Helen Moore, Anna Crawford, Louie and Ella Staton, Nora Fowden, Ida Hassell, Alys Lutz, Jennie Moore, Laura Jones, Emily, Marina, Mary and Laura Whitley, Essie Peele, Annabelle Everett and Louise Fowden, and the Messrs. Mobley, Henry Gurkin, Jesse Glenn, Harry Murt Stubbs, Jack Biggs, Herbert Peele, George Whitley and Rufus Coburn.

Miss Hassell Entertains at Luncheon Miss Emma Hassell was a charming hostess at her home on Main street after the dance at a luncheon complimentary to Miss Helen Moore. Covers were laid for eight. Miss Hassell served delightfully and the many delicacies of the menu greatly refreshed those participating. The following were present: Miss Helen Moore and Mr. Kader Crawford; Miss Alys Lutz and Mr. Harry Biggs; Miss Emma Hassell and Mr. Charles Godwin, Messrs. Frank and C. B. Hassell.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Mr. Arthur Chapman, writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by S. R. Biggs.
