Kites Flying as a Science.

When a kite was flown without tails a new era was opened for it and the kite ceased to be a mere toy. The behavior of a kite in the air proves for one thing that many of our preconceived ideas of wind are wrong. There are vertical as well as horizontal strata of air, and a strong breeze is made up of little breezes, moving at different speeds and in different directions. These facts, which a kite's movements in the air disclose, account largely for the soaring and flying powers of birds, who make instinctive use of every wind, soaring upward and upward air currents and flying against the main currents of the wind on a breeze blowing against the general drift.

It has been found that a kite containing seventy feet of supporting surface will exert a pull of from sixty to one hundred pounds. A big kite of this kind cannot be managed by hand, but the wire must be carried up from a substantial hand or steam winch or reeling apparatus. The steel wire employed in the experiment is the lightest and relatively the strongest material known, with a tensile strength at the point of breaking of quite three hundred pounds. In this experiment the kite is made fast with a long wire to the ring at the end of the main wire, the meteorograph is attached and another kite is fastened to the ring by a shorter cord. As the kite rises the wire is unwound from the reel, and when the angle with the horizon becomes small another kite is attached to give greater lifting power, and so on until the required elevation is reached. A pause is made at the highest altitude to allow the recording instruments to acquire the conditions of the surrounding air, the height of the meteorograph is calculated and then the steam engine is set to work to wind in the kite. In this way several hundred records have been taken.
The kites have frequently ascended to a height of more than twelve thousand feet, and at one time they reached the elevation of fifteen thousand feet, or more than three miles above the sea.

The amateur does not need such expensive outfits to do some very interesting work. He may become his own weather prophet by sending up thermometers to the clouds; he may tell the approach of thunder storms by attaching Leyden jars to his kite strings; he may draw lightning from the clouds, photograph in midair, signal with flags, or send off fireworks from an elevation where the effect produced is worth the labor involved.

A state of perfection has already been reached in kite photography so that it is possible to send up a camera and take a picture of any particular building or object with but a small chance of failure. One enthusiast has arranged a contrivance for taking complete views of the horizon. Eight or more cameras are arranged back to back on a circular platform, sent high into the air with kites, and all the shutters snapped simultaneously by pulling a string below. Many successful panoramic views of large cities have been taken with kites flown from the tops of high buildings. In photographs taken in midair buildings and scenery appear much nearer than they really are, and there is often a curious mirage effect which is invisible from the ground which makes the landscape look as though rising up into the sky.

Kites have been put to many ingenious uses in connection with sports.
To keep partridges from rising and flying from cover where it is wished to keep them for shooting it has been found that the birds will not rise with kites hovering over their heads, doubtless because they fear attack.

Another interesting use of the kite is in air line fishing. The advantage of fishing from a kite is that the fisherman may stand on shore while his bait is dropped far out at sea; also that timid fish are easily scared by seeing the lines or boats near when the old method is used. For this sport strong kites are flown, the string carrying a strong pulley, through which the fish line runs. One end of the fish line is held by the fisherman on shore; the other, which is weighted, drops from the pulley as the ascent is made and dips into the sea. At the moment when the fish snaps at the bait and is hooked the fisherman feels the pull on his line, and the kite is quickly hauled in and the fish is dragged in at the same time. As there is practically no limit to the sizes of kites which will fly well the future surely holds some interesting experiments in many lines where the kite may be utilized.

The tar that is contained in Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is harmless. It is not coal tar, but is obtained from the pine trees of our own native forests. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds because it acts on the bowels—thus expelling all colds from the system. Bee's is the original Laxative Honey and Tar, and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, lung and bronchial affections. Sold by

A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon.
John Shenick, 220 So. Peoria St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several doses that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the Council." This remedy is for sale by S. R. Biggs.

The Purification of Water.

Remarkable results are announced from the application of a new method of destroying micro-organisms in water, which was discovered by Dr.
Moore and Kellerman, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, at Washington. It consists simply in dissolving a certain quantity of copper sulphate in the water to be purified. Fortunately the dissolution can be made so large that no deleterious effects are produced upon water intended for drinking purposes.
One part of copper sulphate to eight million parts of water is the proportion generally used, and it is pointed out that, in order to obtain a medical dose of copper from such a mixture, a man would have to drink forty gallons of the water.

During the latter part of 1904 more than fifty sources of water supply in the United States were treated by this method with gratifying success. Not only are dangerous bacteria thus destroyed, but the green growths that frequently choke up small ponds are also eliminated. Most important of all is the promise that by this treatment the germs of typhoid fever may be entirely removed from any source of water supply.

In case of a lake or pond, the chemical is applied by suspending bags filled with copper sulphate over the side of a boat and allowing the crystals to dissolve while the boat is rowed about.
In two or three days the copper is entirely precipitated from the water, but the beneficial effects of the treatment last for weeks or months.

It has been suggested that this discovery may raise the question whether after all, our mothers were not right —although they did not understand the scientific aspects of the matter—in preferring copper kettles for preparing many kinds of food.—Success.

Champion Liniment for Rheumatism

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapinville, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures the storekeeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no use of anyone suffering from that painful ailment when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. One application gives prompt relief and its continued use for a short time will produce a permanent cure. For sale by S.
R. Biggs.

Doctors Are Puzzled

The remarkable recovery of Ken-the medical fraternity and a wide tion of the Throat and congestion of the Lungs, three doctors gave me up to die, when, as a last resort, I was induced to try Dr.

King's New Discovery, and I am

"THERE'S A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM!"

Not the mere temporary relief that the old "remedies" gave, not the little help that the doctor's prescriptions give; but ABSOLUTE AND COMPLETE CURE. That is what Rheumacide does. Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood. It is an internal disease and requires a strong and vigorous internal remedy that will cleanse the blood of all its germs and yet act through such natural methods that it builds up the entire system, SWEEPS ALL POISONS OUT OF THE BLOOD.

CURED AFTER 16 YEARS.
Baltimore, Dec. 10th.
For 16 years I have suffered terribly with Rheumatism. I was treated by leading physicians but got no relief. Long since I despaired of ever being well again. But hearing of RHEUMACIDE, I decided to give it a trial.
I have taken two bottles, and, thanks to this wonderful medicine, I now feel that I have gotten a "new lease on life." Every vestige of the disease has been driven from my system.

LA GRIPPE—PNEUMONIA

So many people who have apparently recovered from an attack of La Grippe are stricken with Pneumonia. This is due to the fact that the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs are left weakened and unable to resist disease.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR not only cures La Grippe Coughs, and prevents Pneumonia, but strengthens the Lungs so they will not be susceptible to the development of serious lung troubles. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation that may contain some harmful drug when FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR costs you no more and is safe and sure. Contains no opiates.

I had a bad case of La Grippe about ten years ago which left my Lungs so weak that I have been troubled more or less every winter since until I used FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, which cured me completely and my Lungs no longer trouble me.—J. H. BROWNING, D.D.S., Orrick, Mo.

G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of La Grippe, and it left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR and it gave immediate relief."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00. The 50-cent size contains two and one half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much. Refuse Substitutes.
