If Mr. Taft goes upon the Supreme Bench, he will surely "add weight" to its decisions.

Every time a great opportunity is within their grasp, the Democrats in the senate seem to get buttes on their fingers.

France must have had some mine inspectors of the kind supposed to reside exclusively in America.

New York is developing a smoke nuisance. That town is always trying to compete with Chicago in something.

Mine operators cannot see why the President should butt into the controversy. He represents nobody but the public.

If Mr. Moody is right about it, the elevator trust has been devoting too much of its business ability to "elevating prices."

Perhaps those subpoena servers would have less trouble locating John D. Rockefeller if they would make a noise like an oil gusher.

Of course the Senate may be able to beat Uncle Joe Cannon in the statehood controversy, but it will know that it has been in a fight.

When the douma settles down to work, it may show the Czar a few things about representative government which it does not suspect.

The reports of Dr. Depew's illness, although they have been officially denied, would give him a good excuse to retire from the senate at this time.

Nick Longworth should have no trouble in getting the eye of the speaker if he has any more of those eighteen inch cigars in his vest pocket.

The telegraph wires between Tucson Arizona, and the United States Capitol, will now have a chance to cool off, likewise Mr. Beveridge.

Russia has several hard jolts ahead, as it still believes the way to quiet the people is to kill off the leaders rather than to remove the cause of discontent.

A New York minister has discovered that Mr. Rockefeller is one of the unhappiest men in the world he hadn't heard that Standard Oil stock was not paying the usual dividends.

The Washington Post attributed to Senator Callinger the sympathy for the President, as the motive for wanting the salary increased there having been a wedding in the White House family.

The Democrat who supports the President is labeled as a White House Democrat. The designation for the republican senator who opposes the President has not been framed in polite English yet.

Carter Harrison gave lots of disinterested advice to the Chicago charter committee as to the functions of a mayor. Carter wouldn't accept the job again under any circumstances, unless the voters were to catch him alone and unprotected some night and force the office on him. Oh no!

In the spring time you renovate your house. Why not your body? Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea drives out impurities, cleanses and enriches the blood and purifies the entire system. 35 cents. J. M. Whittier & Co., Robersonville, N. C.

LET'S TAKE SOME STOCK.

Would that we had the power to strike the death-blow to the doctrine that the school-house is far less important than the farm or the business affairs of life.

It does seem to us that this age is branded with the dollar-mark through and through, root and branch. It seems to be the "dollar-fever" that is prevalent to no special clime, but is indigenous to every soil.

We need to stop and think of the problems of human life and how we may contribute our mite to the glory of our generation and our people—yea, our future citizens! The history of mankind has proven to our satisfaction that the man who does not "earn his bread by the sweat of his brow" is a curse to his day and generation. Then why does the old man, the middle-aged man, work ceaselessly in his chosen occupation for the purpose of laying up riches for those that come after him in line of descent?

The "sweat of the brow" doctrine is a divine curse, a law legislated thousands of years ago and it can not be repealed. It must stand. We argue that it would be better for us to give the young man every educational advantage possible, and this "every educational advantage" is not possible unless the patrons of schools keep a watchful eye on the young who are naturally filled with enthusiasm and the buoyancy of youth, who like the daring, the bold thing, and the fighter.

We understand that there is considerable dime-novel reading in the graded school here. The only way to get rid of this damaging habit is to have a regular committee that would be allowed the privilege of walking in almost any day or hour to inspect and investigate. Whipping would not work well in this case, as the habit is among the larger boys and the best thing to do would be to suspend them from school for a month or so and thus hurt their pride if they were found reading this "trash" in school hours.

In order to have good crops the farmer must nurse and attend to their every demand; in order to have the child's mind developed properly the patron must do as the farmer, nurse and attend the every demand as he sees it.

We can not expect to have good schools if we look after them less by far than we do our own affairs. You need not expect the teacher to do it all. He must have your cooperation to accomplish the greatest good. We need to be unselfish; we need to deny ourselves that the children may reap the benefits.

We need to take a deep interest in the growing boy—the embryo President. If we do this we will be amply rewarded by the future historian, for we will have enacted the Christ-like drama.

To the Best Paid Man.

It's sound sense that we tell you. Your work costs less dollars and is best every time you use L. & M. You do more painting with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. paint wear like iron. 4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house. L. & M. costs only $1.20 a gallon.

A. T. Terrell Riverhead, N. Y. Writes: "16 years ago painted with L. & M. Only now requires repainting." Sold by S. R. Biggs.

The tar that is contained in Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is harmless. It is not coal tar, but is obtained from the pine trees of our own native forests. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds because it acts on the bowels—thus expelling all colds from the system. Bee's is the original Laxative Honey and Tar, and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, lung and bronchial affections. Sold by S. R. Biggs.

Mr. Joyner at Robersonville.

Robersonville, Mich. 14, '06. Mr. J. Y. Joyner, superintendent of public instruction, spoke in the town hall here on Friday evening, March 9, to a large and appreciative audience. All were charmed and instructed and are enthusiastic in their expressions of pleasure.

Superintendent Joyner gave some very wholesome advice to the people as to the management of local affairs. Since the school is for the good of the whole community it is necessary for all to exercise wisdom, patience and perseverance.

Mr. Joyner then discussed the child, its education and the relation of that education not only to its own future usefulness, prosperity, progress and power of the country. To show the value of education he drew parallels from history, beginning with the earliest civilized nations and showing how in every instance the power, progress, prosperity and usefulness of each has been in direct proportion to the education of its people.

By statistics he showed that in our own country invention and material progress have gone hand in hand with education. The wealthiest and most progressive communities have been those in which most capital was invested in the brains of the children.

Then he closed with an earnest plea that every child be given an opportunity to develop all his powers in order that the community may utilize its best forces for its advancement, material, intellectual and spiritual. Not only is the child handicapped in the race of life, but that State which is exclusive in its education lags behind. The State must educate—it "must educate or perish."

Rev. J. Manning Dunnaway is assisting the pastor, Rev. J. T. Eubank, in a most interesting series of meetings at the Baptist church. His sermons are forcible and convincing and the meetings are being well attended.

Miss Maggie Peel visited in the country Saturday and Sunday. Mr. S. Justus Everett, of Williamson, spent Friday night in town. In a few well chosen remarks he introduced the speaker of the evening. On his return he was accompanied by Mr. J. Alphonso Everett.

A telegram received here this morning from Richmond stated that Mr. Bracy Roebuck was dead. A later message, however, from the young man himself corrected the error.

Of course there may be a coal strike, but the average citizen isn't worrying, as he thinks President Roosevelt will take fifteen minutes off some time between now and the first of the month and settle the dispute.

IN MEMORIAM.

Roanoke Camp No. 107. Whereas, On March 7, 1906, it pleased our kind and loving Father to reach forth and gather to Himself from our midst one of His faithful ones in the person of John A. Hatton, therefore be it Resolved, 1. By the Sovereigns of Camp No. 107 of the Woodmen of the World—that in the death of John A. Hatton, the Camp lost an ardent and devoted member, and while we deeply feel his loss we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who is too wise to err and too kind to afflict us needlessly; and that while we cannot understand why he should be taken just now in the prime of his young manhood, when he was so much needed in his home, we know it must be all right for He doeth all things well.

2. That in the death of John A. Hatton, our Camp not only lost a beloved and helpful member but the community a life-long citizen who was always bright and cheerful, notwithstanding the suffering that came to him in the last month of his life.

3. That we tender to his bereaved loved ones our heartfelt and sincerest sympathy, and commend them to the God of Heaven who can comfort them in this their deep gloom.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Camp, a copy sent to the bereaved family, a copy be sent to THE ENTERPRISE and one to the Sovereign Visitor for publication.

Fellow Citizens.

(Copied.) Here we are—on this the 1905th anniversary of the Man of Galilee, in our native home, upon the hill, near the pines, in the pine woods—North Carolina.

Thirty years have passed since we enjoyed a Christmas dinner in the old home. Then an unbroken family of six, now broken to two. The dinner about the same as in the happy long ago, but how changed the faces around the festive board! You may know; but we cannot describe the gladness and the pathos of this Christmas day by the old hearthstone where the crickets used to gather up the crumbs, and sing their winter songs, where Santa Clause came down the chimney to make glad the hearts of childhood. Come on Santa Clause forever, we wouldn't blot the happy thought from childish innocence for the crown of kings. We wandered through the old home from room to room, even up into the garrett where the relics of generations are put away. Saw the first cradle in which we were rocked nearly sixty years ago. A something moved us to take hold of that cradle and rock it, as did the hands now folded across the breast of sleep. Rocking, rocking and looking down into its emptiness, we saw lingering dreams of love and hope that had taken wing. Somehow we preferred to walk alone over the old fields and through the by-paths. The loneliness brought us in closer touch with the morning that is now passing into twilight.

After all, there is cheer and gladness, life and progress, in the old land. On all lines of activity much improvement—the old becoming new—so much so, we are often astonished at the people talking of advancing values like the young West. The star of empire looms up in the East. With a tear and the quiver of
