Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge as often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.
You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Word Jamaica.
The word Jamaica is a variant of the aboriginal name of the island—"Xaymacan," which is a combination of two words signifying water and wood. As Jamaica is known as the "island of springs" and produces an abundance of trees and vegetation, the name is highly appropriate. Old English localities are reproduced in Jamaica. Thus the island is divided into three counties—Middlesex, Surrey and Cornwall. The parishes hardly correspond with the counties. Why there should be a parish of Manchester in Middlesex and a parish of Portland in Surrey is not apparent at first sight, but the parish of Trelawny in Cornwall is in perfect accord with the fitness of things. The parish derives its name from Sir William Trelawny, who was at one time a governor of Jamaica.—London Chronicle.

He Fired the Stick
"I have fired the walking stick I've carried over 40 years, on account of a sore that resisted every kind of treatment, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; that has healed the sore and made me a happy man," writes John Garrett of North Mills, N. C. Guaranteed for Piles, Burns, etc. by S. R. Biggs, druggist, 25c.

COLORS OF SOUNDS.

Do Note Them You Must Be in a Proper State of Vibration.
Every sound, it is contended, conveys an idea of color to those who are in a proper state of vibration.

Some years ago the humorists of this country were very busy poking fun at some little verses that Stephen Crane had written and that a Boston house published under the title "The Black Rider." In some of these verses Crane referred to the colors of sounds, and this was the key for the humorists. They carried the thing to the most ridiculous lengths, making all kinds of sport of the suggestion that sounds have colors.

At that time Crane and I were together a great deal—almost inseparable chums, in fact. One night we sat on the pier of the Crescent club country house at Bay Ridge until almost day-break. It was a moonless, starless night, and the sailing vessels which could be seen at all looked like ghosts gliding by. Presently out of the darkness came one of these small vessels, headed almost directly toward us. It looked as if she were going to strike the pier, but at that instant a loud voice on board gave some order, and she veered enough to miss it.

"Great heavens! What a green voice!" exclaimed Crane.
"What do you mean by that?" I asked. "You are always giving colors to sounds. Do you do that for some poetic effect?"
"Certainly not," he answered in a tone of surprise, surprise which increased to amazement when I told him that sounds did not suggest colors to me unless the sounds were associated in my mind with things of certain colors. "If I heard the roar of a waterfall which I could not see, it might suggest the colors that I naturally associate with falling water—the pale green tint of the falling sheet and the white of the splashing foam—but that is merely association of ideas. Something else might make precisely the same sound and suggest a wholly different set of colors to me."
This was wonderful to Crane. Until then he had supposed that everybody heard, or rather heard, the colors of different sounds. He thought there must be something lacking in me that I did not hear these colors. I told him I believed most people lacked the same quality, and he doubted it.
"Why," said he, "we know, as a matter of clear demonstration, that sound and color are the products of the same thing—motion. You remember Huxley's illustration—fasten one end of an iron bar to an axle, revolve the axle faster and faster, and you will get every degree of heat, sound and color until the iron disintegrates."
Theoretically I could see that all right, but when some sound smote our ears, and he asked me what color it suggested to me I was totally unable to say that it suggested any. To him, however, there was not a sound that did not have its color as distinct to his ears as the colors of the stars and stripes are to my eyes.—Wills Brooks in Brooklyn Eagle.
