

Martin Lacks Industries

The people of Martin County are among the poorest and best to be found in the state or anywhere else. They have shown themselves the equal, if not the superior among those with whom they have come in contact.

Their sons and daughters who have left our borders, and taken up their abode in other sections have always taken a high stand in life, and have by their wisdom and courage reflected great honor upon the grand old county.

They have, as a whole, always stood for what was right, wherever they have been found. And as for energy and ability, they have always been found in the fore front, moulding and shaping sentiment for what is noblest and best in life.

They have for the past few years made as much progress in the development and improvement of their farms as any people in the state. They have by better fertilizing and better cultivation made their lands much more valuable.

Our business men have always been among the very best, and have had much to do with the present state of progress to be found in the county, which includes all lines of industry.

Now the state manufactures six or seven hundred thousand bales of cotton yearly, fully as much as it produces on its farms; and this is proof positive that our county is far behind others in this great line of progress.

Let farmers and business men who have money out on interest, or lying idle in their safes resolve to combine their capital and stop this drain of wealth from our people.

When our people shall have made provisions for manufacturing all the raw materials we produce, then, and not until then shall we have real prosperity.

As the City Fathers are declaring so many things a nuisance, we do not see why they can not touch the habit of spitting on the pavement. Before the walks were paved it was not so noticeable or seemingly so prevalent.

With the near approach of the Hague Peace Conference, there seems but one thing definitely settled and that is that there will be no action on the proposal to limit armaments.

FLUE CURING IMPROVES TOBACCO LIKE ROASTING IMPROVES GREEN COFFEE

Flue Curing Develops the Stimulating Aroma and Taste Found in Schnapps that Satisfies Tobacco Hunger

There are three ways used by farmers for curing and preparing their tobacco for the market; namely, sun cured, air cured and flue cured. The old and cheap way is called air cured; the later discovery and improved way is called flue cured. In flue-curing the tobacco is taken from the field and suspended over intensely hot flues in houses especially built to retain the heat, and there kept in the proper temperature until this curing process develops in the tobacco the stimulating taste and fragrant aroma found in Schnapps tobacco, just as green coffee is made fragrant and stimulating by the roasting process. Only choice selections of this ripe, juicy flue cured leaf, grown in the famous Piedmont country, where the best tobacco grows, are used in Schnapps and other Reynolds' brands of high grade, flue cured tobaccos.

Hundreds of imitation brands are on sale that look like Schnapps; the outside of the imitation plugs of tobacco is flue cured, but the inside is filled with cheap, flimsy, heavily sweetened air cured tobacco; one chew of Schnapps will satisfy tobacco hunger longer than two chews of such tobacco.

Expert tests prove that this flue cured tobacco, grown in the famous Piedmont region, requires and takes less sweetening than any other kind, and has a wholesome, stimulating, satisfying effect on chewers. If the kind of tobacco you are chewing don't satisfy, more than the mere habit of expectorating, stop fooling yourself and chew Schnapps tobacco.

Schnapps is like the tobacco chewers formerly bought costing from 75c. to $1.00 per pound; Schnapps is sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. cuts, strictly 10 and 15 cent plugs.
