STATE GEOLOGIST'S EXHIBIT.

orth Carolina Mineral Display In the tains many rare minerals and gems and some of rare crystallization. The collection and installation of this exhibit have been under the direct charge of Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, shate goologist of North Carolina. The exhibit constirs in the main of building stones, such as granite, marble and sandstone; mica, monazite and tale, for which North Carolina is especially noted; barytes, copper ores, kaolin, tin, chromite, specimens of abrasives, such as milistones or bubrstones; corundum and garnet, and quite an elaborate display of gems and practous stones, cut and uncut.

Mica has also a prominent place among the North Carolina milerals, and the North Carolina milerals, and the North Carolina milerals, and the North Carolina miles is regarded as standard.

North Carolina is well supplied with mineral waters of various medicinal qualities, and these are well represented in bottled form by the many owners. Other economic minerals, as copper, gold, silver, barytes, graphite, coal, iron, chromite, etc., are displayed prominently, and many minerals of interest to the scientist, as feldspar, flexible sandstone or itacolumite, the ores or uranium, etc., are included in this exhibit.

The portion of the exhibit that has appealed most strongly to all who en-ores or uranium, etc., are included in this exhibit.

The portion of the exhibit that has appealed most strongly to all who enter the Mines building is the splendid array of gems and precious stones. These collections have been furnished by Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist; American Gem and Pearl company of New York, and the state museum. The two gems found exclusively in North Carolina, rhodolite and hiddenite, are eagerly sought and the ly in North Cavolina, rhodolite and hiddenite, are eagerly sought, and the splendid array of rubles, garnets, amethysts, emeralds, emerald matrix, beryls, including the golden blue and aquamarine, corundum gems, rutilated rose and opalescent quarts, oligoclass, carnellana, calragorms, sunstones, etc., has excited keen interest. About twenty diamonds have been found in the state, one of which is shown in this collection.

HAD AN AWFUL TIME

been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy,—Sam. H. Gwin, Concord, Ga. For sale by S. R. Biggs.

Carolina are among the most impor-tant in the state. These are complete-tant in the state. These are compete-ly covered by the textile display, sev-eral thousand specimens being shown in the stacks and cases, and more than a hundred mills are represented. The furniture department shows a collective exhibit from the numerous factories of the state in suits and oddi-ties and also the woods in the different factories of the state in suits and oddi-ties and also the woods in the different stages of manufacture.

Most of the cabinet woods of the state are employed in this furniture manufacture. You will see a number of very pretty and useful articles and will realize—perhaps for the first time, unless you are from North Carolina— that that state is by no means un-known in the world which the exhibits in this department represent.

North Carolina Expenditures.

The state of North Carolina appropriated the sum of $50,000 for its representation at the Jamestown exposition. Of this amount $25,000 was expended in constructing and furnishing the building, a portion of the furniture in the building being donated. The remaining $25,000 was expended in securing, transporting and installing exhibits and was apportioned as follows: Agriculture, horticulture, forestry and fish exhibit, under the supervision of T. K. Bruner, secretary of the agricultural department of the state, $0,200; textiles and furniture, under the direct control of Colonel Pogue and the immediate management of A. R. Chisholm, $4,500; mines and metallurgy exhibit, under the supervision of Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist, $3,000; historical exhibit, in charge of Mrs. Lindsay Patterson of Winston-Salem, assisted by Misses Hinton and Schenck of Raleigh and Greensboro, respectively, $2,000; educational exhibit, under J. Y. Joyner, superintendent of public schools of North Carolina, $1,000. In addition to the above, there was an appropriation of $5,000 by the legislature for the benefit of the negroes of the state, with which to secure their exhibit for the Negro building.

North Carolina Education.

The educational exhibit of the state of North Carolina at the Jamestown exposition is a complete demonstration of the educational methods employed in the various parts of the state ployed in the various parts of the state and graphically represents the public school system of the state. The exhibit consists of pictures, charts, maps and the handiwork of the students. The largest and most interesting picture is one representing the University of North Carolina at Chappel Hill. Here are shown the entire campus and surrounding country. Charts and statistics under this picture show the wonderful growth of the university sluce its inception in 1876.

ture. These departments are in charge of Aaron R. Chisholm, who under stands the business thoroughly and them and they give perfect satisfaction in every case. I have used them myself with fine result. The cotton fabric interests of North Carolina are among the most important in the state. These are complete.

Exposition Hates Reasonable.

District i assenger Agent J. H. Wood of the Southern Railway company at Asheville has returned from a several days' trip to the Jamestown exposition and declares that he was favorably impressed with the excellence of the exposition. He said that there was no reason for complaint; that the transportation facilities were entirely adequate; that hotel facilities were ample and that rates were reasonable. The exposition itself, Mr. Wood said, was interesting and instructive and sight-seers could very pleasantly and profitably spend several days in and around Nerfolk and the exposition grounds—Citizen, Asheville, N. C.
