The occasion of the meeting was the celebration of the establishment of the University by the laying of the corner stone of the Old East Building one hundred and fifteen years ago on October 12, 1793. Report of the gramble and progress was read and a general conversation discussing the different changes as witnessed by each one present held sway to the great pleasure of all.

A committee was appointed to draft proper resolutions and congratulations to be sent President Venable. The association then adjourned and the younger members gave the U. N. C. yells and sang the Tar Heel University songs. President Venable's report will be published next week.
