It is President Taft now and Ex-Teddy, to the regret of the Litter.

Miss Rebecca Metz, a Pennsylvania woman, has sued a man who has been courting her twenty eight years, and yet has not popped the question direct. She asks for $10,000 damages. Any jury which would refuse to give her that amount, and then hang the longwinded son of Adam, should be put in prison for contempt.

Waste Paper on The Streets

"Nothing gives such an unsightly appearance to a city, as does waste paper, which on windy days, flows like a stream up and down streets, across sidewalks and perhaps lodges in piles before the doors of some merchants. And on rainy days, this waste paper fills up the drains, stops sewers and is a mass of sloppy matter under foot."

So says the Washington Messenger of recent date. We were not aware that any place had the same trouble as Williamston. With the windy days comes clouds of paper flying often against your face, lodging in the grass and plastering the fences along the street, giving the town the look of "moving day." How to remedy this situation has engaged the attention of large cities, and the Womens Club of New Orleans suggested that the girls and boys of the city be paid for gathering all the paper in sight, and that the city dispose of it to local firms to be re-made into pulp.

To first remedy the situation in this town, is to clean the back lots on Main Street, and require that they be kept so. Much of the paper is blown from these lots, and winds like those of last week ruthlessly distribute it over a wide area. Every house-keeper will tell you that she is careful not to allow waste matter to be thrown in the back yard, because it will in nearly every case come to the front. It is an easy matter to collect the paper and burn it—the children even will delight to aid in this.

Why not start a crusade against paper on our streets, and begin now, when spring is at the door? We have one of the prettiest little towns in the State naturally, with its beautiful trees, level street and good drainage. With a little care it can be made more attractive.

The Importance Of Seed Selection

If the planting of good seed means a crop value of $500 to a one horse farm, and the planting of bad seed causes the production of but half a crop, then the farmer would be losing $250 per year on the one horse crop. Everybody admits that there is something in seed selection, but many fail to heed. Farmers are too apt to neglect to save the large, well-developed ears of corn as they are found during the season. Then seed-time comes, Spring hurries the busy farmer and he has no time to go to the barn and make a careful selection. The corn is planted as he finds it—resulting in a mixture of good and bad, and a poor stand in the field. In harvesting the result of seed selection is noticeable in the two grades of ears one kind representative of the good, the other showing marks of its imperfect ancestry. The entire field shows a loss of many barrels of good corn—enough to have over-paid for the time spent in properly selecting the seed.

The proper time for cotton seed election being in the fall, the farmer cannot do much in this line at planting time. To remedy this, one may procure seed from a neighbor who raises good staple cotton. This is preferable to sending to foreign places, as certain kinds are adapted to certain soils.

Seed peanuts are, perhaps, of more importance than any other. These must be selected as to fertility, productiveness and adaptability to the soil in which they are to be grown. Why should we plant peanuts that make no more per acre than a pea that sells for one-third more per bushel? The demand for the better grades is always strongest.

There is no doubt that the best paying work done on the farm is the labor expended in the seed selection. The Agricultural Department is urging farmers to give the matter their best efforts. We are hoping for more attention to this important feature of farm work, and believe that many farmers are already making careful selections.

A contemporary says "The Standard Oil Company wants to 'take in Missouri.'" No doubt; but Missouri seems to be something of a wise old owl in respect of that, however.

The New Country Woman

Modern Inventions Have Put Her in Touch With the World.

To many people it will be surprising news to hear that there really is a "new woman" in the country, as well as in cities. For a number of years we have been reading of the exploits of the new woman in town, but nothing about her country sister. Actually, there are men and women, people who call themselves intelligent, who know more about Europe than they do of the real conditions of the rural residents of their own country.

The average town dweller looks upon life in the country as one wide waste without a fertile spot to redeem it. Men and women willingly starve in crowded tenements rather than endure the "terrible loneliness" and "drudgery" of the country, and the sympathy of every woman who has never lived in the country goes out to her down-trodden country sister.

Conditions have changed wonderfully during the past twenty or thirty years everywhere, but particularly in the country. Machinery has lightened labor, telephones have placed the country in touch with the cities, rural free delivery has brought the news and happenings of the hour to the little box at the gate of the farmer daily, fine 'pikes have made it possible to get about from places with ease and rapidly, and the steam and electric cars are penetrating to the remote corners of the United States with astonishing speed.—The March New Idea Woman's Magazine.

$5,445,869 More a Year for Tobacco Farmers

The total value of the tobacco yield for the eight Tobacco States is over $59,554,131 annually. With the same acreage the tobacco growers in these States could, by improved methods of cultivation and fertilization, undoubtedly increase the total value of the crop to $65,000,000.

are compounded with the utmost care, containing only such elements of plant foods as can be taken up and properly assimilated by the plant without causing injury to its quality. Years of investigation of the cultivation and fertilization of tobacco enables the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company to furnish fertilizers of superior quality for the production of this crop.

Mr. J. W. Rogers, R. F. D. No. 4, Durham, N. C., writes: "I have been using your fertilizers this year and the crops are the best looking I have ever seen—especially the tobacco crop. I have never seen any other fertilizer which acted as quickly as yours does. The leaf is large and waxy, cures bright, and I am satisfied will bring a big price. Also, my neighbors in this district use your fertilizer with the best results."

Is there any reason why you couldn't do as well? Be sure and ask your fertilizer dealer for a copy of the 1909 Virginia-Carolina Year Book or Almanac, or write our nearest sales office and a copy will be sent you free.
