Vermillion County, Illinois, is true to its color, for things are being painted red up there in the vote selling business.

Some of our legislators could have remained at home and huddled possums and coons. May be they could have tripped an otter and made fifty cents instead of four dollars a day. Men will protect a grunting old possum when they refuse to throw the skin of the last about the profitable sheep.

The people who have decided to cut out tobacco in this section where the bright weed can be raised, will see their mistake when the 1911 crop is put on the market. It is feared that many will be lured to financial ruin by the present price of cotton. It is the best to plant more than one money crop. For if one fails the other will bring living prices. Farmers are too easily discouraged in this day and generation. Because there have been some hard years it is not unreasonable to suppose that a good time is coming. Some of the best thinkers cannot see the advantage of cutting out tobacco as the farmers are threatening to do.

It is a sad state of affairs when a great Congress of a great nation cannot see the fitness of things but becomes the puppet of politicians as in the case of voting to celebrate the opening of the Canal at San Francisco. It is said that Tatt wanted to appease the Januise government. If the little yellow man is mad, let him stay in that very pleasant condition. That was not the truth of the matter—the South wanted the Exposition and the South must be deprived of everything which is in the gift of the administration. Let them drive the show the South is still the greatest country on the globe and in close proximity to the big old ditch. Front hats and point we've got 'em.

Cup for Corn Club

The Raleigh Evening Times of Monday sent me a cut of a silver loving cup which has to be given to the boy who raises the best corn in the State this year. It is a fine trophy and a great honor. This is a prize well worth the part of the Times and will read to increase the interest of the boy farmers in North Carolina. There were several boys in Martin County last year who made a splendid record in corn raising. There is no reason why some boy in the county cannot win this cup. We have good soil and the farmers' boys in the County have plenty of intelligence and industry. The Times has the following to say about the trophy:

"The Monday paper the announcement was made of our offer of an elegant silver loving cup to be awarded annually to the Boy's Corn Club raising the greatest number of bushels of corn from a single acre of land, subject to the regulations governing the corn contests of the state agricultural department. We believe that the Boy's Corn Clubs are doing great things for the state of North Carolina and we also believe that wonderful things are going to be accomplished by the boys of North Carolina who are now the members of these corn clubs. These boys are soon going to be the men of our state and they will not only be running our farms but they will be conducting and running the other lines of industry, as well as directing the ship of state, so it is to them we must direct our energies now, if we would make a great state in the future. The state department of agriculture is doing more for the state in the work it is doing for the boys than it all other ways, and we trust that this loving cup which we have donated to the Boys Corn Club of North Carolina will stimulate the boys of the state to still greater things, and in so doing we will have a Greater State Through Greater Boys."

Life Saved at Death's Door

"I never felt so near my grave," writes W. R. Patterson of Wellington, Tex., as when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 100 pounds, in spite of doctor's treatment for two years. My father, mother and two sisters died of consumption, and that I am alive to lay is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 187 pounds and have been well and strong for years. Quick, safe, sure, it is the best remedy on earth for coughs, colds, grippe, asthma, croup, and all throat and lung troubles. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Saunders & Fowden.

The Greatest of all Our Tasks

Permanent soil improvement—we can not help believing—is one of the very safest businesses in which a farmer can engage at this time, and especially is this true in the South when prices for all farm products are already high and likely to go higher. Rich soils from which large crops of these high priced products may be secured at low cost for cultivation are sure to appreciate very rapidly in value in the coming years. So, we believe our idle time, at least, may well be used in bringing about all manner of soil improvement. The most satisfactory permanent improvement we have ever made on our land has been underdrainage. It is an improvement that not only begins to pay dividends on cost at once but continues to do so, without any further expenditure, for generations. Men all over the South are beginning to awake to the need of underdrainage and the reclaiming of swamp lands. The man with the little rich creek bottom is as much interested as the owner of vast areas for he realizes that where he only has a little he must make that little do its very best, and he knows such land can not and does not do its best—except during extremely dry seasons—with ordinary surface drainage.—A. J. L. French, in Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer

Don't "Go Back to the Farm;" Stay There

"Back to the farm" is futile, because only failures come back, but "Stick to the farm" is good, because all that is or can be springs from the soil." This sentence, attributed by Harper's Weekly to Theodore N. Vail, president of the great telegraph and telephone consolidation, may not be absolutely true in every case, but in its general meaning it is. The men needed on the farm are not the derelicts or the drifters, but those able to guide their own course. It may be a good thing to bring boys and men from the towns out to the farm; but it is a far finer and more valuable thing to train the young men now growing up in the country so that they will love the farm and make it pay, to educate them for leadership in the great work of re-making our rural life. The story of the country boy who went to the city and made a great success has been told a thousand times; let us show the strong, energetic country boy that he can make just as great a success in the country. When we do this the boys, born to be leaders of men, will not feel that they must go to town to seek their fortune, and country life will be finer and better than we have ever dreamed. What is your community doing to make its brightest boys and girls stick to the farm.—Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer

IN WASHINGTON, D. C., EVERYBODY KNOWS COL. WILLIAM CAMP.

CHIVALROUS, high-minded, impulsive, generous, courteous, loyal, a believer in good fellowship, a lover of home, magnanimous to enemies, true to friends, is a reputation that any man may well covet. No man better exemplifies this description than Col. William Camp, whose testimonial is given below. His unique, friendly and charming personality is well known in the streets of the capital city of the United States. His word is as good as his bond. His frankness and truthfulness no one has ever questioned that knew him.

Read what he says concerning Peruna.
 "I write to say that I have used Peruna and find it a very valuable remedy for coughs and colds and rebuilding of a worn and tired system, dissipating and eradicating that old tired feeling."—Col. William Camp, 1740 L St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

MR. CHAS. BROWN, Bogersville, Tenn., writes: "I feel it my duty to write you a few words in praise of your Peruna. I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder. A friend advised me to take Peruna for indigestion, and it cured me in a short time. I was very weak and ner-

I find Pe-ru-na very valuable for rebuilding of a worn and tired system.

The Origin of Royster Fertilizers.

Mr. Royster believed that success awaited the Manufacturer of Fertilizers who would place quality above other considerations. This was Mr. Royster's idea Twenty-seven years ago and this is his idea to-day; the result has been that it requires Eight Factories to supply the demand for Royster Fertilizers.
