Tom Settle Here

Saturday afternoon, the fire bell rang announcing the appointment of Tom Settle, Republican nominee for Governor, who on the arrival of the 1.16 train delivered his humorous lecture to a small number of his party and a few curious Democrats at the City Hall. The address throughout, with the exception of an advocacy of Republican protection doctrines, was a clever bit of contortion work in which he sought to make the Democratic party the Fool in the Comedy of Politics in State and Nation. This he does with a nicety which appeals to those whose natures enjoy the ridiculous even though the higher principles for which the Democratic party is standing, are condemned by the man who aspires to be Chief Executive of a great Common wealth.

The "whiskey barrel" was aired until one could smell the sickening odor. This trick of the Taft wing of North Carolina Republicans with Settle to play the grand act, failed to catch those for whom the trick was pulled off. Settle is trying to place himself on the same platform with Woodrow Wilson, and every reasonable man can see the trick in it too. Gov. Wilson announced that he believed in local self government, but is not running on such a platform nor does he wish to apply it to local option in those States where the voice of the people by a large majority have settled the question. The wily Tom knew this but was seeking to catch some Democratic votes for himself. Four years ago, he came here with the same old spiel and was called down as the whiskey question is not a political matter only as Settle and his followers have made it one. The Roosevelt Republicans in the State cleaned their hands of it but Tom Settle took it up mire and all.

Settle is an able speaker and if he represented a good cause would make a decided impression on any audience, but his only weapon is ridicule and that produces just a laugh. He had with him D. H. Blair, who spoke awhile before Settle took the central position on the stage.

J. G. Criswell, a painter living at 540 North Mulberry St., Hagerstown, Md., states: "I had kidney trouble with a severe pain across my back, and could hardly get up after sitting down. I took Foley Kidney Pills and soon found the pain left my back, I could get up and down with ease, and the bladder action was more regular and normal. Try them. Saunders & Fowden."

Meeting Closed

The series of meetings held in the Christian Church closed Tuesday night at the City Hall, where large congregations had assembled since Friday night. Sunday night the entire lower floor of the Hall was crowded and several found seats in the gallery. The services were interesting throughout and Rev. Taylor's discourses were enjoyed by all those who heard them. There were five accessions to the Church here. Mr. Taylor left Wednesday morning to fill another appointment in a distant town.

Mrs. T. A. Town, 107 6th St., Watertown, S. D., writes: "My four children are subject to hard colds and I always use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound with splendid results. Some time ago I had a severe attack of a gripple and the doctor prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it soon overcame the la gripple. I can always depend upon Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and am sure of good results." Saunders and Fowden.

Embroidery Club

The Embroidery Club met with Mrs. John D. Biggs at her home on Tuesday p. m. The beginning of the new year of the Club was made more pleasant and interesting by the entrance of three new members, Mrs. John D. Biggs, Mrs. W. H. Crawford and Miss Anna Pope. The hour was very enjoyable and delicious refreshments and attractive souvenirs added to the pleasure of the guests. The next meeting will be held with Miss Nannie Biggs, October 29th.

Mrs. Paul Webling, 316 Smith St., Peoria, Ill., had kidney and bladder trouble, with terrible backache and pain across the hips. Just imagine her condition. She further says: "I was also very nervous had headaches and dizzy spells, and fast getting worse when I took Foley Kidney Pills, and now all my troubles are cured. Foley Kidney Pills have done so much for me I shall always recommend them. Saunders & Fowden."

Insult to Intelligence and Morals

All Candidates for either the Upper or Lower House of Congress ought to be judged solely by their attitude toward great issues affecting the public welfare. For any man to ask for votes on the ground that he has got or can get bigger appropriations from the Federal Treasury than anybody else, is little less than an insult to the intelligence and morals of the people. We have quoted it more than once before, but we cannot refrain from repeating again what Robert Toombs, the great Georgian, said in the United States Senate fifty years ago when he spoke against an appropriation proposed for his own State. "I am just as much opposed to an abuse in Georgia as I am to an abuse in New York," he said; and then he uttered this sentiment which ought to be immortal:

"Whenever the system shall be firmly established that the States will enter a miserable scramble for the most money for their local appropriations, and that Senator is to be regarded the ablest representative of his State who can get for it the largest slice of the treasury, from that day public honor and property are gone and all the States are disgraced and degraded."—The Progressive Farmer.

Public Speaking

Hon. John H. Small, Democratic Candidate for Congress will speak in WILLIAMSTON, on Monday night, OCTOBER 21st. at 8 o'clock City Hall.

At ROBERSONVILLE, on Saturday, OCTOBER 26th. he will speak with the County Candidates.

Geo. T. Craddock, Rubie, Ark., says: "I was bothered with lumbago for seven years so bad I could not work. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine which gave me little or no relief. Two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills cured me and now I can do any kind of work. I cheerfully recommend them to my friends." Saunders & Fowden.

Why Kitchin Failed to Vote

The partisans of Senator Simmons have scanned the twelve years' record of Governor Kitchin in congress hoping to find something prejudicial to his candidacy for the senate. Failing to find any vote which was undemocratic, reactionary or against the interests of the people, they seized upon the fact that he failed to vote on a number of roll calls during the last six months of his long service there, and they are publishing it far and wide.

He failed to vote because he was addressing the people of North Carolina in behalf of his candidacy for governor. He found it necessary to do this to an unusual extent to combat the efforts of Senator Simmons to boss and dictate the politics of the state. When Mr. Kitchin decided to aspire to the high office of governor he disclosed his ambition to Governor Glenn, Senator Overman and Senator Simmons, the three highest officials of the state, and asked what would be their attitude. They all told him that they would be neutral in the contest and keep hands off. Each kept his promise except Senator Simmons, who afterwards used his entire influence and all the acts of the machine politician and boss to defeat Mr. Kitchin. It was well understood that his supreme desire was to defeat Kitchin and his effort to elect some one else was merely a means to that end.

Mr. Kitchin appealed to the people over the heads of the would-be boss and the machine politicians. The people knew he was not in Washington, but they knew he was doing the state a great service and they approved his course by naming him governor. They rejoiced to know that a man could become governor without the permission of any boss or little set of men. They rebuked those who boasted that Kitchin could not be nominated because the men who made governors were against him.

Senator Simmons is thoroughly reactionary and out of sympathy with the progressive spirit in the democratic party. That he is a machine politician is amply proven by the methods pursued in this campaign. Should he be allowed to dominate the politics of this state the special interests will have a free hand, and the people, to use the expression of Woodrow Wilson, might as well go fishing. Else why are the favor seeking classes supporting him in preference to both Kitchin and Clark?

As Woodrow Wilson said in his recent Princeton speech "There is no difference between a democratic boss and a republican boss, because neither of them is working for his party. They are working for their clients."

We are soon to decide whether progressive democracy or the special interests and the reactionaries shall rule in this state. And the people will approve the present course of Governor Kitchin in going out among them, and, face to face, warning them of the danger.

Every republican paper in North Carolina and every near republican paper in the state is supporting Senator Simmons. There's a reason. The Winston Republican says:

"Democrats accuse Senator Simmons of voting with republicans. Admit it.—The Senator knew that a little republican good policy would greatly leaven the democratic lump."—Durham Sun.

Greatly Enlarged

The excellent reputation left by the Sparks Shows on former visits to this city would alone insure a liberal patronage this time, but the lusty growth and vast improvements in the show since its last visit will make it more attractive than ever.

Sparks is a man of energy and enterprise, wide experience and ample capital, and he has brought all this to bear in making his show superior to all other similar exhibitions. He has a brand new train of monster-railway cars built especially for him, all new gorgeous cages, dens, costly trappings, etc. He has expended over $40,000 in increased equipment. Every effort has been made regardless of cost to make his show satisfying to his pride and advanced ideas. That he has succeeded is amply proven by the way the newspapers speak of his exhibition wherever he has appeared. It is the universal verdict that he has now the most splendid, complete and high-class exhibition of its kind in America.

Every one should come to town in time to see the gorgeous street parade at noon, and then follow to the show grounds where some big free-outside exhibitions are scheduled to take place just previous to the opening of the doors to the main tent. The Sparks Shows will exhibit in Williamston Wednesday Oct. 30.

Mrs. Peter Holan, 11501 Buckeye Rd, Cleveland, O., says: "Yes indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. My little boy had a bad case of whooping cough, some time he was blue in the face. I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and it had a remarkable effect and cured him in a short time." Contains no harmful drugs. Saunders & Fowden.

Ball at Hamilton

The Hamilton School boys defeated the Robersonville 3 to 1 on October 11, 1912. The game was a fast one from beginning to end. Both teams played good ball. The game was strictly a pitcher's duel, neither one giving up over 5 hits. Shaw won the game for Hamilton by his terrific hitting which scored Hamilton 3 runs. Turner Grimes pitched good ball for Robersonville and was supported nicely.

Batteries: Robersonville, Gray and Grimes; Hamilton, Rooks, Martin and Sherrad.

Mr. Jas. V. Churchill, 90 Wall St., Auburn, N. Y., has been bothered with serious kidney and bladder trouble ever since he left the army, and says: "I decided to try Foley Kidney Pills as they had cured so many people and I soon found they were just the thing. My kidneys and bladder are again in a healthy condition. I gladly recommend them. Saunders & Fowden."
