Charlie Mobley, the popular young clerk at the postoffice, has resigned and accepted a position with the S. R. Egg Drug Company.

W. D. Jenkins, the owner of the Penny Slade farm, who with his family has moved to Durham, held at the office on Wednesday. He has rented the Hopkins House, corner of Cleveland and Liberty St., and is fully prepared to give good service to the traveling public. The house is newly furnished throughout, and is situated two blocks from the Union Depot and in front of Trinity Methodist Church, Durham.

A visit to the Graded School on Tuesday morning will be interesting. It is a pleasing sight to see the bright faces of the children when they assemble in the gymnasium for services, and the entertainment which is given each day to the parents. The most interesting feature of the school is the ice cream social, which is the highlight of the week. It is held every Tuesday morning this year and has some form of entertainment.

Services at the Methodist and Churches on Sunday morning.
