We have received an article from W. H. Wyatt, of Rutherford, N. J., in which he advocates cis terns in towns. He has been reading our appeals for better public water facilities, and thinks that the cistern proposition will solve the question. There is no trouble aboutwater except hat the public well was ruined by a well driller who had little judgment enough to think that he could get an overflow, and the town authorities have never replaced it. No place in this Eastern section can furnish purer water than is found here. We do not have plenty of water conveniently situated because the City Fathers don't concern themselves sufficiently about things that are worth while.

Forty Eight Years of Peace

Wednesday, April 9th. will be remembered as the anniversary of the surrender of Gen. R. E. Lee at Appomattox Court House. Thousands of veterans on both sides of the struggle will remember the day as the end of the greatest war of modern times - a was when brother fought against brother each believing that he was right. Whatever may have been the issues which brought on the struggle, only the memories of heroic deeds done by the living and the dead live in the hearts of the country. The people are one great united whole working together for the making of the most glorious land in all the world. The same flag floats above the heads of the people of the North and South, and for the first time in years has there been a Southern man at the head of the Nation. No less do we honor the names of Jackson and Lee. but rather more for they are the truest types of that manhood which is making America the greateat country on the globe.

Progress with Tobacco

J. P. Slawter of Forsyth county is a champion among the tobacco growers of this state. For 30 year he has been growing tobac co, and the past year sold $5438 worth of the weed. Mr. Slawter's strongest forts lies in his knowledge of the cultivation and Williamston, N. C., at the close of busi preparation of the plant for the market. He sees to it that the tobacco is thoroughly cultivated three times, with cultivator and hoe, and that the land is left as nearly level as possible when the last plowing is finished. He never Due from banks and bankers primes his tobacco until it is ready for topping, and at the same time he takes off from the top and bottom of the plant all the unnecessary leaves. The average number of leaves left on the divided profits less current expenses and taxes paid Dividends unpaid the stalk to ripen and be prepared for the market is niue.

Not until the tobacco is thoroughly ripe on the stalk does he cut it, and after it is cut and in the barn he takes three days in curing. On the first day he raises the temperature in the barn to 115-degrees and keeps it between The popularity of that and 120 until the leaf is a bright yellow. Then he carries the temperature up gradually to 150 and leaves it there until the leaf is thoroughly dry, and finally, to kill the stalk, he lifts the temperature to 180, where it is left until the curing process is finished. He says that if this simple method of curing is fol- in 1911 than ever before. Try it your lowed carefully by tobacco far-self-you'll know why. mers, they will have no trouble in getting a proper cure. He be-lieves that the great trouble with many farmers is that they are too impatient, buth in cutting and curing the weed, He also North Carolina, believes in thoroughly grading Martin County. his tobacco, and to his judgement I, J. C. Craw
