

COULDN'T EXPLAIN TERRIBLE ORDEAL

Through Which She Had to Go, Everyone Who Saw Her Thought She Had No Chance.

Carraville, Ky.—In advice from this town, Mrs. Hattie Cain says: "For 15 years, I was a great sufferer from womanly trouble, and would have to send for a doctor about every three months, and sometimes often."

I cannot explain to you how dreadfully I suffered at these times. I would have convulsions, and it seemed that I would die.

Everyone who saw me, thought there wasn't any chance for my recovery.

The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, but I couldn't consent to that, so he said for me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, as maybe it would help me.

I began taking Cardui, and Oh! Such a surprise it was to me! The first bottle I took, I knew it was the medicine for me, for I began to mend right away.

After taking nine bottles, my condition was perfect.

It has now been seven years since I was in such wretched health, and I can do more work, can walk and go where I please, and it doesn't hurt me.

I owe all of this to Cardui.

I have induced several of my neighbors to take it and it worked like a charm.

Give Cardui a trial for your troubles.

Heartless Man.

"Now, what are you feeling bad about?"

"Oh, I'm utterly wretched! He doesn't love me as I love him!"

"How do you know?"

"Why, we discovered last evening that the day we have fixed for our wedding day is the day of the opening of the cricket season, and also there's a bargain sale on at one of the big shops."

"And he wanted to change the date of the wedding?"

"We both wanted to change it. He couldn't miss the opening game, and I couldn't dream of missing those bargains."

"Well, then, I—"

"But he wanted to have the wedding a day later, while it was I who suggested having it a day sooner."

RINGWORM SPREAD ON FACE

Campbell, Va.—"I have been troubled with ringworm on the right side of my face for six or eight years. It began with just very small pimples in spots and continued to spread more every year until it covered the right side of my face. It was red, rough and in circles, and itched and burned very much. It was sore when I scratched my face and it worried me so much I couldn't keep from scratching. It looked very bad; I would hate to go out while it was on my face. Every one noticed it and some would ask what it was.

"I tried some home remedies before using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, such as ————, I could only find temporary relief until I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I put the Cuticura Ointment on my face and let it stay on for about an hour and then I washed my face with Cuticura Soap. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for one month and I was cured." INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR MAY 4

JOSEPH INTERPRETS DREAMS.

LESSON TEXT—Gen. 40:9-23. GOLDEN TEXT—"The breath of the Almighty giveth them understanding." Job. 33, R. V.

In teaching this lesson we must not overlook the intervening events which are other illustrations of the truthfulness of the biblical narrative in that the sinful failures as well as the successes of families and of chosen individuals are presented.

Joseph began life in Egypt as a serf. Potiphar, who bought him, was the chief marshal of the empire, the lord high executioner. What Joseph's feelings must have been we are left to infer, but we believe he accepted his humiliating position with resignation and resolved to adjust himself to his new environment. Thus it was that Potiphar found in Joseph an honest servant. Joseph served ten years, years of constant promotion, when he encountered the ordeal related in chapter 39.

Crime and Sin.

The breaking point had to come when he exclaimed: "How can I do this wickedness and sin against God?" Gen. 39:9. A crime is committed against a man or against society; the same act against God is a sin. Joseph's only safety was in flight (v. 12), to parley would have meant defeat. Between the ages of seventeen and thirty, Joseph lived a life of slavery and imprisonment. But God was with him and his faithfulness was rewarded by being promoted to the position of warden. "Our religion should recommend us, therefore itself, to those who have to do with us." (MacLaren.) Joseph has been referred to as "the optimist," not as one who believes that all will come right, but that all is right now.

So much by way of introduction. The lesson proper divides itself naturally into two divisions:

I. The Chief Butler's Dream, vv. 9-15. As we have seen Joseph's purity of life and loyalty to God had brought upon him the bitter hatred of an unprincipled woman (cf. 2 Tim. 3:12), but as we shall see, the sequel was his exaltation. (See Matt. 5:11, 12.) By inference we are led to believe that Potiphar had not altogether believed the story of his wife, else he would have exercised his right as an official, also as a slaveowner, and summarily executed Joseph. But Joseph had one friend from whom he could not be separated. (Jehovah, 39:21.)

In the providence of God two men who stood nearer the King in the discharge of their duties than did Potiphar are brought into close contact with Joseph. It was through one of these men Jacob was afterwards given his opportunity which led to the salvation of many, including those of his own families. (Ether 6:1, Rom. 8:28, Pa. 76:10.)

An Enlightened Age.

We cannot of course lay the same emphasis upon dreams today as at the time of Joseph, nor is there need of such revelations from God, for we live in the enlightened age of the Holy Spirit and ever have easy access to the word. But trivial as these dreams may have seemed, God was using them to change the course of history. Verse seven gives us an intimation of this, also a hint of Joseph's heart of compassion and sympathy. Had Joseph been a selfish man, slow to notice the sorrows of others and still slower to make any endeavor to relieve their suffering, he would have missed the very opportunity God intended to use in the effecting of his escape from prison.

II. The Chief Baker's Dream, vv. 16-23. This dream also was connected with the dreamer's avocation in life and hence along the most natural lines. Again Joseph's cherished conviction produced by his own dreams induces him to offer an interpretation of the baker's dream. Had he lost this conviction due to the circumstances of the hour or questioned the validity of God's revelation or that he was a called man in God's plan, he would not have attempted any interpretation. Again we emphasize the fact that dreams are of a negligible value in this present age. They usually come from poor digestion or else a sinful tendency to worry. They have nothing of the divine about them. (See Eccl. 5:3, Jer. 23:25.) We have a better revelation from God, his word; are we familiar with it? It is foolish for us to put any dependence upon dreams today. Joseph's interpretations which came from God were fulfilled, yet the butler forgets. The Lessons of the Lesson.

For the younger pupils the story tells itself and will hold enthralled attention. For old and young there is the lesson of Joseph's serviceableness, he was a "helpful man." Joseph bought up his opportunities and later reaped his reward. Here is the lesson of the forgetfulness of the chief butler. Must we ensure him entirely for his ingratitude? Joseph's gift of leadership, 'twas not the occasion that made the man, but the man made the occasion. The lesson of Joseph's faithfulness in the obscurity.

Making Things Even.

"Well, Ike, my boy," said Sol to his son, "I've made my will and left it all to you."

"That's very good of you, father," remarked Ike, eyeing him suspiciously. "But bless you, it cost a lot of money for the lawyer, and fees and things!"

"Ye-es," said Ike, more suspiciously. "Well, it ain't fair I should pay all dot, is it? So I'll shut take it off your next month's salary."

Joy of Neighborliness.

With the aid of the waves of ether, transmuted or translated into waves of sound for those who have not eyes, or into light for those who have not ears, we may find neighbors where there is greatest need, or where our noblest need is best fulfilled. Mobility, transmissibility, are they not to bring mankind nearer, if not into, the higher kingdom, even as they brought the vegetable to be an animal, to approach, and then to enter its next kingdom?—John H. Finley, in the Atlantic.

APPOINTS RECEIVER

FOR THE STATE TRUST COMPANY
HOPE TO FIND SOMETHING—
ASSETS INVISIBLE.

THE SMITH CHASE WRONG

Alabama Authorities Refuse Extradition, Wishing to Try Banker on Charge of Embezzlement Within Borders of That State.

Raleigh.—Judge Frank Carter named Charles Ross of Lillington as receiver for the States Trust Company, the Wilmington concern that the corporation commissioner charges with conspiracy to defraud in the formation of country banks in many sections of the state. Mr. Ross is already receiver for the Bank of Angier, one of the chain of banks of the State Trust Company was organizing. The petitioners for the receivership are business men who have subscribed to stock in the company. The office in Wilmington has been found to have only an old typewriter, quantities of very pretentious stationery and the poorest lot of office furniture in an obscure back room. The receivership is named in the hope of finding some assets somewhere, rather than to take charge of anything worth while now to exist.

It now develops that North Carolina cannot extradite Ector E. Smith, president of the States Trust Company after all the effort and stir that has been made to this end. A letter came to Governor Craig from the governor of Alabama to the effect that since the order was made a week ago honoring North Carolina's requisition for Smith, it has been found that there is a charge of embezzlement against him in Jefferson county, Ala., and that Smith must be held in Alabama awaiting the action of the Jefferson county court.

The habeas corpus hearing that thwarted North Carolina officers in bringing him back last Monday was set for hearing Monday of next week and Attorney General Bleckett was leaving for Alabama with Solicitor Norris to make the fight for the extradition, but this action in holding up the requisition stops the whole matter indefinitely.

U. D. C. Held District Meeting.
Kinston.—The district meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for the chapters in Morehead City, Washington, Newbern and Kinston was held here, the session being in the Pythians' hall. Delegates from all four lodges were in attendance and nearly the entire membership of the local chapter. The following program was rendered: Prayer by Rev. C. W. Blanchard, pastor of the First Baptist church; address of welcome by Miss Alice Fields; response by Mrs. Lloyd Wooten; leader's address; plous selections by Miss Jessie Wilson; reports of the chapters; solo by Mrs. Dan Quigley.

Academy of Science Convenes.

Greeneboro.—Profound technical papers marked the opening of the twelfth annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science, which convened several days ago in the auditorium at the State Normal College. The delegates, more than 150 in number, were formally welcomed by President Foust, following which President C. S. Brimley of Raleigh delivered his annual address, discussing with a wealth of interesting detail the subject of zoogeography. Another interesting paper at the night session was by Prof. C. W. Edwards, demonstrating a new interference apparatus.

Report Mistrial in Arson Case.

Hendersonville.—Hendersonville parties who attended court in Columbus, Polk county, report a mistrial in the noted arson case, in which 19 persons were charged with burning a new school building in that county nearly two years ago. Nineteen persons were charged with having something to do with the burning of the building.

Many Opposed to Watts.

Statesville.—It was learned here that a document addressed to President Wilson and protesting against the appointment of A. D. Watts, as collector was quietly circulated in Statesville and has been sent to Washington to be used in the fight against Watts. Just how many signatures were placed on the paper could not be learned. There were enough to show, however, that Watts is not so popular among the Democrats of his home community as his supporters would like to make it appear.

Colored Boy Shoots Negro Girl.

Burlington.—In what is known as "Sugar Hill," a colored settlement, Ben Shovers, a colored boy 13 years of age, shot and instantly killed a 11-year-old colored girl, daughter of Will Bain. The shooting occurred at the home of the dead girl. The weapon used was a 22-caliber Winchester rifle, the ball entering the head just under the left eye. The boy ran from the place as soon as the shot was fired, but was soon located by the police and lodged in jail pending an investigation.
