False Pride.
Charles W. Morse began life humbly and hates false pride.
"I'll never forget the wise advice that an old employer of mine once gave to a youth who had a good deal of false pride.
"The youth was complaining about the hard times, his enforced idleness and so forth. My old employer cut him off gruffly with the words:
"Well, George, if you can't obtain a position these days, why don't you look up a job?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

To Protect a State's Wards.
Insurance Commissioner Ekern of Wisconsin has sent a letter to each member of the legislature urging immediate action to protect life and property against the fire hazard in the state charitable and penal institutions. A bureau recommended the installation of sprinkler equipments, especially in the hospitals for the insane at Oshkosh and Mendota.

The commissioner said it was cheaper to make improvements than to pay fire losses and the families and friends of the helpless inmates had a right to ask that their lives be made safe from the dangers of fire.

Germany's Potato Crop.
The potato crop of Germany was one of the largest on record. The official statistics place the figures at 50,200,000 metric tons, as against 34,300,000 metric tons in 1912. Quite a high percentage of the potatoes were diseased and could not be kept over winter, and the crop being large the prices obtained were low.

KILL ENEMY OF BABY

DUTY OF ALL IS TO DO AWAY WITH THE FLY.

As a Disseminator of Disease It is Recognized That This Pest Can in No Way Find an Equal.

(Prepared by the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor.)
No one likes to have a single fly and, much less, a swarm of them buzzing about him, or lighting on his food. But in addition to being a nuisance, the fly is also a real source of danger, owing to the fact that he may carry the germs of disease from the sick to the well. Typhoid fever is known to be distributed in this way, and it is believed that other forms of illness, including diarrhea, are also carried about on the hairy feet and legs of the ordinary house or "typhoid" fly.

On this account, it is especially the baby who needs to be protected from flies. Awake or asleep, he needs it. His milk should be kept out of their reach, and his bed or his sleeping room should be carefully screened against them, if it is not possible to have the whole house and the porch screened.

The flies that get into the house in spite of screens should be trapped, poisoned or swatted, but far more effective than any of these measures is that of destroying the fly larvae before they hatch into full-grown flies.

The favorite breeding place of the common house fly is in horse manure. In a pile of a thousand pounds there may be half a million maggots ready to hatch, unless they are destroyed in the larval stage, as the eggs are called.

Various substances have been suggested for use upon horse manure in order to destroy the fly maggots. Among these are iron sulphate, kerosene, chloride of lime, hellebore and borax. Some of these are too expensive for continued use, and some, such as borax, when used in too large quantities, may be injurious to the crops upon which the manure so treated is used.

The United States department of agriculture has recently recommended powdered hellebore as a cheap, safe and effective substance for the treatment of manure. "One-half pound of powdered hellebore mixed with ten gallons of water is sufficient to kill the larvae in eight bushels, or ten cubic feet of manure. In most places hellebore is obtainable in 100-pound lots at a cost of 11 cents a pound. This makes the cost of the treatment a little less than seven-tenths of a cent per bushel of manure. A liberal estimate of the output of manure is two bushels a day per horse."

After the summer has advanced, the effort must be made to keep each individual home as free from the pest as can be done with screens, fly papers, traps and swatters.

Garbage pails must be kept covered, and no refuse of any sort should be allowed to accumulate about the premises, to provide breeding and feeding places. As in most other things, prevention is far better than cure; the time for preventive measures to be most effective is in April and May, when the fly crop is small.

There are a great many kinds of fly traps on the market. Such traps can be made at home with little trouble, and the department of agriculture, Washington, will send directions upon request not only for traps, but for methods of destroying the eggs before they hatch into flies. (A home-made fly trap for 20 cents, and Bulletin 245.)

Fly Poison.

House flies are more than nuisances; they convey disease and filth wherever they go. So, if there are no screens in the house, try these simple methods for getting rid of them: In the bedroom put a sponge in a saucer and saturate it with oil of lavender. If this is hung two or three feet above the table one may eat in peace throughout the meal. Pots of rose geranium, or the branches bruised and hung up, are also said to be good for flies. A honey pot of death and destruction to them may be made with two ounces of ground black pepper, four ounces of white sugar and half a pint of sweet milk. Cook the things together for a minute or so, and then fill small plates with the mixtures, keeping edibles closely covered. Sweep up the dead flies twice a day and burn them.

Salt Fish Sausage.

Soak one pound of salt cod over night, cook and fry from bones, cut fine and mix with equal amount of mashed potatoes; add pinch of mustard, pepper to taste and one egg well beaten. Mix well and form into large sausage with flour hands; have hot bacon fat in frying pan one inch deep, roll until nicely browned. Heat one can peas in their liquor, drain and fill center of platter, placing sausage around the edge. This makes an appetizing surprise for any man's table, either rich or poor.

Fruit Trifle.

For a quick dessert try beating one-half cupful of cream, until thick, then fold in one pint of canned peaches, which have been drained. Sweeten to taste. Serve very cold. Other fruit may be used.

For the Mattress.

If the wire mattress becomes rusty, try rubbing it with paraffin; then dry thoroughly and give both sides a coat of black lacquer.
