Sticking to His Prediction.
Two workmen met in the street and stopped to chat about their friends.
"Casey seems to be doing well where he is," remarked one presently.
"He'll not stop long at that job," replied the other with a gloomy shake of the head.
"Why not? He seems to be quite comfortably placed."
"But he'll not stay there a month. I say it, and I've said it ever since he got that job eighteen months ago."

HOMEMADE LAMPS FOR THE PUSHMOBILE.

There should be two headlights and two sidelights (Fig. 1); also a tail-light.
The headlight shown in Fig. 2 is made from a syrup can, the kind having a flanged cover that fits inside of the rim. The bottom will be the front of the lamp; therefore it must have all but a rim of the tin removed (A. Fig. 3). Cut the tin with a can opener.
If you can find an old alarm clock of the right size, the glass from it will be just the thing for the front of the lamp. Use a measurement that will make the glass fit fairly snug in the end of the can. To get the glass inside of the can, it is necessary to remove the rim on the top, which can be done by holding the can over a flame for a few seconds, and then knocking off the rim (B. Fig. 3). When the glass has been slipped into the can, replace rim B. Cover C, fitting inside of rim B, will be left removable for the purpose of lighting the lamp. Fasten the glass close against the front of the can by means of short nails driven through holes punched through the side of the can, just inside of the glass (Fig. 2).

With a can opener cut a hole a trifle smaller than a candle through the side of the can (D, Figs. 2 and 3) for the candle to stick through, and another directly opposite it (E) for a chimney.

Cut a bracket block with its upper edge curved to fit the can (F, Fig. 4), nail the can to the curved edge, and then nail the block to the side of the pushmobile (Fig. 1).

The lamp shown in Fig. 5 is made out of a pint or half-pint varnish can. Remove the bottom, and cut away all but a narrow rim of one side for the glass front (Fig. 6). Cut a piece of glass to slip in back of the opening.

and fasten it in place by means of two pieces of wire run around it and the outside of the can as shown at A (Fig. 6).
Cut the block (Fig. 7) enough smaller than the can so the can will set down over it, bore a hole through its center, and nail to a block a trifle larger (C, Fig. 7). The candle sets in the hole in block B. The can sets down over block B on to block C, and is pinned to B by two short nails D slipped through holes made in opposite sides of the can and block B (Figs. 6 and 7).

GARDEN HANDICRAFT.

Probably every one of you girls has had experience in growing vines, but I wonder if any of you have used the simple method shown in Fig. 1 for putting up the strings. Place the stakes from three to four feet apart, instead of using one for each vine, then drive a double-pointed tack (Fig. 2), or nail, into the top of each, connect the tacks or nails with wire or heavy cord, and tie the strings to it at the required distances apart. These strings will fasten to a row of nails overhead, possibly in the top of a fence (Fig. 1). You will need no ladder once the nails have been put up, if you use the unique scheme shown in Fig. 1 for attaching the strings. Screw a screw-eye into the end of a stick, thread the screw-eye with the twine just as you would thread a needle, then use the stick to hook the string over the nails.

As the diagram must show the construction of the framework, it is impossible to give you a good idea of what a beautiful bower the barrel-hoop rack shown in Fig. 3 becomes when thickly covered with vines.

The diagram shows the use of six hoops, but if you cannot get this many, the three bottom hoops may be omitted and stakes driven into the ground to tie the lower ends of the strings to. Fig. 4 shows how each set of hoops should be arranged, and how each hoop should be bound with cord to the adjoining two. When the hoops have been connected, it is only necessary to get a clothespole for a support, to complete the rack. Drive a nail into the upper end of the pole, and connect the nail and each hoop with strong cord; then place ground, with the center over a hole made for the end of the pole support, and set the support in this hole. Fig. 3 shows how the strings connect the upper and lower set of hoops, and how they are spaced. You can tie the strings to the upper hoops before the pole is set in position, if you like. When the rack has been put up, plant your vines at its base, so there will be one for each string.

A box with a board nailed across it, as shown in Fig. 5, makes a splendid the other set of hoops upon the weeding stool and weed receptacle. And two boxes like it, one enough smaller so when stood on end (Fig. 6) it will fit inside of the other box, between the end and the seat board (Fig. 7), will make a handy set of garden steps.

UNDER SHELTERING FOLDS

Aged Darky Felt Secure, Even in Haiti, With the Stars and Stripes at Hand.

During one of the revolutions in Haiti a party of Americans made a riding tour of the mountains. One morning a member of the party suddenly drew rein and pointed to a lone ridge where an old, tattered Stars and Stripes fluttered on a bamboo pole.

"We must pay our respects," someone said.
After some search they found a path that zigzagged up to the wild place. They followed it, and at last discovered an aged negro sitting before his wretched hut smoking his pipe, while he kept an eye on the flag.

"What's the flag for?" someone asked.
"Perfection," said the old man, quietly. "I heah dey done begin anudder resolution, so I put it up. Yes, suh, I come heah twenty-two years ago, an has dat flag wid me. I'm George, cook on a steamer outer Savannah.
"Like de place? Yes, sah. Plant yam an' coffee an' cassava. Resolutions don't trouble dis nigger. Ebery time dey resolute yander up goes de flag, an' dat's all dere's to it."

How to get the most from a pound of coffee

First, get a coffee that has been thoroughly aged when green. Proper aging changes the raw, strong taste of the bean to a mellow, rich flavor.
Next, it must be roasted by experts under perfect conditions. Skillful roasting brings out the full delicacy of the natural flavor. Unskillful roasting spoils the flavor and causes a heavy and wasteful loss in weight.
Finally, coffee must be packed in a way that will keep it fresh, and protect it from outside odors and from moisture.
In Arbuckles' Coffee you get all these advantages. You get a coffee thoroughly aged when green, skillfully and uniformly roasted; then guarded from moisture and odors in special, sanitary, sealed packages.
If you haven't used Arbuckles' Coffee lately, do so now. See what big value you get—how the delicious flavor will please and satisfy. Get a package today.
