

STRIKE HARD BLOW IN YPRES SECTION

ALLIED LINE IS STILL INTACT— ENEMY'S LOSSES MOUNTING HIGHER.

LINES ARE VERY STRONG

Germany Has Presented Virtual Ultimatum to Russia, Threatening to Take Petrograd.

Germany's armies are hurling themselves against a granite wall on three sides of the ruined city of Ypres. After fighting of the most terrific nature, the British and French lines are still intact and the enemy has lost terribly in his repeated assaults against the lines where the allies stand at bay.

The objective of the fighting that now is going on is the capture of Ypres, where since 1914 the British have held their positions. Two years ago the allied lines were carried forward and the salient in front of the city was wiped out, but from these positions the British retired a week ago to the trenches where they stood during the terrific fighting in the spring of 1915, when they stopped the Germans in their first drive for the channel ports.

The present battle opened with a bombardment of the British and French lines from Meteren and Voormezele, a distance of 12 miles. They came reports of a spread of the fighting around the curve in the line in front of Ypres until the Belgian armies, north of the city were involved. Field Marshal Haig's official report, anxiously awaited, brought the news that the utmost efforts of the Germans had been fruitless all along the line. The field marshal's statement said that the Teutons had paid a great price and had gained virtually nothing.

The battle still continues along the front, but there is little indication that an immediate withdrawal from Ypres is contemplated by the allies, at least until they have exacted from the enemy a great sacrifice of human lives.

The only point at which the Germans made any gains was on the hilly sector of the front back of Kemmel hill, where the French are standing. At some points the enemy was able to occupy portions of the line, but from the greater part of these they were driven out by the French who re-established their defenses.

Frontal attacks on Ypres would seem to indicate that there is little confidence in the German general staff that the Ypres positions can be outflanked from the south. The lines as they stand today are very strong and withstood the onset of the Germans in 1914 when the Teuton emperor's army was a much different machine than it is today.

Repulse Means Much.

The bloody repulse of the Germans in their great plunge forward will mean much in further operations in that sector of the battle line.

While the struggle was going on before Ypres, the British positions from Lallasse to Houtholst wood, and from Lens to Viny were deluged with shells, but so far there has been no infantry fighting reported from that part of the front. An attack on this salient in the German lines is expected soon, however, for it stands as a constant menace to a further advance by the enemy.

Along the front in the Somme sector, part of which is being held by Americans, there has been little fighting of note. Further south there have been only patrol encounters.

Germany has presented a virtual ultimatum to Russia, demanding that able-bodied German prisoners of war be sent home at once, proposing, in return that only sick and incapacitated Russians held in German prison camps shall be turned over in exchange. If the Russian government does not bow to the demand, Germany has threatened to take Petrograd. A committee of 115 Germans has been appointed to go to the Russian capital to present the demand.

AMERICANS IN THICK OF IT

TIDE OF BATTLE SURGES TO AND FRO WITH DECISION STILL IN THE BALANCE.

Report Says From Four to Six German Divisions Have Been Hurlled at Ypres Salient.

The great double German drive, in the Somme and Armentieres sectors, has developed into a terrific struggle. The tide of battle has surged to and fro during the last two days, with the decision still in the balance. The British, having been forced back out of Villers-Bretonneux, launched a counter-attack and swept the Germans back almost to the lines which were held before the present fighting began. The French have been driven back out of Hangard-En-Santerre, but are holding their positions close by, while on the line southwest of Ypres, the British have been compelled to withdraw slightly before furious attacks along the Meteren-Bailleur-Wytschaete line.

Wounded Americans are arriving at a hospital behind the French lines in the Somme sector, showing that General Pershing's men are bearing their share of the burden of the great battle.

Notwithstanding the frantic preparations made by the Germans for a continuance of their drive toward Amiens, and the extreme violence of the fighting, their guns thus far in that region have been very small. Along the line from Albert south to Castel, except at Hangard-En-Santerre, the German assaults have been hurled back by the allied forces, which are strongly posted on the higher ground to which they retired during the last days of the German drive in Picardy.

Germans in Desperate Effort.

It is unofficially reported that four to six German divisions, or from 48,000 to 72,000 men, have been hurled at the British in this sector, must have been small, for there are no great gains reported by Berlin so far. It was rumored Thursday that Munt Kemmel, a dominating height north of Wulverghem, had been taken by the enemy, but this has not been confirmed.

That only slight gains have been made anywhere along the two fronts have been subjected to attack is proof that the allies are prepared to defend their positions. In the last three weeks, the Germans have hurried up heavy cannon to the old Somme battle ground and have marched many fresh divisions to the points where they have been held for the moment of attack.

WOUNDED AMERICAN SOLDIERS ARRIVING AT HOSPITALS

Paris—American soldiers wounded in the great battle which now is being waged are already arriving at the rear. American wounded and sick to the number of 128 have reached hospital No. 25. They are from units engaged in fighting side by side with French and British in stemming the German advance.

Hospital No. 25 is one of the new institutions established behind the line as it stood after the allies stopped the recent German drive in Picardy. Few of the Americans remained at the hospital very long, being taken farther to the rear.

CHINA IS TAKEN OVER BY JAPAN?

HAS AGREED TO HARD DEMANDS FROM TOKIO SAYS EDITOR. FEELING HIGH.

TROOPS HAVE JAP OFFICERS

Shanghai Paper Says Country Has Been Turned Over to the Japanese.

Shanghai.—The statement is made in the first issue of The Shanghai Gazette, which has made its appearance under the editorship of Eugene Chen, that the Chinese government has agreed to new demands made by Japan which are of such a nature that the country has virtually been turned over to the Japanese. The Gazette asserts it has been informed by a high official at Peking that the Japanese demands are far more serious than those in Group V, of the famous 21 demands made by Japan in 1915.

"Notwithstanding the fact that the utmost secrecy is being observed," says The Gazette, "it may be stated safely that the following is not far from the true terms of the agreement: 'Chinese expeditionary forces sent to Siberia shall be commanded by a Japanese.'

"Chinese police shall be organized by Japanese officers.

"Japan shall control all of China's arsenals and dockyards.

"Japan shall have the privilege of working mines in all parts of China. 'Special privileges shall be granted to Japan in outer and inner Mongolia and the whole of Manchuria.

A dispatch filed in Peking April 4 said it was reported there that Japan had submitted a new series of demands to China, including complete control of China's finances, the purchase of 50 per cent of China's armament in Japan, operation of Chinese iron mines and dockyards under Japanese control and recognition of special Japanese interests in Mongolia, as in Manchuria.

RAILROAD HEAD ARRESTED UNDER ESPIONAGE ACT

New Orleans, William Edenborn, president of the Louisiana Railway & Navigation Co. and reputed many times a millionaire, was arrested by department of justice officials at Shreveport, La., near here, on an official affidavit charging violation of Section 3 of the espionage act. Edenborn was taken into custody as he stepped from an L. R. & N. train, and taken to place the location of which the authorities refused to divulge.

Assistant District Attorney Nicholas Callan announced that Edenborn's arrest was independent of action taken at a meeting of the Louisiana division of the National Security League when a resolution was adopted, calling for federal prosecution of the capitalist seditious. Beyond this statement the federal authorities declined to comment on the arrest. Newspaper men were warned against making efforts to discover where Edenborn was being kept.

Edenborn, founder of the American Steel & Wire Co., a part of the United States Steel Corporation, has been referred to as "father of the wire industry in America" having erected mills and produced wire in 1870, three years after he came to the United States from his birthplace, Westphalia, Prussia. He came to Louisiana in 1903, where he has been known as a railroad builder and operator. He is 70 years old.

NO RETIREMENTS BY ALLIES MAKE GAINS OF ABOUT ONE MILE IN VILLERS-BRETONNEUX SECTION.

Heavy Fighting All Along British Front South of Somme and North of Ypres.

After three weeks of preparation in the Somme, during which time they launched an offensive in Flanders, the Germans have resumed their hammering at the front door of Amiens. For days there has been heavy artillery firing along the northern sectors of the Somme salient and finally the German infantry began their attempts to advance on the line passing Villers-Bretonneux, Hangard's Haillies and Castel. The first attacks were repulsed, but subsequent attacks, centered about Villers-Bretonneux, have caused a British withdrawal from this village, according to a report from Field Marshal Haig. This marks a German gain of about a mile.

Villers-Bretonneux is about 11 miles directly east of Amiens and is on the northern end of the latest "fighting front." It is situated between the Somme and Luce rivers, and, while it is flanked on the south by low lying ground, it is backed by rolling hills to the west and northwest.

The fighting on the rest of the front, where the Germans have resumed their drive toward the allied base of supplies in northern France, has not, so far as known resulted in any notable retirements on the part of the allies. The German official report issued on Wednesday was silent as to events in this sector of the front.

An attack on this particular part of the line in the Somme region had been expected, and it is probable that preparations to meet it had been made. The British lines held firm in this region during the last days of the initial drive, while the Germans were able to forge ahead further south until they reached the village of Castel, about three miles from the railroad running to Paris from Amiens. Recently a French counter-offensive at Castel won back considerable ground and it was evident that unless the line further north could be advanced materially the German had little chance to make important gains in their operations to the south of Amiens.

This new drive has been made at the same time that another blow has been struck at the British and French lines northwest of Ypres. Savage fighting is reported at various points along the line from Bailleur to Merville and Berlin claims that heights to the northeast of Bailleur have been stormed. Coincident with these attacks there have been assaults in the British forces near Bethune, along the Lave river, but these have been repulsed.

GOVERNMENT OPPOSED TO DEFERRED PAYMENTS

Washington.—The government's opposition to the proposed plan of providing for deferred installment payments of income and excess profits tax was expressed in statements by Secretary McAdoo and Representative Kitchin, chairman of the house ways and means committee. ### THRILLING STORIES TOLD OF RAID ON U-BOAT BASES

Dover, England.—Crews of the ships which took part in the raid on Zebrugge have many thrilling stories of their adventures. One of them has described how, despite the fact that the Germans discovered their presence while they were still outside the harbor, they made their way in through heavy gun fire, the vindictive reaching the wharf where she remained for an hour and a half.

KEMMEE HILL TAKEN IN HARD STRUGGLE

IMPORTANT POINT CONSIDERED KEY TO SOUTHERN SIDE OF YPRES SALIENT.

ATTACK TO RECAPTURE IT

Germans Have Made Important Gains at Other Points Along the Battle Line.

Kemmel hill, a height which has been looked upon as the key to the southern side of the Ypres salient and one of the most important strategic positions on the northern battle front in France, has been taken by the Germans, after a defense which will become of the heroic chapters of the war. The hill was surrounded and the French forces entrenched on its slopes were overcome.

The loss of the hill, which is admitted in an official statement by General Delma Radcliffe, chief director of military operations at the British war office brings to the allies a realization that the whole Ypres position is in peril from the German drive northward from the lowlands lying to the west of Armentieres.

The Teutons launched terrific attacks along the whole Wytschaete-Bailleur-Meteren line, apparently for the purpose of finding a point which might yield. They evidently found that spot in the section of front held jointly by the British and French troops; and against it they hurled fresh divisions which fought their way forward all day until at nightfall they had surrounded Kemmel hill and isolated the French troops holding the position.

The loss of Kemmel hill is serious for it overlooks much of the lowlands lying back of the allied lines in the Ypres salient. The hill is 464 feet in height, rising from lowlands on the south and east. It is six miles southwest of Ypres and three miles west of Wytschaete. This German success cuts a deep notch in the allied line to the southwest of Ypres and completely outflanks the British on the northern slopes of Messines ridge, to which they were forced two weeks ago. The line to the southwest, toward Bailleur, apparently is in no particular danger at present, although the village of Dranoutre has been lost to the enemy.

GERMANY'S LOSSES IN WAR 2,000,000 MEN

Sick and wounded men to the number of 750,000 had been able to return to the front, according to General Schulze, while 629,000 had been discharged as unfit for service, including 70,000 cripples. Up to date, the general added, Germany had to reckon with about 98,000 cripples.

FRENCH RETAKE GROUND IN COUNTER-ATTACKS

Paris.—Counter-attacks against the German lines from Villers-Bretonneux to south of the Luce are launched by our troops, who succeeded, despite the fierce resistance of the enemy, who had brought up important forces, in retaking a large part of the ground which had been lost in that region, says the official statement issued by the war office.

GERMANS IN POSSESSION OF DRANOUTRE, SAYS HAIG

London.—The Germans have captured Kemmel mountain and village and are also in possession of Dranoutre, according to the official communication sent by Field Marshal Haig from headquarters in France. # CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

And Pains in Sides Relieved, by Use of Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, Says Texas Lady.

Kemp, Texas.—Mrs. Minnie Cheek of this town writes "I suffered with pains in my sides . . . and couldn't stand on my feet, at times. Couldn't do my work, only what had to be done. I had a physician and he gave me medicine, tho' it didn't do me any good, and he advised an operation. I had read in the Ladies' Birthday Almanac of Cardui, so I decided to try it. When I had taken one bottle, I felt the change for better. I took 9 or 10 bottles and have been well ever since.

I recommend Cardui to all suffering women. When my husband told Dr. —, our family physician, I was taking Cardui, he said it was a good tonic for me. I will never cease praising it. It built up my system and strengthened me more than anything I ever done."

Cardui is a purely vegetable tonic medicine, composed of ingredients which have been recognized by medical writers for many years, as of value in the treatment of ailments peculiar to women, and thousands of voluntary letters similar to the above are received every year, from women users of Cardui, who have actually proven this to be true.

If you are weak and run-down from womanly troubles, try Cardui, the woman's tonic. All druggists.—Adv.

An Unfortunate Guy.

Maj. Frederick Palmer, press censor and novelist, said at a dinner: "I am astonished at the high prices which prevail here in America. In England and France the high prices are understandable. They are caused by the submarine. Here their chief cause seems to be the profiteer.

"I was lunching with a friend of mine the other day when his wife laid before him the bills for the week's marketing. He looked the bills over with a wry face. Then he said: 'Why do they call a guy like me a consumer, Palmer? All I do is produce.'"

OUR BOYS "OVER THERE" ENJOY TOASTED CIGARETTES.

Through the patriotism of the citizens of this country thousands of smoke kits are being distributed to American soldiers in France. Authorities agree that men in the trenches need cigarettes almost as much as food and munitions.

Doctors, nurses, and commanding officers all join in the demand which has awakened in this country a great movement to keep our boys supplied with smokes.

Millions of the famous LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes are "going over" all the time. There's something about the idea of the toasted cigarette that appeals to the men who spend their time in cold, wet trenches and billets.

Then, too, the real Kentucky Burley tobacco of the LUCKY STRIKE cigarette gives them the solid satisfaction of a pipe, with a lot less trouble. Adv.

It Isn't Done.

Fogg—I think that Brown is about as indulgent a husband as there is going. He went home last evening and found his wife hugging and kissing a bald-headed fellow, and didn't make a bit of fuss about it.

Mrs. Fogg—Then all I've got to say is the more fool he. Why didn't he kick the old rascal downstairs?

Fogg—Oh, he wasn't so very old; quite young, on the contrary. And, besides, what would you think of a father who kicked his first and only baby downstairs?
