DAY, DECEMBER 27 - 1918

For one day this week we revert to our regular issue. The war is over and every issue of the Enterprise is yours and that is the best of it. May every year be filled with abundant success for every one of our readers.

More Christmas has rolled which in many ways has been a pleasant one. The soberness of our people, few drunks and accidents.

Sunday schools and churches will be open Sunday, 29th.

The Williamston schools will be open Monday, Jan. 6th, unless other announcement is made.

There will be services at the Episcopal church at the regular time.

 Atlantic Coast Realty Co.,

 My dear Sirs:
 I wish to say that the sale you made for us on Oct. 21st was certainly a nice one, and especially when we remember everything that was against us. Some of your Mr. Pugh (Perrells and Merton) were taking care of the "flu" and about every one around Washington was doing the same thing and it was raining. But those fellows backed that small crowd under a cow-shelter, got out in the rain to be in front of them, and sold them 122 acres of cleared land and 147 acres of wood land for $46,900, and sold to responsible people and evidently patriotic ones, judging from the amount of Liberty Bonds I have seen them handle since the sale.
 Mr. J. L. Wynn, my partner in the deal, joins me in thanking you for making us a handsome profit, and begs to remain, with best wishes,
 Yours very truly,
 Geo. W. Williams, Jr.
 We have other endorsement letters that emphatically express the satisfaction of our customers. Write for copies of these and booklet explaining our methods.

 Come in and see our new cars they are all gone. The soldier boys will soon be here again and there is nothing we can do that is to help for our boys. They are needed shot and shell and endure the tortures of Hades. Now, how much can we do for them? Remember them with open arms, open purses, in fact, open the door to any avenue of pleasure and contentment and throw the keys away. LOIS PHONOGRAPHS will surprise you for perfect reproduction and they play any record. The reasonable price will also surprise you.
