

A Comparison of the United States In 1822 With Present

A comparison of the conditions under which the United States entered the year 1822 with those of the corresponding year of the preceding century gave us renewed confidence, says the latest record of the National City Bank of New York, in the industrial and commercial future of our country. The population, which in 1822 was less than 1,000,000 is now 107,000,000 or more than ten times that of a century ago, while the population of the world as a whole has increased but about 100 per cent. Our information is more given in the present than in the past. In 1822, as much as that of a century ago, saving grew from $109,000,000 in 1821 to nearly a billion $7,000,000,000 in 1921, while the national commerce of the world in 1921 may possibly be of a century ago when it stood at $1,650,000,000.

The growth with us has been largely due to increased facilities of transportation. In 1821 our great Mississippi Valley with its wonderful producing possibilities had but about 2,000,000 people and their only method of sending their products to market was by means of the great lakes, for even the Erie Canal was not yet finished. That late and steam railroads were not in existence when then a thing to be thought of in any part of the world. Of the 150,000 miles of railway owned in all the world since 1821, over one-third was constructed in the United States, chiefly to connect the great rivers with the ocean frontages, the so-called "middle west" which then had 2,000,000 and has now 50,000,000 and is not only the world's largest producer of grain and meat but is leading out over one-third of the manufactured goods of the world. In 1820 are estimated by statistics at 24,200,000,000, while our records of 1921 puts the value of those of the United States alone at $2,000,000,000, or 100 times as much in the "mean" year just ended as in the corresponding year of the preceding century. With this increase in industrial and commercial business activity has come a corresponding advance in the financial requirements of the country, and the total "money in circulation" which was officially reported at $67,100,000 in 1821 is officially stated as $3,600,000,000 on December 31, 1921. Meanwhile the centers of industry and business have grown amazingly, the population of New York having increased from 150,000 in 1822 to over 6,000,000 in 1922. Philadelphia from 108,000 to nearly 2,000,000, and Chicago from "a hamlet of log houses inhabited by less than 100 people" in 1820 to approximately 3,000,000 in 1922.

Not all of this growth in the industries and prosperity of the country has come from a mere increase in population, for our area has doubled meantime, the total area of the United States having grown from 1,792,000 square miles in 1821 to 3,620,000 square miles including Alaska, at the present time. Our additions of territory since 1822 consist of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and the entire Pacific frontage, and this includes enormous additions to the agricultural and mineral wealth of the country.

Thus the year 1922 finds the United States the world's chief agricultural, manufacturing commercial and financial nation. The possibilities of a further expansion in all these lines are found in the fact that with our population exclusive of Alaska, is still

BOOTLEGGERS HAVE TO PAY FOR OWN UNDOING

Raleigh, Jan. 10.—Reading a dispatch from Smithfield a few days ago to the effect that Judge Brooks, of the Johnston county court, had "established a fund which will be used to help defray expenses in apprehending blockaders and bootleggers," we were impressed with the practicability of the scheme he has set on foot, and therefore feel hopeful that it will yield more actual results toward suppressing the manufacture and sale of whiskey than any plan that has yet been adopted. The account states that Judge Brooks will give in convicted men the alternative of paying these items in the costs ($2 to $40 in each conviction) or having thirty to sixty days added to their sentence on the roads. By including this in the bill of costs, the money will not be counted as a fine, which would under the statute go into the school fund. By providing an alternative of fine addition to the road sentence, Judge Brooks does not force the defendants to pay this cost. The plan suggested itself to Judge Brooks when he attended a meeting of the county commissioners and found a bill of $100 for one month that had been paid to deputies for enforcement of the prohibition law. Judge Brooks thinks the blockaders should help pay the freight and will in the future make their help in their own undoing.

It is hoped that other counties will adopt a similar plan, and they will if the county officers are in earnest and wish to enforce the law against the sale and manufacture of the stuff that is doing more harm and causing more suffering and crime than any other evil in the world. Send the distillers to jail and the roads, and the persistent cases where the distillers or bootleggers are pulled more than once and better results will follow.

It is eminently proper that these violators of the law (exacting such enormous prices for the poison anti-nerve-poison) should be made to pay the expense of employing an increased number of deputies to hunt them down, and Judge Brooks is to be congratulated for pioneering the way to the most effective and practical yet evolved (if enforced) to reach and punish this class of criminals.

GOOD REASON FOR CO-OP MARKETING

For those who doubt the good of cooperative marketing we are giving an incident just as it occurred in our own county of Martin recently. A farmer and his share cropper arranged to turn over their whole crop of peanuts to the exchange under the contract of the land owner. This was done less than thirty bags which could not be gotten in the car. Returns were promptly made and an advance of 1-2 was allowed which was 2 cents per pound. In the meantime the grower of the peanuts having no chance to get them in the open market went to the man who acted as the association agent in weighing and grading his other peas and whose weights and grades were entirely acceptable to the association.

Now he faces the farmer as an independent buyer and he proceeds to grade them at the 2 1-2 cent price and dock them four pounds to the bag in weight. So the farmer gets 2 1-2 cents per pound for peanuts sold to the association and there is hardly any doubt that he will realize another 2 cents later on. In fact they get even more than 2 cents later on. It is a good chance that the farmer will. Farmers, now is the day to take your head out of the lion's mouth.

NOTICE TO BROTHER FARMERS

I received a card from one of our tobacco warehousemen a few days ago in which he stated that his warehouse would open for the sale of tobacco Sept. 6th, 1922.

When, in the history of tobacco markets, did warehousemen advertise a year ahead? And when, before seeds were sown, did warehousemen advertise their opening dates?

The same warehouseman emphasized his great interest and love for the farmer but it does not fail to try to knock him down when he attempts to take care of himself. Of course every farmer knows the desire of such warehousemen is to hang around and do nothing about eight months in the year when the farmer is facing the bleak wind and the scorching sun and spending sleepless nights and fleeing his home and make more out of the warehouse business in a few months than all the farmers in a whole neighborhood make in a year.

The farmer certainly owes the warehouseman nothing for he will pay him as he goes.

Farmers let us get together and do business in a business away from other classes of people. Let us of us sign for both cotton and tobacco. Cooperative marketing has made those sections that have tried it prosperous and it will do the same thing here.

STOCK LAW IS NOW EFFECTIVE IN MARTIN

The stock law is now in full force. We have had many inquiries on this question, there having been reported that the time had been extended. Some believe that the Legislature extended the time and some that the Board of County Commissioners extended it. The Legislature did not extend the time and the Board of Commissioners have not the power. Stock of any kind, deliberately turned out may be taken up by anyone and held subject to redemption by the owner.

We are giving this information in answer to the many inquiries received by us.

GRIFTON POLICEMAN IS KNOCKED IN HEAD

Greenville, Jan. 8.—While attempting to arrest a negro named Rouse, who is wanted in Kinston on a charge of cutting a woman's throat, Chief of Police D. M. Seymour, of Grifton, was struck twice on the head with the butt of a pistol in the hands of Rouse. Chief Seymour was knocked unconscious, but the extent of his injuries has not been determined.

Chief Seymour saw Rouse and an unknown negro on the street together and attempted to make the arrest. While he was placing Rouse in custody the unknown negro pointed the gun in the chief's face and then handed the weapon to Rouse, who struck Mr. Seymour on the head. Both negroes made their escape.

Chief of Police Jones, of Greenville, and Sheriff Dudley, went to Grifton and on their return stated they were unable to find any trace of the two negroes.

USE SLEDGE HAMMER TO BREAK OPEN SAFE

Greenville, Jan. 8.—Yeggman last night or early this morning entered the store of J. B. Tucker and Bro. at Simpson, eight miles from Greenville, opened a big safe with the aid of a sledge hammer and a crowbar and took $350 in money, several checks and a small amount of merchandise.

The robbery was discovered this morning at eight o'clock and policemen and county officers immediately started an investigation. The only clues found were the tools used in breaking open the safe, which were stolen from a railroad section house nearby. A small amount of goods, including a few raincoats and shoes was located near the depot.

The robbers opened the safe in an unusual manner. They laid the big safe flat on the floor, door up. They blattered in the door with the sledge hammer and then prized it open with the crowbar.
