Andrews Maintains Air Of Stolid Indifference

Bonnie Andrews, a young white man of this county, who will face trial for life in criminal court here tomorrow afternoon for alleged abduction and criminal assault of Estelle Briley, 12 year old school girl of the Stokes section, maintained almost stolid indifference to his fate in his cell at the county jail here today. In fact, it is apparent the young fellow is just beginning to realize the seriousness of the crime he is charged with committing and will face the court tomorrow afternoon unprepared for the great ordeal before him.

Nitrate of Soda For Farmers

The following is a letter received by the Enterprise and there was a like copy sent to the chairman of any agricultural society that there might be in this county, from the Hon. H. S. Ward. As we have no such Society in this county and at present no farm demonstration agent, the only way to get any of this nitrate of soda would be to get a group of men to sign up for the required amount at a price they would be willing to pay and make a bid.

PEOPLE FED UP ON FALSE PROPAGANDA

The most damaging thing to Democracy today is false propaganda. Last week the papers of the country were filled with glaring headlines, "Railroad Strike." Everything that would tend to frighten the public was published. Stocks went down, tobacco slumped and other calamities came to our people. Practically every thinking man in America knew there would be no strike. Who is responsible for so much false propaganda? Is it possible that it is some force working to try to create a good market for speculate on? Or was it for the purpose of trying to create hatred between "the folks and the people?" You had no trouble in hearing from every corner trashy remarks against unions, and laborers. Everything said seemed to be for the purpose of creating a bitterness of feeling. You could nowhere find a railroad employee who wanted to strike. This applied to all classes of railroad workmen so far as we know in this section of the country.

Another line of false propaganda that is always being put before the people is the old imaginary trouble between the United States and Japan. The only yeword interested in keeping this idea before the public are the makers of warships, armor plate, cannon, powder and munitions of war.

BIG DAY IN WASHINGTON NOVEMBER 11TH

Everything is progressing just fine for the Armistice Day celebration in Washington on November 11th. The different committees are busy on their job and it looks like it is going to be the biggest send off in the history of Beaufort county. Thousands of visitors are expected to be here and the committee is determined that he exercises will not be disappointing. Don't forget the fact the Woman's Auxiliary of the Legion is very anxious to give the ex-service men and he old Confederate soldiers a dinner they will long remember. Old Beaufort county barbecue will be the stellar eats. The ladies are asking of the citizens that they contribute toward this barbecue dinner. Several citizens have already generously contributed a pig for this dinner and it is to be hoped that others will follow. Those who will give a pig for this worthy cause can not be Miss Lida T. Rodman, Mrs. J. H. Moore and Mrs. W. P. Haughton. The committees of arrangements yesterday completed the program for the day which is as follows: 9:30 a. m. Exercises at court house lawn. Wrestling match and band concert. 10. Registration of all ex-service men at American Legion Home. 11. Parade formed. 11:30. Exercises at New Theatre. 2 p. m. Dinner served at Legion Home to ex-service men. 3 p. m. Relay race, starts in front of City Hall. 2:30 Exercises at Flemin Field—Boys Scouts and Fire Fighting demonstrations. 3:15. Football game, Washington vs. Kingston. 5 p. m. Volley ball game, American Legion vs. Washington "All-Star." 8. Street dance and band concert—Market street between Main and Second.

Haste Necessary to Make Up For Shortage of Cover Crops

Examine Yourself For Tuberculosis

One bright, sunny morning a few years ago a young man was sitting on a cracker box in front of the only pharmacy in his town, "chewing the rag," with several of the town's leading citizens, when he idly picked up a bulletin on Tuberculosis issued by the State Board of Health, which was captioned around a this feet in response to the whim of the wind. The young man was not ill; at least he did not appear to be. The night occasional cough he had always attributed to too much cigarette smoking, and the lethargy which possessed him was credited to the climate. Folk called him lazy and he had about made up his mind that they had diagnosed his condition correctly. Turning the pages of the bulletin, he found this question staring him in the face: "Do you tire easily?" Yes, certainly he did; that was just his trouble. He was always tired, not lazy. Seeking to justify his tiredness, he read further and was amazed to find that "an unwonted sense of tiredness" was likely to be a disease, and a very serious disease if not cured. As he read on and saw mention of "hoarseness" and "absence of a keen appetite" he began to believe they were writing about him and settled down in real earnestness to ascertain if his name were written there. Sure enough, there it was as plain as day. Every time he saw "weariness" he became more tired. He jumped on the scales and found he had lost six pounds in the last two weeks. The dinner bell rang and he did not make a mad dash for the table. When he came to "blood spitting" and "persistent pain in chest" his hope revived somewhat, for surely he had never "spit any blood or had any pain in the chest, or anywhere else for that matter. He was, however, sufficiently interested to follow the most valuable advice given in the whole bulletin, which said: "If you have any of the above symptoms, do not delay but consult a reliable physician at once. It may mean saving your life." He saw the physician, told him all his troubles, trials, symptoms, the history of his life and his ancestors for three generations, was stripped to the waist, pounded, thumped, made to whisper, whistle and sing. At the end of approximately two hours of such methods, the reliable physician pronounced sentence. He said: "My son, you have bugs." The young man not knowing whether he meant under the hat or under the shirt, or both, requested him to phone for the undertaker to come at once and measure, for he had never known any one to survive such a diagnosis for long. The doctor, however, would not listen. He told wonderful tales of a place located in the sandhills of North Carolina, where the weary could be made energetic, the weak made strong and the "bugs" put to death. This was a reliable physician and what's the use of having a reliable physician unless one follows his advice? So the young man journeyed to the State Sanatorium and there commenced his fight. One would think fighting tuberculosis in a sanatorium was a wear-dreary, sort of occupation; but it was not. True, there were "blue days," but they are found in any climate under the sun and the happy days far outnumbered the blue ones. It was no quick job fighting back to health. But though slow it was sure and today that young man is well back to work and earning more than he ever did before he had tuberculosis. It is useless to die of tuberculosis; it is foolish. You have no right to do it. You owe it to yourself and to your family to live and be well, and you can do it. Check up on your condition at regular intervals and if you have any of the symptoms described in this article, consult your reliable physician or write the Bureau of Tuberculosis, Sanatorium, N. C., for an engagement to reexamination.

Now that we have had rain farmers should make haste to get cover crops planted, especially clovers and vetches. Inoculation and lime are necessary to success with these crops. Many thousands of dollars have been lost in this county on account of failure to inoculate and lime legumes. We would advise those who have inquired about planting pastures that it is best to plant as soon as the proper preparations can be made. As to preparation it is not advisable to plant deeply at this season of the year as the young plants will not have time enough to reach deeply and get firmly rooted in the solid under-soil, hence the necessity of shallow preparation in the late fall. Oats, wheat and rye may be planted with some certainty of success all through November, these, too, are safer planted on a shallow but well prepared seed bed at this season of the year. We are writing this on account of the many inquiries had during the last few weeks, and a few days given to these crops now will greatly reduce the liability of being without hay and grazing for the stock next spring. Apples are probably one of the safest varieties to plant. Oats, Red May Wheat, Hairy Vetch and Crimson clover is almost a sure hay mixture for spring cutting. Plant these crops for hay and a permanent pasture for summer grazing. A few good hogs, a cow and poultry for eggs and chickens for table use with meat, milk and butter for the family are the results of a little work of the right kind and at the right time. Only a few days remain in which this can be done or we will have to make up our minds to do it next year. "Money Saved is Money Made." Many thousands of dollars may be saved on fertilizers by using lime and legumes on the land in winter. There is only two pennies difference between the man who is a success and the man who is a failure. One saves a penny and the other loses one. Sure! A little effort to make one more notch is highly commendable. Here's to you for a great success in 1922. Let's start right and we are sure to end right. J. L. HOLLIDAY.

"HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK"

Don't forget that "Home Town Paper Week" begins November 21st, which is his next Monday. This is to remind the friends of the home paper that a check will be greatly appreciated. The Enterprise has strived to help its friends and patrons by letting the subscriptions run as long as they wanted them to and we feel that everybody wants to pay for their paper but they neglect doing so, but right now we will heartily appreciate a check and want to remind you that it will be very welcome. During the war we cut off some of our subscribers who were behind because we were compelled to do so by the government on account of the paper shortage but we have not cut off any since for that reason. Paper mauling and publication is costing us much now that it is quite an effort for us to send the paper very long without your help so please come along and give us a small check or anything that you have that we can use.

REVIVAL CLOSING TONIGHT

The revival services which have been in progress at the Methodist church will close this (Friday) evening. Rev. L. D. Hayman, of Weldon who is assisting the pastor, has delivered some very forceful and searching sermons. We regret that we cannot continue this meeting for a few days but owing to the fact that the close of our conference year is near, Brother Hayman must return to his own charge Saturday. We appreciate the cooperation of our sister church, their pastors and people and trust that these services have been much help to them and to our town. The church doors will be opened Sunday morning at eleven o'clock for any who may desire to join the Methodist church.

Epworth League Notes

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will meet in the League rooms at the regular hour, 7:30, Monday P. M. Rev. Mr. Joyner will speak to the League of that hour. All members, please come.

CHURCH OF THE ADVENT

Services for the 24th Sunday after Trinity, November 4th. Church school, 9:45 A. M.—Mr. H. M. Stubbs, Superintendent. Holy Communion 11 A. M.—Mr. Jno. G. Brazaw, Jr., of Washington, N. C., will be the speaker at this service. Mr. Brazaw is one of the strong laymen of East Carolina and has a message of great importance for the present time. Evening prayer and service, 7:30 P. M. Sermon subject: "The Great Commission." A cordial invitation to all services.

CHILD DEAD

Henry, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bowen died yesterday after an illness of one week with Bright's Disease. Today piecing together all possible evidence, and although forced to work hurriedly because of the short time allowed by the court, will be ready to represent the young fellow as ably as possible.—Greenville Reflector.

THE DYER BILL

The Dyer Bill which aims at riotous assemblies was recently referred to the House Judiciary Committee and was reported favorably by a strictly party vote, with the exception of one Republican who voted with the Democrats. Of course every state in the union has plenty of laws against mob law and violence, and riots. There would seem to be no reason why the United States Congress should meddle with such things. The proposed law inflicts a penalty against any county in which any person may be killed by a mob or in a riot. It also lays heavy penalty on any county through which a bunch of rioters may pass. It is hard when they want to break up rioting in Chicago, Washington City, East St. Louis, or some place in Pennsylvania, or whether they want to break up lynching in Georgia. If it is the latter we can offer a escape and surer rule for lynching. Just stop assaults upon the women of Georgia. Nothing else will stop lynching. The people of Georgia do not like lynching but they like it just as well as they like assaults upon innocent women.

THE TOBACCO MARKET

The local tobacco market is still holding up to the high average established a few weeks ago. The price are a little better for the medium and best grades and the lower grades are still holding their own. Everyone is pleased with the sales and goes home with the big checks in a mighty good humor. "Uncle Buck" says that they should go home and give their wives a kiss and their part of the money.

LEGION CONDEMNS HARVEY

The American Legion at its recent meeting in Kansas City passed a resolution condemning Col. Gen. Harvey American Ambassador to England, for his slanderous speech at the Pilgrims Day Banquet in London, early in the year. This was expected by everybody for all good Americans know this statement was false as well as slanderous and the fellow who crossed the water and fought for an ideal would not let the insult pass unnoticed.
