Outline of Correspondence Courses Offered by U.N.C.

Dunn Dispatch.
Chester L. Snell, director of the university extension division, of the University of North Carolina, spent a part of last week in Dunn conferring with officials of various organizations and informing them of the service offered the people of the state through this division. Mr. Snell stated that he was deeply impressed with the progress made in which problems of community betterment were being handled.

"While but few people from this community are fortunate enough to be able to attend the university," said Mr. Snell, "everyone can obtain some of the university's advantages for instruction and culture through its extension division. The university has something to offer to every individual, no matter in what walk of life. For instance, enrolled in regular university courses by correspondence we find teachers, farmers, housekeepers, clerks, lawyers, bookkeepers, business men, preachers, etc. Through this and twelve other bureaus of the extension division we are moving the university to every community in the state."

University Belongs To All.
"As a State institution, the University of North Carolina belongs to everybody in this state and everyone has a right to demand some service from it. The university has set itself the task of becoming what the citizens of North Carolina concerned in the uplifting of the state have wanted it to be—a great clearing house for the social, civic, industrial and economic development of every community. It is becoming this largely through the fact that it is developing its extension division as the channel through which some of the university's influence and culture flow to the people."

"Almost every university in the United States has an extension or organization. The extension division of our university is functioning efficiently and is the foremost organization of its kind in the south. It is constantly launching out into new fields, seeking to become a more vital factor in the progress of our commonwealth."

Many Lines of Service
The thirteen different bureaus or lines of service offered by the university extension division are outlined in brief, as follows:

1. Correspondence and class instruction: Standard University courses by mail, either for credit or non-credit. All courses are credited toward university degrees and state teachers' certificates. Evening extension classes in several cities. Write for correspondence bulletin.
2. Lectures: Popular or technical lectures, individual or in series for clubs and community organizations. Addresses for commencement or other special occasions. Write for lecture bulletin.
3. Short courses and institutes: Upon request short courses in the University for educational groups. Institutes on road engineering, country life, community drama.
4. Public discussion: Programs for women's clubs and other groups. Package library loans. Home reading courses. Programs and guidance for debating clubs, parent-teacher associations, etc. General information. Write for bulletins.
5. Community drama: Guidance and field direction in the writing and production of community plays, pageants and festivals. Write for bulletins. Services of a field agent available.

MOST DESERVING OF ALL RELIEF FUNDS

Substantial citizens and Christian-hearted people of Martin County have noted with interest the advance announcements that the campaign of the Near East Relief this year for $200,000 in North Carolina would be held from February 12 to 26.

We have been through a number of drives in recent months but for those who know the real situation in the destitute lands across the water the cause of the Near East carries an irresistible appeal. No less a person than William Jennings Bryan has declared that the Near East Relief is the most worthy of all Christian charity.

There are 110,000 innocent little children in the N. E. R. Orphanages in the lands where Christ lived, worked and died. There are nearly as many more starving to death daily because there is not enough room for them. More than 550,000 refugees are being fed daily.

These people are victims of their own loyalty to Christ and the Allied nations—forgotten and deserted by the latter. Because they have for centuries refused to renounce Christ and become Mohammedans the unspoken, able Turk has decimated the male adult population until the women and children are absolutely dependent upon outside aid.

Armenia shortened the war by a great many months, according to all experts through their heroic defense of the Baku Oil Fields. Three hundred thousand brave men laid down their lives that our own North Carolina boys might return home, leaving their children without support. Europe has forgotten this debt and only the American people remain between them and starvation.

Martin County is doing a noble work in raising its quota of $1,980, which will save the lives of 33 of these children for a year, so efficient is the work of the N. E. R. However many other appeals you may have responded there is none more worthy than this, and besides 95 cents out of every dollar you give reaches Armenia, a record any charitable organization in the world is challenged to equal.

TRI-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING

The members of the Pitt County Medical Society entertained the members of the Tri-County Medical Society at Greenville on Feb 9th. There were quite a large number of physicians present and would have had a larger number present if the roads had not been so bad.

Dr. D. T. Taylor, Jr., read a most interesting and instructive paper: Purgation without definite indications in doubtful intra-abdominal conditions.

Dr. E. M. Long read a fine paper: "Stalking Streptococci."

Dr. Paul Jones, a prominent dentist of Farmville had a most splendid paper upon the care of the teeth.

A most elaborate banquet was served before the business meeting began and all sang the praises of the Pitt County Physicians and Dentists.

Dr. Wm. E. Warren was elected president; Dr. D. T. Taylor was elected vice-president and Dr. DeWitt Klutz was elected secretary.

The society meets in Washington, N. C., the latter part of May, 92.

"SCOTCHED"

An insinuating strange "bootlegger" who operated in Raleigh a few days ago, carried off -1,200 in real money handed over to him by lovers of "Scotch" whiskey, which the sleek stranger sold them. One is still being born every minute, and the Raleigh thirties who forked over on this occasion fell for a story of how the bootlegger had got the stuff through from Savannah and that purchasers must pay in advance in cash or checks payable to "Cash." Deliveries were to follow that night. But the bootlegger had not arrived with the Scotch at last accounts.

MAN KILLED NEAR LEGGETTS CROSS ROADS

Scot Leggett was killed by John Smith near Leggett's Cross Roads, this county, Saturday night. Both of the parties were white men. The shooting took place about eight o'clock on the public road. The entire load of the shotgun entered the head of Leggett making a hole about three inches in diameter. Immediately after the shooting Leggett was carried to his home unconscious where he died last night.

Leggett was about 40 years of age and a man of a family. Smith is about 27 years of age and single.

The fact leading up to the shooting are meagre. The surmise is that they had not been friends for some time as on the Saturday before they had had some words.

Saturday night Leggett and one Russell Perry started to walk to the home of Perry's sister, John Smith, R. O. Crisp and a Mr. Corey had been to Washington and were on their way back home in an automobile. Which near Leggett's Cross Roads their car sought refuge in a ditch. While getting a mule to pull their car out of the ditch Leggett and Perry appeared on the scene. Leggett stopped where the car was ditched, while Perry continued on his way. When about 30 yards away Perry heard a gun fire. The fire of the gun frightened the mule and he ran by him Perry said he heard Smith say, "I've killed him."

What transpired between Leggett and Smith prior to the shooting is not known at this writing.

Yesterday morning Sheriff and deputies went to the home of R. O. Crisp and placed him under arrest. Just as the officers were returning to this city with Crisp they met Smith and Corey who stated that they had come to town to give themselves up. Both Smith and Corey were placed in jail as well as Crisp. It is understood that they will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow. Smith acknowledged that he did the shooting but he refused to give out any information as to what caused the murder.—Washington Daily News.

CONFEDERATE VETERAN ANSWERS LAST ROLL CALL

Another veterans furls his banner and marches to the sound of the long roll, to that country to whose bourn no traveler returns.

Mr. Gibson was born in Tyrrel 82 years ago on the 3rd of February. He entered the Confederate service when a young man and went through the four years' struggle. He was severely wounded by a sabre thrust just as the war was closing. After the war he came to Martin county and has been a resident of this county since that time. He married three times. He was married the first time to Miss Mary Perry, by whom he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Tom Griffin of Mackeys, N. C. He was next married to Miss Louisa Peel and by this marriage leaves two sons, Henry I. Gibson and J. L. Gibson. His third wife was Miss Harriett Roberson, who died several years ago.

The cause of death was perhaps what is generally called age and a worn-out condition. He had not been able to work for something like two years.

Burial services were held at the J. W. Hopkins farm and the funeral was conducted by his pastor, Rev. A. V. Joyner.

WILL HENRY FORD GET MUSCLE SHOALS

Will Ford Get Muscle Shoals is a question.

He will have to fight the fertilizer people, they don't want rivalry in their business.

The harnessing of the wastd water power of the Great Tennessee river, which crosses the state of the same name twice and also crosses Alabama will mean one million horse power that has for many centuries, idled, played, eddied, rolled and tumbled and roared down that great river, means most of the cotton raised in the south will be manufactured by the use of that power. This will idle the New England mills and they will fight it.

The railroads will lose the cotton haul from New Orleans to New Hampshire, they will fight it.

The use of steam, which will be displaced by the great water power will cause the coal barons to lose the sale of millions in coal and so the coal trust will fight it. So it looks like there is nobody that wants Mr. Ford to have it except the people, and unless the people assert themselves the big interests will not let Mr. Ford have this wonderful property.
