On Wednesday, February 8th, a squad composed of three medical rating officers and three legal examiners arrived at this hospital and immediately interviewed its bed-ridden patients. On Thursday, February 9: wenty-six cases were sent to the dis trict headquarters in Atlanta, ready for payment by a messenger, and the messenge rwas back in Johnson City Friday morning and distributed to these men, who has wasted long for these checks, over $20,000,00. The car dity with which these cases were sandled electrified to patients in the ospital an dbrought fort much prais. irm the Red Cross, American Legion and other cooperating agent ics. ### THE KIND OF HUSBANDS WO-MEN WANT

The following two letters were taktion the Progressive Farmer, describing the kind of husbands these two women wanted:

A Model Husband I am a rural school teacher an when I find a man who has strength of mind, strength of body, and strength of will, and whom I know to be clean inside and out: who neither looks up to the rich, nor down on the poor; who can lose without squealng and win without bragging; who is always considerate of women and children, respectful to old people; too brave to lie; too generous to cheat. and who takes his share of the world and lets other peopel have theirs, I man possessing what I consider sufmodel man but a star husband. A Limited Monarchy Wanted For my future husband, I want companionable man, one with whom am congenial, one who is a good pal. I would not get tired of him and he would not get tired of home. I want him to boss me to the ilmit. be good pals and have that so but we could. I absolutely want him to be the boss, but in the right way. I do not want him to be offensive and rude and yet I want him to be beyond all question the head of the house. I do not want him to make a baby doll of me. I do not want to sleep until 9:30, but want to get up and eat reakfast with him, and cook it too

I should like him to earn a good and I do not balk at work, but I of a child for a month, so efficient is bought each a farm right at $ I respected him, and it is hard to re spect one who is not successful or has not the qualities of success. I do not want him to use profanlanguage. I do not want him to drink. He positively cannot do that and live with

I want him to be dignified but not so wooden that there is no life o laughter in him. Still I wish to stres the fact that dignity would be a very important quality. I could not love a clown. I would rather have him pull a long face than always be grin ning and swirking.

The following article taken from the Winston Salem Journal of Feb. 7th, was handed to us by a local telescope

warehouseman, with the request that we publish it: To the Editor of the Journal: Tom Sims says "Farmers raise crops in the summer and question the minter." it is a great pity that miny farmers are so discontented and restless. They are very much like some specific chidlen. You might give them all the playthings in the world and that would not satisfy, they would want you to give them the moon and stars also. After reading Mr. E L James article on cooperative marketing to the Journal of January 27th, I sale poor, dissatisfied foolish farmers." Mr. James intimated in his stery tha tthe farmers have at last found a real up-to-date leader, a gentilos Moses to lead the farmers from the land of "Old Pharach," "the wily old fox," meaning Col G E Webb and the whole warehouse system of selling to bacco, to the land of great pros like saying "Lord have mercy on the the cooperative marketing system. I want to say right here that Col. Webb and the warehousemen of Win ston-Salem and other cities and towns in the State have helped to make the armers what they are, as well as the armers have helped to make the cities and towns what they are. Colonel Webb and t ewarehousemen have been friends to the farmer and always given him good advice I am glad that the cities and towns have built up and prospered as well as they have while the farmers have prospered also. I don't think I would like the cooperation plan of selling tobacco. I don't like the name of the leader. It doesn't sound like Moses, it sounds like a foreign born name. Now brother farmers, why send away off to California for a man who possibly never saw a plant of tobacco to come to the three tobacco states to organize a tobacco cooperative marketing system for the farmers? Didn't we have a man in these states who knew something about tobacco and had sense enough to organize a cooperative association for the farmers? we did not expect to retacshrdl If we did not have such a man, how may we expect to run one of the largest undertakings the farmers of the tobacco belt have ever seen. I fear the new plan would lead farmers in the wilderness of trouble for five years where there will be grumbling, kicking and grashing of teeth. Some thirty years ago a Mr. Blank ame into our neighborhood, selling farm rights to cure all kinds of rough green tobacco yellow by asteam cess. He believed in his plan, like the advocates of the co-operative marketing do now. So fifteen of us farmers farm right. We tried the new plan and all of us went busted on curing. ruined our tobacco and each of us lost that year from three to five hunis not gold that gitters."

I have been waiting for some time to see if some farmer woud not com out in opposition to this foolish idea of co-operative marketing. I have met many good old farmers lately that are very much opposed to any change in the marketing system. I think the cooperative plan is altogether impracticable. It just can't be lone satisfactorily. I now think that it would be very sensible, for the leaders and adve cates of the new plan to "step, look and listen." I have given the subject serious thought an ddon't see anything in it fo rthe future but trouble and disappointment. Supply and demand always make good or bad prices for tobacco. If the plan could possibly work, we farmers would not get any more than we do now at the warehouses. And to let part of maybe all our tobacco go on credit would not suit us.

I know I would not like to sign up for five years just to get to sell my tobacco on a credit for one or av years. When I sell tobacco, I want my money right then. That is business. Adam and Eve were do well in the garden of Eden until that old serpent got in with them and told them they could od better to coo ate with him. They did so and we all see the effects. J. M. McMICHAEL, Stokesdale, Feb. 4, 1922.
