Mabe you have wondered why a man you despised at home because a Big Gun at Washington, You wondered. because you thought brains and principle and worth ruled there. They don't. The game is not played that way. It used to be, but not now.

This story tells part of the taleonly a small part. There are reticences which every good citizen wish s to observe. But it is useful to know why, for example, the ships of the United States Shipping Board have not been criticised in the public press, by newspapermen who knew the facts, for their violation of American liquor laws. The explanation is the dinners given to newspapermen by Albert D. Lasker.

Maybe you have wondered why Lasker could get the White House itself to boost Shipping Board affairs into a prominence not granted any other issue-not even those issues import ant to the welfare of the people. The answer is, Lasker's dinners.

This is only a small part of the story. Some day, if public policy requires, there will be an explosion of truth in Washington, when all the now-suppressed facts will be blazoned before an indignant people and a thorough clean-up inaugurated.

The social lobby in Washington is not a new institution, but it has per- and Secretary Theodore Roosevelt fected its methods, and is being used wer eamong the guests of the evenmore cleverly than ever before. It is one of the most potent influences in the life of the national capital. The end ssought are not always visible to the casual observer. The methods employed are often extramly subtle, and even those persons whose high official and personal standing is being traded on are usually unconscious o fthe purposes which the schemer are seeking to accomplish.

Whether it is a tax bill before congressiona lconmittee, a big claim before an executive department for adjudication, publicity for a govern mental subsidy, regultary measures af fecting special interests or a Federal appointment that is sought to be influenced ,the social lobby is sure to play a big rcle.

Senator Kenyon, of Iwoa, who was recently elevated to the Federal buch, and who had a great deal to do with turning the light on lobby oper ations at Washington during his service in the Senate, gave it as his matured opinion that the social lobby is one of the most active and pernicious of all. It is in full blast st the present time.

Washington's "Information" Men It was Senator Kenyon who first brought to light the remarkable case of a former newspaper correspondent in Washington, who, by skillfully ingratiating himself via the social lobby route, reached the point where he was drawing approximately $50,000 per annum a sthe aggregate of retainers paid to him by various interests having irons in the legislative

An effort is sometimes made by means of the social lobby to mellow the attiutde of the daily press toward pending objects. Recently, when the ship subsidy legislation was submitted to Congress, and was subjected to the fire of newspaper criticism. Albert D. Lasker, chairman o fthe United States Shipping Board, who is the chief sponsor of the measure, gave a dinner at his home for the Washington crrespondents, invitations were telephoned to all the representatives of the more prominent newspapers. PEOPLES BANK CLOSED ITS DOORS YESTERDAY

The Peoples Bank closed yesterday after heavy withdrawls. In 1921 when it was dicovered that Charlie Godwin, then cashier of The Peoples Bank had misappropriated many thousands of the peoples money in the bank, the directors determined to carry it on. They put up the necessary funds and things meved on in good shape. But the stringent times coupled with an underground current of propaganda apparently seeking to destroy, made it very hard for the bank to operate. Yesterday a draw of about $63,000 closed it.

FORMER HERTFORD BANKER ON TRIAL

A SH R. FRANK

Hertford, June 29 .- After recessing from 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning until 9:30 o'clock this morning because of illness of Judge W. M. Bond, presiding, much progress was made in the trial of H. C. Sullivan, former of the Farmers Bank & Trust Co., charged with embezzlement of $60,000. The defendant is indicted on three counts but is only being tried on one of them for the present; namely, for selling bonds and misappropriating the mony derived therefrom which had been placed with the bank as collateral on loan.

First Witness

The first witness for the prosecution was J. S. McNider, owner of the bonds who testified that he had secured several loans from the bank and that he had placed the sum of $14,850 in coupon bonds and $1,965 in registered bonds as collateral security. He wished to liquidate the loan on January first last and called to pay the loan and have his bonds returned. The accused put him off from time to time stating that the bonds had been sent eway to borrow money for the bank, the witness said. Finally, when the witness found that the bonds and note were not forthcoming as he thought they should, he became suspicious and informed H. C. Stokes, president of the bank, as to the delay in the matter, stating that he would wire the state bank examiner if something was not done immediately.

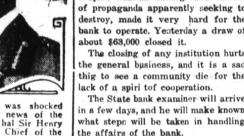

Director Testifies

The next witness on the stand was J. T. Brinn, a director of the bank. who testified that he heard the conversation between McNider and Stokes and that he later went down to the bank to see about a note of his own. While there Sullivan was confronted by Stokes about the bonds and the accused man admitted that he had sold them besides misappropriatinig thirty thousand dollars of the bank's money, Mr. Brinn said. The witness stated further that Sullivan said he had been doing these things all his life and did not deserve any sympathy. Later the directors had a meeting at the Smith Drug Co., where Sulliyan again adfitted his guilt and stated the money had gone in to the Eastern Peanut Company, of which he was president. On cross examination, the witness denied that the directors had taken notes and collateral security for the shortage and agreed that it would be all right.

Judge Bond Ill

The case received an unexpected setback Wednesday at two o'clock the hour for the convening of the afternoon session of court, when it wa sannounced by Solicitor Ehringhaus that, due to the illness of Judge Bond court was to be adjourned to 9:30 o'clock this morning. Hundreds of disappointed spectators who ha dthronged the courtroom in anticipation of a highly interesting court session, man yof whom were ladies, filed out of the old court house, and went their several ways.

Judge Bond had complained in the
