

What Is Your Money Worth? Patronize Local Merchants to Get Full Value For Your Cash

Money as a purchasing agent means 100 cents to a dollar. But the greatest spending value of money is in what it will buy judiciously. Money value and economy are often mistaken for the same thing. A wooden house costs about two-thirds of the price of a brick one, but it is economy to put more money in the more substantial one.

So it is with the purchase of the commodities of every day use. A shoe with a hole in it will destroy more hose than a new pair or a half sole will cost. So it is economy to spend money for the new shoes.

Your local merchant carries two or three grades of almost every staple article and the close observer can easily see that the best value for your money lies not in price but in service.

The practice of sending money away from home for articles to save what may seem a substantial reduction from the local merchant's price is often a waste of money. Your local merchant offers you a choice of several grades and almost inevitably stands ready to adjust any shortcomings the articles may later be found to have. His success depends not upon your first purchase but upon your future trade. The local merchant uses his long established business as an asset. The mail order house does not care about their past performance, for some often change their names every year. Some people, though, are like the fish that tries every hook on the stream.

All the members employed in the building trades in this section sent their money off for goods that they could buy at home, how long would they be able to find remunerative employment?

By patronizing local merchants and home industries you are using the only method of keeping prosperity in your community. The economy of money value lies in the good you receive not only directly but indirectly from what you spend.

One of the truest mottoes ever posted in a thriving town reads: "Remember, you get just what you pay for." Whether groceries, hardware, lumber or bricks, you do not find anyone selling an article for less than its cost.

You would be afraid to east check that some man was selling for 10 cents a pound when you knew that every other merchant in town had to charge 25 cents to make a living profit.

Think it over. Every dollar you spend at home gives you a golden opportunity to get that same dollar back again.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday, October 1st, there will be a roll call of the membership of our church. We have not had a service of this kind in some time, and we think it fitting that we begin our fall work with as large an attendance as possible. A feature of the service will be the reading of the Association letter, which shows a larger increase in membership than the church has had in a number of preceding years, a larger Sunday School, and a more satisfactory work for our young people.

The Church Covenant will be read and presented to the new members, who will also receive the hand of church fellowship.

We are exceedingly anxious to have each and every member of the church present. Please do not let anything interfere with your observance of your church duty that day. Come and see just where we stand as a church. If you are sick or living in another town please send a message to be read at the service. Come praying that we may have a splendid day.

CHURCH—LEAGUE

At 7:45 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Williamston Methodist Church, Miss Epworth League became the bride of Mr. Methodist Episcopal Church.

Miss League has for some months held the office of secretary of the organization which she so ably represents. By her faithful attendance and loyal support she has won the confidence of her many friends about here.

Mr. Church, who represented the Methodist church, is a young man of deep character and sterling qualities and has also been a leader in the work of both organizations.

The beautifully decorated chancel offered an effective background for the impressive ring ceremony. Rev. L. C. Larkin officiated. Immediately preceding the ceremony, Miss Myrtle Wynne, as Spirit of Music, sang "Loyalty to Christ." Then with Miss Debbie Fleming, as Spirit of Efficiency, at the organ, the bridal party entered to the familiar strains from Lohengrin in the following order: the ushers, Mr. George Hatton Gurganus as Spirit of Organization with Mr. Hibble Liverman as Spirit of Education; Mr. William Cooke as Spirit of Enlistment with Mr. Leslie Toel as Spirit of Development. The came the bridesmaids and groomsmen, Miss Sophia Little as Spirit of Attendance with Mr. William Hodges as Spirit of Planning; Miss Martha Leggett as Spirit of Work with Mr. John Booker as Spirit of Giving. Miss Emma Belle Harris as Spirit of Study with Mr. Herbert Peeler as Spirit of Sociability; Miss Mary Leggett as Spirit of Punctuality with Mr. Boyd Light as Spirit of Meetings. Miss Elizabeth Gurganus as Spirit of Cheer came in with Miss Mattie Lou Rogerson as Spirit of Conservation, each carrying a basket of flowers.

The bride, attired in white taffeta and bridal veil with accessories to match, carrying a bouquet of yellow dahlias and fern entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Bill Harrison a Spirit of Service, who gave her away. She was met at the altar by the groom, who came in with his best man, Mr. Gaylord Harrison as Spirit of Prayer.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party and other members of the League went to the home of Mr. Bill and Evelyn Harrison where a reception was given.

The Federal Farm Loan Bank has changed its ruling so that anyone owning land can borrow provided you farm on a share basis. The rate is 5-1-2 per cent, payable semi-annually. If you desire to borrow money on easy terms see Jno. D. Biggs, Secretary.—Adv.

The recipients of Mrs. Rose's hospitality besides the guests of honor, were Mrs. P. H. Brown, Miss Daisy Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Peel.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF COTTON MARKET

(By Savannah Cotton Factorage Co. All inquiries promptly answered.) Unsettled conditions in Europe and the near east disturbed American cotton markets last week. There was little speculative support, and heading continued on a liberal scale.

European news improved over the week-end, and Liverpool advanced 22 points on Monday, September 25th. American markets also advanced early Monday, but eased off later in the day. Closing steady, 16 to 28 points below last week's final figure.

This was probably due to selling by those who did not wish to be bothered with October tenders beginning September 26th.

A summary of news from the various cotton growing states this week indicates early picking, crop poor, with little top crop in any state.

Army worms have done considerable damage in the west and as far east as Alabama. The boll weevil covered the territory and has probably reduced the yield as much as he did in 1921.

The Ginners' Report will be published on Monday, October 2nd, and the final condition report on Tuesday, October 3rd. No doubt the former will be heavy, as it should show at least 60 to 65 per cent of the total for the season. The condition is expected to be between 47 and 49.

JOINT MEETING OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Delegates from the different Sunday Schools of the town of Williamston, N. C., met together at the Methodist Church on September 27th, 1922, at 8:30 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of getting together and cooperating on the proposition of taking a religious census of the town of Williamston.

The Superintendents of some of the Sunday Schools were present, also the Pastor of the Methodist church and the Rector of the Episcopal Church. Judge Oliver H. Allen was also present, and after considerable discussion it was agreed that Julian Carr Anderson should be the secretary of the movement, and that the town should be divided geographically into four sections, each electing a representative to the section to be worked by the different denominations to be ascertained later.

It was decided that the census takers are to start to taking the census on Sunday, October 8th, and to complete the same as soon as possible.

It is hoped that the people of the town will cooperate with these workers in every way possible and thereby aid in the betterment of the town and community.—Reported

MRS. HARDY ENTERTAINS

On Tuesday afternoon from four to six at her home on Houghton St. Mrs. B. W. Hardy entertained at four tables and three tables were served. The highest score was made by Mrs. Roger Critcher, Jr., and a box of rook cards was presented to him by the hostess.

Punch was served by Mrs. Jno. A. Manning all during the afternoon and when the hour of rook was over dainty refreshments consisting of a full salad course and coffee was served.

Those invited were: Miss Sallie Dickens of Enfield, Mrs. Jno. D. Biggs, Mrs. Asa T. Crawford, Mrs. Carrie Biggs Williams, Mrs. P. B. Cone, Mrs. C. A. Harrison, Mrs. W. H. Biggs, Mrs. Gop. H. THOMAS H. GURKIN

Mr. Thomas H. Gurkin passed away at his home near Jamesville Wednesday night. Mr. Gurkin had suffered two paralytic strokes during the year, the second one making him a tetraplegic. A few days before the end came pneumonia set in.

Mr. Gurkin was sixty-four years old. He was born and reared and lived on the same farm upon which he died. He leaves besides his wife, two children, Mr. Herman Gurkin of Plymouth, who is the only surviving child by his first wife and a four year old son by his last wife.

He will be buried at the Gurkin graveyard today.

MRS. ROSE HOSTESS

Monday night at the Atlantic Hotel Mrs. Z. H. Rosen entertained with two tables of bridge complimentary to Dr. and Mrs. Sampson Hadley. She served a salad course followed by demi-tasse and mints which were much enjoyed.

The recipients of Mrs. Rose's hospitality besides the guests of honor, were Mrs. P. H. Brown, Miss Daisy Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Peel.

AARON SAPIRO WILL SPEAK HERE FRIDAY

Aaron Sapiro, attorney for a large number of Farmers' Marketing Associations in America, mostly in the west and especially in California, his home state, will address the people of Martin and adjoining counties, Friday, October 6th. The hour will be announced later, and it will probably be about three o'clock.

Many people have had lots to say against this man Sapiro. It is fortunate that he will have the opportunity to meet the folks face to face and answer for himself. Every farmer for many miles around should come to hear him, at which time he will be glad of the opportunity to answer questions.

Farmers, spread the news. Come yourself and bring the other fellow. You have the opportunity now to procure financial freedom for your children. The battle is fierce but it must be fought out.

MILK COWS, PASTURES AND FENCES

(Article No. 2, Conducted by C. R. Hudson.) Milk is not only an economic food but it is the only food that contains all the elements necessary to sustain life and build the body.

No child has ever yet been raised without milk from some source, and since sixty per cent of all children grown in America are raised on cow's milk it is highly important that we have an adequate supply.

Mr. McCollum, one of our best nutrition experts, says that the people who have achieved, who have become large, strong, vigorous people, who have reduced their infant mortality, who have the best trades in the world, who have an appreciation of art, literature and music, and who are progressive in science, and in every activity of the human intellect, are the people who have used milk and its products liberally.

It is known, therefore, that we should have a more abundant supply of milk. This can be had in a measure by buying more milk cows, and especially by saving the heifer calves an d taking care of them. The caution here to observe is, first, to get pastures for this increased livestock. Right now is the time to plant fall sown pastures. Every farmer who needs pastures, and a large percentage of them have none at present, should not overlook this important feature of diversified farming.

See your county agent, or write to your Agricultural Extension Service at Raleigh, for information as to seed mixtures, details of planting and other things connected with the matter.—Reported

683 AUTOS CROSSED THE NEW BRIDGE SUNDAY

Six hundred and eighty-three automobiles and eleven teams crossed the new bridge last Sunday. This shows the bridge is in the right place.

The ratio of teams to autos is rather sad, however. Looks as if the poor horse must go when less than two per cent of the traffic is by horse power.

LAMB-WYNNE NUP-TIALS TUESDAY

A wedding not only of local interest but of interest to many friends in North Carolina and elsewhere took place in the Methodist Episcopal church in Williamston on Tuesday morning when Miss Vada Wynne became the bride of Luke Lamb. For the wedding the church had been most tastefully, yet simply decorated with green plants, and on the altar were placed several baskets of pink roses which made the scene a rare setting for the marriage vows to be given.

A large number of friends of both the bride and bridegroom were present for the occasion. A special pew was reserved on the right for the Wynne family. Mrs. Carrie Biggs Williams, who wore a gown of white and green silk, and carried red roses, was the first to enter and took her place at the organ where she gave several selections from classical composers which were favorites of the bride. Miss Eva Wynne, a sister of the bride, came next. She was most becomingly gowned in turquoise blue chiffon and wore a large black hat. Her flowers were pink roses. Miss Wynne sang "O Perfect Love" and "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee."

The ushers, C. B. Hassell, Clayton Moore, B. Duke Critcher and Lloyd Whitney of Charlotte, were the first to enter and these were followed by Miss Annie Lamb, who was the bride's maid. Miss Lamb wore a gown of rose pink chiffon and carried pink roses; accompanying her on the opposite aisle came Harry A. Biggs as groomsmen. Miss Nelle Wynne, another sister of the bride, who was the maid of honor, came next. Miss Wynne was attired in coral chiffon and carried pink roses. These were followed by the bride who was escorted by her father, J. L. Wynne, by whom she was given away. The bride wore a most becoming and handsome gown of white oyster satin, embroidered with pearls and trimmed with white Spanish lace. She was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Wilson G. Lamb. The ritual of the Episcopal Church was read by Rev. L. C. Larkin, of the Methodist church and then the marriage ceremony was read by Rev. Morrison Bethea, Archdeacon of the Convocation of Raleigh.

After a wedding trip to New York City and several other points of interest Mr. and Mrs. Lamb will reside in Raleigh, where Mr. Lamb is Chief Deputy Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Department.

A wedding breakfast was served at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wynne in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Lamb after the ceremony. The guests were Rev. Morrison Bethea of Raleigh, Rev. L. C. Larkin, Father Clark, Mrs. Burgess Uquhart of Bertie county; Mrs. Frederick Duhanst; Misses Mayo and Annie Lamb, Mrs. Carrie Biggs Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Moore, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hassell, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Godwin, Misses Eva, Nelle and Melba Wynne, Messrs. Wilson G. Lamb, B. Duke Critcher, Howard Herriek and Harry Biggs.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

By Francis Speight
There's lots of 'sly old foxes
Who work at no good trade,
But hold down empty boxes
In some cool village shade
Just adding and subtracting,
And figuring per cent,
Their daily bread extracting
From those on labor bent.
And we can find no reasons
Why idle folks should thrive,
While those who work all seasons
Can scarcely keep alive.
So we must pull together
Who delve and till the soil,
And make them take the weather
Or seek some honest toil.

ROBERSON—WARD

Bethel, N. C., Sept. 25.—The marriage of Miss Clara Mae Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Ward, to Leon Buel Roberson took place at six o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents near Bethel.

The home was beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. The background of white interwoven with ivy gave a color scheme of green and white. The marriage was solemnized altar of ferns, palms and ivy. Rev. W. E. Trotman, pastor of the bride, officiated.

During the wait for the bride's arrival Miss Addie Lee Grimes with her clear sweet voice sang "For You" and "At Dawning," while Miss Ruth Carson presided at the piano, accompanied by violin, played by Mr. J. B. Corey. At the close of the last solo the piano merged into the familiar bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" and the bridal party entered. Little Misses Grace Page and Sarah Flooker Carr, in fluffy dresses of Nile green organdy, held the ribbons. First in the procession came the matron of honor, Mrs. Malena Ward Trainham, aunt of the bride in a frock of yellow organdy with hat and slippers to match and carried an arm bouquet of butterfly roses tied with tulle the color of her dress. Next came Miss Bertha Mae Ward, aunt of the bride, as maid of honor, dressed in orchid organdy with hat and slippers to match, carrying butterfly roses tied with orchid tulle. The ring bearer, little Miss Dolores James, cousin of the bride, wearing a pretty frock of pink organdy, bearing the wedding ring on a silver tray filled with rose petals was next to enter. Then following her were the bridegroom and his cousin, Mr. Hugh Roberson of Robersonville, N. C., who acted as best man. Preceding the bride came the flower girl, little Miss Virginia Ward Brown, wearing a pretty frock of blue organdy, carrying a basket of white roses.

The impressive beauty of the occasion was completed by the entrance of the bride on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of navy blue with gray accessories and carried a bride's and sweetheart roses and valley lilies. While the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was being performed Miss Carson played "Nevia's Good Night." She used the wedding march from Mendelssohn as the recessional.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Roberson motored to Rocky Mount, from which point they left for an extended northern trip. On their return they will make their home near Robersonville, N. C.

Mr. Roberson is one of the most attractive young ladies of this section and has a host of friends throughout the state. She graduated from Bethel High School later taking a course at the State University at Chapel Hill, N. C. For the past two years she has been a member of the Parmele High School faculty and is held in highest esteem by the children and patrons of the school.

Mr. Roberson is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Roberson, a very promising young man of Martin county. He completed his education at Massey's Business College, Richmond, Va., after which he accepted a position in a nearby town. Later, on account of the old age of his father, he returned home to take charge of the farm. He is a man of popularity and merit in his community.—Reported.

ANOTHER PLAGUE

Mr. Frank Bennett discovers another plague. This time it is a small worm which destroys peanuts. Mr. Bennett says that he finds them in his own and many adjoining fields. It is a small hard looking yellow worm which bores in the soft hull of the peanut and eats the kernel. It also cuts off the young pins as they shoot out to form the nuts. Some peas show signs of several holes having been made in the hull and the kernels are totally destroyed.
