The Two Organizations That Will Make Your Coming to Williamston Worth While

Williamston of today is a different town than Williamston of the past. We have our faces turned to the future with an optimistic viewpoint, and we have forgotten the disadvantages of the past, and think now only of the advantages which are before us on every hand at present. With the early completion in the new year of our hard surface road leading to Williamston there will be a steady increase in our business along all lines.

Our business men of all types are already planning for the increased volume and are directing their energies towards taking care of this. Our merchants are daily increasing their stocks of goods to meet the demands; our banks are preparing to receive the deposits and serve the county's people in the matter of loans, and to offer financial assistance and aid.

Our professional men are preparing to better serve their clients; our doctors are making stronger efforts to alleviate the sufferings of humanity; and all classes of our citizens are determined that in the days to come the stranger within our gates will receive a more hearty welcome and be made to feel more at home than in any other town in eastern North Carolina.
