

WHY NOT LIVE AT HOME THIS YEAR?
Produce Can Be Raised At Much Lower Cost Than It Can Be Bought

RALEIGH, Feb. 22.—To help encourage North Carolina farm folks to live at home this year, the agricultural extension service of the State College and State Department of agriculture is cooperating with Governor Cameron Morrison and the State Department of education to call their attention to the fact that in every school district of North Carolina about 200,000 blank forms have been printed and mailed to the county superintendents of public instruction to be mailed by them to the school teachers in each county asking that a meeting be called at the school house.

The extension service requests that after a discussion of live at home policies, these blanks be distributed to each farm and family represented at the meeting and that the blanks be signed and returned to Director Kilgore by February 26. The farmer making a pass mark of 70, that is if he will agree to do seven things as requested on the blank form and will live up to this agreement during the year, will be awarded a certificate of honor signed by the governor, Director Kilgore and Superintendent Brooks.

It is felt that this is a great forward movement in North Carolina and if carried out faithfully will result in much good to the state. Dr. Clarence Poe of the Progressive Farmer is a hearty supporter of the plan and feels that it will help in winning the financial independence of the Tar Heel farmer. Therefore, every farmer should give this program serious consideration and should see that either he personally gets one of these blanks or that one of his children brings one home from school. Let's really begin to live at home this year urge extension workers.

County agents in North Carolina conducted 23,165 crop demonstrations on 70,978 acres last year.

Trust men, and they will be true to you; treat them gently, and they will show themselves great.—Emerson.

STEEL PRODUCTS LAST YEAR INCREASED $8.00 PER TON

Steel products of all kinds, including building materials, have been advanced in price an average of $8 a ton since January, 1922, according to figures recently compiled by the Iron Trade Review. The composite average of all steel prices compiled by the Review was $41.61 a ton on February 1st. This was $1.08 a ton higher than the average price on December 1, 1922.

The tariff on steel manufactures is as high as the steel trust wanted it, and there is no opportunity for American consumers to benefit by a little competition. The tendency of the steel prices is to rise still further, according to information given out by the New York Times.

FILMS EXPLAIN THE TICK ERADICATION

From 1,000 to 2,000 persons living in rural districts, often remote from railroads and cities, are each week seeing the government motion pictures dealing with the eradication of cattle ticks and related subjects. The bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, has a portable motion picture outfit which is constantly on circuit in parts of the south where preliminary tick eradication is being conducted. Preliminary work consists in the explanation of the purpose and benefits of eradicating cattle fever ticks that in the past have taken an enormous toll from the live stock industry. Depending on weather conditions and density of population, the attendance ranges from 75 to 350. Showings are made during the day and evening. To many persons the government motion pictures are the first ones they have seen.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF LAND

NOTICE

From and after the date hereof, it shall be unlawful for any person or persons, (with the exception of railroad employees) unless boarding passenger trains, or assisting persons boarding or getting off of passenger trains, or business otherwise with such passenger trains, when passenger trains are at the station in the town of Williamston, N. C., to go nearer than fifteen feet.

There has been considerable trouble caused to passengers by people, especially the colored people, who have absolutely no business with the passenger trains, crowding up close to the trains and blocking the way so passengers and even the railroad employes can hardly get through.

Persons who have no business coming under the above heads are hereby notified that to go nearer than fifteen feet of the passenger trains when standing at the station on the depot are guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine or imprisonment, or both in the discretion of the mayor.

An officer will hereafter be on duty at the depot at train time.

Without any idea or intention of discriminating, this article is especially directed to the colored people.

Take notice and be governed accordingly.

This the 21st day of Feb'y, 1923.
HUGH G. HORTON,
2-23-3t. Mayor.

I'll kill your boll-weevils
at less cost and trouble

Not a few of them, nor half of them, but every single one of them, until you won't be able to find a live weevil in your cotton fields.

No Machinery—
No Night Work

Just a bucket, and a mop made of a rag and a stick, and one of your tenant's boys or girls to go through the rows, touching the top of each cotton plant one time, in passing by, with HILL'S MIXTURE.

You can raise a full crop of cotton if you'll use---

There are three elements to HILL'S MIXTURE—arsenate as a poison, molasses as a binder, and a third (secret) element which ATTRACTS the weevil. When a small quantity of the mixture is put on the top of a cotton plant, the weevil will hunt it out, eat it and die.

This secret ingredient makes it unnecessary to waste calcium arsenate by covering the entire plant, as in the dusting method, and the molasses holds every atom of the arsenate on the plant. It takes a heavy rain of half-an-inch or more to wash it off.

"Touch The Top—And Off They Drop"

Tests have been conducted by county agents and responsible farmers, where one dab of HILL'S MIXTURE was applied to the top of the cotton stalk and in from ten to fourteen hours, every boll weevil on the plant (sometimes 50 in number) were dead.

I've got no guns or sprays to sell you, which might get out of order. The simplicity of applying my mixture is one feature that has made it as popular as its efficiency. Then, too, it can be put on in the daytime, by inexperienced labor.

My Agent Can Show You The Proof!

I will be glad to send you, or my agent whose name is shown below, will be glad to show you a booklet containing scores of testimonial letters from scores of Burke County farmers, (both white and black) and from the President of the American Cotton Association, endorsing my mixture. The price of HILL'S MIXTURE is 77c per gallon, in 50-gallon barrels, delivered in North Carolina, (slight freight charge for other states), plus cost of barrel, which will be refunded upon return. My agent will give you full particulars. Every farmer who used Hill's Mixture in 1922 is going to use it this year. If you want to raise cotton as though there were no boll-weevil, place your order today.
