LECTURES OF INSTRUCTION ARE GIVEN IN COUNTY

Dr. B. W. Wells of State College Is Visiting High Schools

At the instance of the State Department of Education, Dr. B. W. Wells of the State College of agriculture and engineering, is visiting the various high schools of the county, the interest of science. The State Department of education is very anxious of strengthening science in the high schools so that the boys and girls may early begin their preparation for taking over the great agricultural, industrial and commercial activities of the State. It is a well known fact that the possibilities available in scientific work of some kind or other far exceed the number of people trained to take up the work in these positions.

In addition to his visits through talks to teachers and students in forwarding the interest of science in the high schools, Dr. Wells has been giving in a few places an evening scientific lecture on the remarkable vegetation of North Carolina. This lecture is illustrated by lantern slides showing scenes and plants in all parts of the State from the coast to the mountains. The presentation in a stylish manner, the remarkable diversity of conditions which characterize North Carolina. The fact of this diversity constitutes one of the basic reasons why North Carolina has such unusual resources, and is one of the outstanding states of the south.

WAKE FOREST GETS BIG FUND FROM BOARD

Education Board Remits $39,650.04 for Endowment Fund

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE, Wake Forest, N. C., has received a check for $39,650.04 from the general education board of New York city, according to announcement made today by Dr. W. L. Potter, president of the institution.

The gift of the education board was made under an agreement by which $300,000 was to be added to the endowment of the college, Wake Forest raising $200,000 and the general education board contributing the remaining $100,000.

Several months ago President Potter and Treasurer T. W. Brewer of Wake Forest, made a report to the officers of the general education board that Wake Forest had added $80,000 to her endowment. The education board sends the check, the receipt of which is announced by Dr. Potter in accordance with the regulation of the college.

general education board by Wake Forest, $200,000, to be raised to $300,000. Here, as in the first contract, the college is to raise two-thirds of the amount and the education board is to contribute a third. The college contract to raise $200,000 and the general education board to give $100,000.

COTTON PLOWS ON AHEAD FOR BIG PRICE GAIN

Market Makes Advance of 115 to 127 Points In One Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Buying orders poured into the cotton market from all quarters today, but chiefly from the interests who are much attracted over their supplies for the coming season. Prices as a result, with the exception of only slight reaction, moved steadily upward all day, closing at the top and 115 to 127 points higher.

The representative about $17.50 per bale advance since the recent government report reduced its crop estimate to only 10,250,000 bales, and it is the highest level since 1920.

A feature of today's business was the large volume of trade on the market, both raw and man-made. It is thought to be a real indication of the market's interest in the recent government forecast of a yield of approximately only 10,250,000 sales on top of the three other crops.

Either there must be a widespread curtailment to balance the reduced crop, market observers said, or there would not be enough cotton to get around and mills would be forced to close down. Business in club market showed some improvement today, heretofore, they failed to respond to the jump in the raw cotton, on the grounds that the public refused to pay advances.

"BEST WAY"

"If all men who changed straw hats for felt hats had them 'made to order,' many would wait months for their orders to be filled. The men of foresight would order months ahead."

This is true in the oil business. The men of foresight and good judgment will keep their cars supplied with high grade Texaco gasoline and Texaco motor oil.

When there is a better gas and motor oil made, the Texas Company will make it, and the Harrison Oil Company will sell it. We believe the best oil of the world produces today is Texaco, for everybody likes Texaco.

Motorist Held Liable For His Negligence

Holding that it is the automobilist's duty to slow up when old persons or children are near his line of travel, a Detroit judge denied a motion to dismiss the complaint of negligence against a careless driver whose car ran over and killed an elderly woman. The defendant's attorney moved to dismiss the complaint because of no criminal intent was evident in his client's intentions. Testimony showed that the woman stepped off the curb into the path of the defendant's car. The judge held it is the duty of the driver to stop when children or old persons are in the way.
