A GLANCE AT 1924

The business outlook for 1924 seems bright.

The world is just coming to its feet from the terrible world war struggle. The world supply of food and raw material have run low, and every man that produces should receive a reasonable reward.

International politics and influences business in many ways in the recent past. It is quite apparent that the influence of home politics will overcome all foreign influence this year. There is but one thing that will get Mr. Coolidge and that is protection conditions, the man who opens and closes the purse strings in this country want Coolidge and will unhesitatingly lower up to cause the people to forget.

General prosperity is attracted by practically all leading nations people, but no business ever gets so good that it should not be looked on with caution.

NEW YEAR AND RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions have made it much again and it is better to make a better one than in 1923. Just think how many resolutions were made a thing and then think how much easier it is not to do. After all it is not the resolutions we make that count, but the ones we keep that really help us.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY HAS THE LARGEST AUTO FACTORY IN ENGLAND

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 26. — The Manchester plant of the Ford Motor Company of England, Ltd., the largest automobile factory in the British Isles, will produce approximately 30,000 cars during the year 1924 according to a recent report.

The English company, formed in 1910 began operations in a small factory near London, where 170 cars were turned out the first year. The factory was moved to the new premises at Manchester, where the new plant occupies 2,240,000 square feet.

While the company was originally dependent on the Ford Motor company in America for parts, the new plant includes an entire plant for the production of every important unit. Thus the English Ford car, originally a combination of American parts and British assembly, is now 95 per cent British, both in manufacture and materials.

DUKE PASSES BUCK TO JOSEPHUS DANIELS

Hertford, N. C., Dec. 29. — "Buck Duke," the millionaire tobacco and hydro-electric power magnate, in answer to inquiries about the prospect of his becoming interested in the development of water power on the Roanoke river, to supply eastern North Carolina with electric service akin to that he is selling to towns, cities, and manufacturing plants in the West, says, "let Joe Daniels do it."

"The Duke" has evidently grown tired of reading the News and Observer's tirades against himself and his power company. The power company is now seeking an increased rate before the State Corporation Commission, and a warm fight is waging between those who side with power company and the users of power. Josephus Daniels is leading the onslaught against the increase in rate.

Regardless of the outcome of the rate increase and the fight between Daniels and Duke, eastern Carolina would welcome the harnessing of the Roanoke river power and turning it into commercial and municipal channels; and some day that very thing will be accomplished, and at some not distant date.

Somewhere another Duke is innocently now, but some day he'll pull that trick and make out of this old river a stream of more value than it now is.

"From time to time God drops a great idea into the soul of a great man. Often those men who live upon the existing institutions start the fire against the new idea. Sometimes they crucify its apostle; but ideas feed upon fagots, and grow through crucifixions."—Newell Dwight Hillis.

A honey bee's work consumes about half the hours of day light, the remaining hours of the twenty four being spent in rest, according to tests made by the United States Department of agriculture.

It is not the size of the poultry flock, but the way it produces that determines profits from hens, say poultry extension workers of the State college and Department of Agriculture. Therefore culling and good health are essential.

The New Touring Car $295 F.O.B. DETROIT

A Striking Value—at $295

Considering the improved appearance of the new Ford Touring Car, one would naturally expect a proportionate advance in price.

Larger scale production, however, has made it possible to incorporate in this new type touring car a number of decided improvements without increasing its cost to the purchaser. A comparison extending over a long period of years will reveal the fact that the present price is actually the lowest at which the five-passenger open car has ever been sold. The Ford Touring Car stands today, as it always has, a most remarkable value in the motor car field.
