MARTIN COUNTY TEACHERS MEET AT SCHOOL HOUSE

Much Business Disposed Of During The Meeting

On Saturday afternoon, February 16, seventy-nine of the Martin County teachers met in the Williamston School Auditorium for the fourth meeting of the Teachers' Association for 1923-1924.

Rev. E. D. Dodd of the local Methodist Church led in the devotional service. After reading a portion of the twelfth chapter of St. Mark, he offered a short prayer. He then outlined in brief the duties devolving upon the ministerial and teaching professions. Their aims are so nearly one that their task is a common one; the neglect on the part of teachers and ministers to perform this common task will mean that it will go without completion. Mr. Dodd urged that teachers realize the seriousness of their profession, accept their schools as trusts, and fulfill their obligations in the spirit of love.

The Secretary, upon the President's request, read the minutes of the January meeting. These were adopted as read.

Supt. Pope stated that one purpose of the County meetings is to bring in outside stimuli as a means of encouragement and incentive to the teachers. So, he introduced Mr. J. L. Leggett, an Instructor of East Carolina Teachers' College and Assistant State Inspector of the High Schools of this section. Prof. Leggett in his conversational way addressed the teachers. Several interesting illustrations were used by him to "clinch the idea" that he wished to imprint upon the minds and hearts of the teachers. He insisted that teachers enter upon teaching as a profession. He did not discredit the fitness which a "love for teaching" engenders, but he urged that teachers go into it as a business, with the idea that they must have a living. "Teaching ought to be a profession really and truly," he said. "Profits" have no place in the category of education. To be professional teachers must know not only subject matter and method, but also those whom they teach. To be more definite, they must know why children are backward, what opportunities children have at home for preparing lessons, assignments, and what the people of the community really want. When a teacher knows what the community wants and expects of teachers, then the teacher through perseverance can make his plans operative. One week of visitation in the homes of a community before the opening of school would effect much. Mr. Leggett believes that the first week of the school term would be wisely used if the teachers were hired to use it merely as a period of visitation. This preview of the community would largely give the physical conditions of children, their home conditions and advantages or disadvantages, the relation between family and child, and the outlook of the community in general upon school life and its problems.

Mr. Pope here expressed his sympathy for teachers in the country schools; for they have to combat with conditions so far from ideal. According to actual statistics conditions in the country are worse than those in town. For instance, Mr. Leggett quoted from Dr. Thomas Wood's account of defects: "In city schools, 33 per cent of children are defective in some respect; in country sections, 48 per cent are defective."

Mr. Pope next read Mr. Jule B. Warren's letter to the secretary in regard to the questions that will be considered at the State Assembly. In it he listed three topics—the publication of a professional magazine; the compilation of a code of ethics for teachers; and the continuance of the district meetings with less emphasis upon the State meeting. After reading this letter, Mr. Pope called for a discussion. A motion was made and seconded that Mr. Pope appoint a committee of three to draw up suggestive resolutions, which would, if approved, be sent to the Assembly. Messrs. M. J. Davis, H. M. Ainsley and Geo. W. Smith formulated these resolutions, and Mr. Davis, as chairman, presented them to the group for ratification.

"Whereas, we are cognizant of the pressing necessity of an official organ expressive of our hopes, sympathies and aspirations as professional teachers; and whereas, the additional subscription cost per year has been estimated to be less than the cost of a good teacher's magazine taken by our teachers to-day,

We, members of the Martin County Unit of the North Carolina Education Association, wish to go on record as favoring the publication of a magazine.

Mr. Pope gave the gist of Supt. A. T. Allen's letter in the interest of the Near East Relief. Mr. Allen's suggestion was that each child in the schools of the County donate one can of condensed milk for this purpose. Mr. Davis expressed a belief that all teachers would be interested and would want to aid in this cause; but that he doubted the wisdom of each child buying milk at retail prices, when the same amount of money per capita contributed to the North Carolina Committee might be used to a better advantage in buying the milk at wholesale determined upon. Another suggestion made by Supt. Allen in his letter was that all teachers tell their children of the necessity for observing the rules and regulations concerning the Highways, and to advise them to strictly obey them.

HON. A. WILTON McLEAN SPENDS THURSDAY HERE

Makes Favorable Impression On Those He Met

Hon. A. D. McLean, candidate for Governor, spent last night in town. Mr. McLean was returning from Elizabeth City where he had made a speech at the dedication of the new $500,000 school building in that town.

Mr. McLean met quite a number of our people while in town, and made a very favorable impression on all those who had the pleasure of meeting him.

McLean, from all indications, will be the next Governor of North Carolina. He is a plain man who came up just like most of our great men, from the farm and knows the ways and needs of the common people.

the fundamental principles of a teacher's contract, on the part of a few teachers of our State, and this neglect of these principles on the part of a few will tend to lower the high ideals of the vast majority in the profession.

We, the teachers of the Martin County Unit of the North Carolina Educational Association, are resolved to expose such contract breakers by pitiless publicity and to do all within our power to inspire and place a premium on the proper attitude of our teachers toward their contracts and their duties, and we further pledge our belief in a code of ethics, which may be proposed by a committee comprised of our best teachers and shall not be lower than the standards of conduct now required of a teacher and written in our School Law.

We further wish to recommend the continuance of the district meeting plan with the idea that less money shall be spent on the state meeting and more on the district meetings where the teachers can be reached.

We, also, wish to suggest that the North Carolina Education Association appoint a committee to investigate ways and means whereby teachers who ask may not be receiving certificates commensurate with their training and experience because of present rules of certificates, may be allowed the provision of appeal and adjudication not now to be had for exceptional cases.

A motion was made and seconded that the resolutions be accepted in toto and be incorporated in the minutes, as well as being sent to the Assembly. The motion carried as there was no opposition.

Martin County's membership in the State Association entitled it to eight delegates. Messrs. D. W. Arnold and G. W. Rhodes, and Mrs. H. Harrell were appointed by Mr. Pope to select delegates to the Assembly. They were authorized to let their choice as nearly as possible include those who desired to go. As a result, Messrs. D. W. Arnold, G. W. Rhodes, H. M. Ainsley, Geo. W. Smith and R. A. Pope, and Misses Florence Pritchett and Ruth Pitchford, and Mrs. J. L. Williams were selected to represent the local unit at the Fortieth Annual Session of the North Carolina Education Association to be held in Raleigh March 12-14.

Mr. E. N. Riddle of Hamilton spoke for a short while on "Physical Drones." He gave two reasons for these. They are drones by choice or from necessity. He said that there is a practical remedy for this particular kind of "laziness or congestion." The entire student body should be given some kind of calisthenics. Different groups must be organized in view of age and ability among the boys and the girls. A monthly grade on it will, he thinks, secure a more hearty cooperation on the part of the pupils.

Mr. M. H. Wolff of Williamston was to have given some practical suggestions on sports, but he was not present.

Supt. Pope gave the gist of Supt. A. T. Allen's letter in the interest of the Near East Relief. Mr. Allen's suggestion was that each child in the schools of the County donate one can of condensed milk for this purpose. Mr. Davis expressed a belief that all teachers would be interested and would want to aid in this cause; but that he doubted the wisdom of each child buying milk at retail prices, when the same amount of money per capita contributed to the North Carolina Committee might be used to a better advantage in buying the milk at wholesale determined upon. Another suggestion made by Supt. Allen in his letter was that all teachers tell their children of the necessity for observing the rules and regulations concerning the Highways, and to advise them to strictly obey them.

When the Plymouth train pulled in this morning, a colored woman, Ada Respar of Shiloh, stepped off and began making inquiries for her long lost husband. She produced her marriage certificate, showing she was married at Camden, N. C. in 1912. She says she has two children and that she and her husband had lived happily together after their marriage until three years ago when he wandered away and was apparently lost.

WIFE NUMBER 1 COMES TO CLAIM HER BELOVED

Respar Goes To Jail As Bond Was Failed Him

When the Plymouth train pulled in this morning, a colored woman, Ada Respar of Shiloh, stepped off and began making inquiries for her long lost husband. She produced her marriage certificate, showing she was married at Camden, N. C. in 1912. She says she has two children and that she and her husband had lived happily together after their marriage until three years ago when he wandered away and was apparently lost.

Recently, however, the news reached her that he was now abiding in Williamston with wife No. 2. Whereupon she set out at once to claim her own. She started operations in the proper channels and did not go with pistols, knives, sticks and guns to slash him and banish his new young and tender bride but went to the county solicitor and procured the necessary papers to bring to her what is rightfully hers.

After Mrs. Respar No. 1 had procured a warrant and sent her beloved an invitation to meet her at the courthouse, Jude Smith heard the preliminary charge and bound him over to answer the Superior court at the March term. He failed to furnish bond and was placed in jail, leaving his wife No. 1 and two children and wife No. 2, the one child all lonely and sad and wad.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The announcement of the following engagement will be of much interest to the many friends of Miss Wadsworth, who has visited her sister, Mrs. James Watts, Jr. real often in the last few months:

The engagement of Miss Mary Peebles Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Wadsworth, of near New Bern, and member of the city high school faculty, to Mr. John Coridon Lyons, instructor in the department of French at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, was announced Thursday afternoon at a lovely Valentine party given by Mrs. Albert T. Willis in honor of Miss Wadsworth and her sister, Mrs. James W. Watts, Jr., of Williamston, who is the house guest of Mrs. Willis.

Miss Wadsworth looked charming on the occasion in a pleated dress of apple green chiffon. She is an alumna of William and Mary college and is very popular throughout Carolina and Virginia. News of her engagement came as a surprise to her many friends. Mrs. Watts wore during the afternoon a gown of black chiffon velvet with cut steel beads. Mrs. Willis wore an imported model of king blue crepe romaine beaded in bronze and blue.

Master Albert Willis, Jr., dressed in a white suit trimmed with red hearts, greeted the guests at the front door of the Willis home, which was beautifully decorated with a profusion of sweetpeas, carnations, jonquils, narcissi, and fern. Little Miss Mary Turner Willis, in a white Valentine dress and red hearts, invited the guests into the cloak room. Five tables were arranged in the living room for mah jongg, with Chinese place cards and pencils.

After one game of mah jongg Miss Mary Turner Willis and Master Albert Willis entered with baskets filled with red satin heart boxes, one of which they presented to every guest. On the inside on top of heart-shaped candles was seen an announcement card bearing a cupid peering over a heart on which was the following message:

J. C. L.-M. P. W.

After Miss Wadsworth had received many good wishes, congratulations and toasts, she was given a large, red, heart-shaped package, in which she found a corsage of pink roses and valley lilies. In the center of the flowers was a small, white ivory box containing a handsome diamond solitaire set high in platinum, the engagement ring.

The playing of mah jongg was resumed and at the conclusion of several games Miss Kathleen-Caton was awarded the prize, a blue powder jar, for having made the highest score. The hobby prize a novel sewing set, went to Miss Gertrude Carraway. Guest of honor prizes, too, were given, guest towels to Miss Wadsworth and a flowered val pocket to Mrs. Watts.

LOCAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO GIVE DANCE

Dance Complimentary to Bankers and Their Friends

On Friday evening, immediately after the Banquet held by the Bankers Association, the Chamber of Commerce of the Town of Williamston, North Carolina, will give a dance complimentary to the Bankers, and their friends. Members of the Chamber of Commerce and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

The dance will be at the Dixie Ward house, and admittance will be by card only. Mr. Oscar Anderson, chairman of the dance committee, will have charge of same and cards can be had by applying to the Chairman, Oscar Anderson.

Misses Mary and Geneva Cooke Entertain Thurs.

Misses Mary and Geneva Cooke were hostesses to a large number of their friends both in and out of town at a mid-night lunch during intermission of the Valentine dance here last Thursday. The Valentine idea was carried out in the decorations of red and white with favors of red hearts. A salad course was served. Those present were Miss Myrtle Wynne, Mr. Bryant Garstapen, Mr. Lon Hassell, Mr. and Mrs. George Cherry, Mr. Joe Cherry, Miss Marie Gatling and Mr. Captain of Windsor, Mr. Elby Johnson, Mrs. Baldwin, Miss Francis, Handy, Mr. Happy Ross, Mr. John Johnson and Mr. Bradford Forbes of Washington, Mr. Audrey Leggett of Tarboro, Mr. Henry Carson West of Nashville, Mr. Edgar Johnson, Mr. Dan Parker and Mr. Robert Atkins of Robertsonville, Mr. Izzie Camping of Edenton, Mr. Jack Barker of Abbeville, Mr. Sherrod Landing and Mr. Brown Neville of Whitakers and Mr. John L. Jenkins of Ayden.

TWO CARS CLASH IN FRONT OF COURT HOUSE

Two cars, Fords, ran together yesterday near the court house, one was driven by Mr. J. S. Cooke the other by Miss Myrt Wynne.

Fortunately no one was hurt, but was indeed a narrow escape as the damage done to the cars showed a pretty bad wreck. The tires, windshields and lights of both cars were smashed and cut to pieces.

The cause of the accident has not been learned.

HEART PIERCED

A. W. Williams, age 32 years, a well known farmer living on the Fayetteville road near Myatt's Chapel, six miles from Raleigh was almost instantly killed Saturday morning when his heart was pierced by the shaft of a light break cart, with which his automobile collided. He died on the way to the hospital in Raleigh.

Williams was on his way to Raleigh in a stripped down Ford when he met his death. A young colt being broken to harness by a man named Ogburn, Williams slowed down to pass the colt and just at the moment of passing the colt took fright and leaped across the road. The left shaft of the cart pierced Williams' breast.

Funeral services will be conducted from Myatt's chapel at 2:30 Sunday afternoon by Rev. Dr. W. McC. White, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Raleigh. Williams was well known in the county, where he was held in high esteem. The accident is said by witnesses to have been unavoidable. Williams was well to the left side of the road.

Valentine place cards with individual red candles marked the places of the guests at three tastily-appointed tables. On the center table was a handsome centerpiece of red sweet-peas and fern arranged in the shape of a heart.

A chicken salad course with tomato jelly and coffee was served, followed by ice cream in the shape of white roses, cake in the shape of hearts, and salted nuts. On each plate of the second course was a sprig of orange blossoms.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Willis' delightful party were Miss Mary Wadsworth, Mrs. James W. Watts, Jr., of Williamston, Mesdames H. C. Waldrop, L. I. Moore, Allen Ives, Elizabeth Congdon, Haywood Guion, Vaughan Griffin, J. C. Begg, H. B. Wadsworth, and Euclid McWhorter, and Misses Nettie Capel Daniels, Sarah Holland Hester, Beth Ferebee, Emily Ward, Virginia Wilson, Miriam Kock, Kathleen Carter, cGrude and

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY FOR MARTIN FORMED

Meetings To be Held in The Schoolhouses Of County

The Martin County Agricultural Society held its first session to complete its plans of organization in the courthouse Friday, February 15.

W. C. Manning was elected president of the society and F. B. Egan secretary.

Perhaps it would be well to state that this organization was formed at a meeting held in the Board of County Commissioners' room, the meeting of the Society was held Friday, Feb. 15, at which time the members were elected from each township as members of the society.

The purpose of the organization is to promote the agricultural interests of the county, to work for the improvement of the soil, to bring all the people of the county together in one great organization with the purpose to help in the county.

There is a committee to hold meetings in the townships for the purpose of forming local units to handle such matters as may be considered for their own good.

The following appointments have already been made and Mr. Brandon, the county agent, will be present at each meeting to render such help as he can give.

The meetings will be held in the schoolhouses of the several townships at 7:30 p. m. on the days mentioned below: Sandy Ridge, Tuesday, Feb. 19; Hixton, Wednesday, Feb. 20; Southwick's Creek, Thursday, Feb. 21; Mill, Friday, Feb. 22; Oak City, Monday, Feb. 25; Bohasville, Friday, Feb. 28; Hixton, Wednesday, Feb. 27; Bear Grass, Thursday, Feb. 28; Malberry Branch, Friday, Feb. 29; Jameville, Monday, March 3; Elm Hill, Tuesday, March 4; Cross Road, Wednesday, March 5; Gold Post, Thursday, March 6; Parmele, Friday, March 7.

If the people will attend these meetings and give them their hearty support they are sure to work much good.

MR. BRANDON GIVES FACTS ON IRISH POTATOES

Irish potatoes require a light and loamy soil well filled with vegetable matter. They do not give so good results on the heavy clay soils though they are produced there. They were those of an improved variety. The first crop from 40 bushels of the best stock raised in the county was a crop of 100 bushels. The best land and preparation of soil and the use of manure, clover and other crops from the field and the use of fertilizer the best of the farmer and smoother the potatoes will be.

In the early part of the season you should use 9 per cent available phosphoric acid, 5 per cent nitrogen and 6 per cent potash. This should be applied in rows and well worked in and before planting potatoes. It is not good practice to let the potatoes come in contact with the fertilizer as it is applied in the furrow.

Stable manure if used should be applied some time before planting the potatoes. It should be hoed, raked and well stirred in the soil. Where stable manure is used in the potatoes they are rough and dark in color, and more diseased.

The tubers generally cut with two or three eyes to the piece and planted from 42 to 48 inches in hill and row, 3 to 4 feet apart.

The Irish calendar and this are the best varieties to plant in this county. They should be planted in the time the land begins to get a little warm and the danger of a severe frost has passed.

Now to start with, some one has said that seven dollars out of ten in Eastern North Carolina is spent for food and feed stuff brought into the state. It has also been said that money talks, but all it says to an Eastern North Carolina farmer is good bye.

This being the case let's plan a home garden, a home orchard, and raise plenty of hogs, chickens and have a milk cow, then we can really pride ourselves of the fact that we are real farmers.

(By T. B. Brandon, County Agent)

BANKS TO CLOSE HERE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Bankers Will Attend Their Annual Meeting

The Farmers and Merchants Bank and the Martin County Savings and Trust Company will be closed Friday, February 22, 1924 to be a legal holiday. Washington's birthday.

There will be no business of any kind transacted because the officials of all the banks will be in attendance at the annual meeting of the Bankers' Association.

Federal Reserve Ban Case Tried By Highest Court

Washington, Feb. 18.—Federal reserve banks, acting as collecting banks, must require non-member banks to pay in cash or its equivalent checks drawn upon them or accept liability in case other forms of settlement proves worthless, the supreme court ruled today in a case brought by the federal reserve bank of Richmond, Va. against Mallory Brothers.

A check drawn upon N. H. G. Bal-four on the bank of Lumber Bridge, N. C., in favor of Mallory Brothers was presented for payment by the federal reserve bank of Richmond, which was given a draft upon the Atlantic Bank and Trust Company, of Greensboro, N. C. When presented for payment the Greensboro bank wired the federal reserve bank the draft was no good. Before the federal reserve bank could collect from the bank of Lumber Bridge that bank went into the hands of receivers.

The federal courts of North Carolina held that the federal reserve bank should not have accepted the exchange draft but should have insisted upon currency and, therefore, must stand the loss. The decision was affirmed by the supreme court today.

MR. DAVID GIBB, DEAD

Mr. David Gibb, treasurer of the North State Lumber Company died at his home in Ayden last week.

Mr. Gibb was for some years connected with the Parmele-Eccleston Lumber Company located at Parmele when the North State was organized and engaged in milling at Ayden. They established their principal office there and so they have continued their principal office in this state. Mr. Gibb was a native of Scotchman and had no real relatives in this country.

MR. GRAY ROGERSON VISITING RELATIVES

Mr. Gray Rogerson who was raised in Bear Grass, the son of the late R. S. Rogerson, is visiting relatives in the county.

Mr. Rogerson left Martin county 31 years ago and went to Smackover, Arkansas, bought land which was soon found to be in the oil region. A town soon sprung up and built partially on his land and, of course, when a man's land produces oil and supports a city it is all peace and easy with him. Mr. Rogerson then went to Colorado and located.

This is another Martin County man who has made good.

JUDGE IS SHOT AND KILLED IN COURT ROOM

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 18.—William M. Morning, 56, veteran district judge was shot and killed early today in his court room by Wallace G. Wallick in turn, shot and killed himself. The justice was hot through the heart.

BEAR GRASS ADDS ANOTHER VICTORY TO ITS LIST

The Bear Grass school basket team defeated the Everetts team Thursday afternoon by the score of 15 to 8. Everetts threw a scare into the Bear Grass team during the first quarter but their rushing attack was soon overcome by Bear Grass.

Harris led both teams in scoring with seven of his team's fifteen points. Clark led his team in scoring with six out of the eight scored. Malone and Bailey, the Bear Grass guardsmen, kept the Everetts score down by breaking up a large number of passes.
