Cleveland, April 7.—A. M. Pratt D. M. Cleveland, April 7.—Adelbert D. M. Pratt, prominent Norwalk, Ohio, stock buyer, for whom impressive funeral services were held Friday in Norwalk, has been found alive and well in Cleveland.

Pratt was "buried" after the body of a man found floating in Lake Erie near Toledo had been "identified" by Pratt's wife and daughter as that of Pratt.

THE FAMILY GARDEN NECESSARY THIS YEAR

Raleigh, N. C. April 10.—"The advent of the cotton boll weevil into North Carolina calls for more diversified farming and the growing of sufficient vegetables and fruit for home use. In the past the growing of vegetables has been neglected in eastern Carolina, but with the changing conditions many people are now giving more attention to this important phase of agriculture," says R. F. Payne, extension horticulturist for the State College of Agriculture.

Mr. Payne states that every farm home in North Carolina should have a home garden large enough to give a sufficient supply of vegetables for the table every day in the year. Vegetables form a very important part of the diet, and no meal is complete without some. Our bodies demand certain elements to keep them in good working order. If these elements are not supplied and in the right amounts, the penalty is poor health and high doctor bills.

"Children are not receiving their just and lawful birthright unless they are supplied with the necessary food for developing strong and healthy bodies," says Mr. Payne. "Many parents are willing to work early and late in order to give their children some of the advantages they didn't have, yet they overlook the all-year garden, something that costs very little and gives a profitable and varied return.

"The surplus vegetables can be sold locally at a good profit. There is always a demand for good, fresh vegetables and they can easily be grown in the home garden. A regular and profitable trade can quickly be built up with the surplus, and thus a good cash crop is provided for practically every month in the year.

"The size of the home garden depends upon the size of the family and the amount of vegetables desired for local sales. Every garden should contain some of the following: Leaf crops, lettuce, cabbage, spinach, kale, parsley, beet tips, collards, turnip tops. Petiole crops, celery, rhubarb, stem crops, asparagus, potatoes, kohlrabi, onion, carrots, turnips, beets, radishes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes egg plant, peppers, string beans, sweet corn, cucumbers, cantaloupes, watermelons, squash, beans and peas."

COTTON GROWERS TO STAGE ONE DAY MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Raleigh, April 10.—With a membership of almost 250,000 cotton growers in the Southern states, the cooperative cotton associations have made their plans for a one day membership drive. The plan provides that every local organization in the twelve Southern states will do intensive work on Friday, April 18.

Preparatory meeting of the members of the association will be held on Wednesday, April 16. Every local organization in twelve Southern states will plan their work for the following Friday. The same plan will be followed everywhere. A list of non-members will be prepared and studied and divided up and the members of the association will go out in their several neighborhoods two and two and make a determined effort to secure the signed contract of every non-member cotton grower in one day.

B. S. COURTNEY

You can get the most food value out of wheat by eating bakings that are made from good plain flour. A dependable baking powder must be employed or you do not get the full nutritious value of the wheat—nor will your bakings be as palatable and easily digested.

The same results cannot be had if you use Self Rising Flours, which are improperly packed in porous sacks or bags, thus allowing absorption of moisture from the air. Food authorities and physicians agree that bakings that do not raise properly are bad for health. Such foods are hard to digest and in time cause stomach trouble.

Mothers who are interested in the proper growth and health of their children (and all mothers are) should never use anything but a good brand of plain flour and a time-tested leavener such as Calumet—the economy Baking Powder.

Calumet has more than the ordinary leavening strength. It raises every baking to its height of nutritious value. It is pure and dependable—do not look for a substitute—there is none.

Use Calumet and be positive of wholesome nutritious and economical foods.
