MISLEADING TALK ON TAXES

(Editorial From Chapel Weekly) Josiah W. Bailey is talking a lot of telligent man, he knows that the state and the counties and the towns have convey the impression that his elec-

"The average tax rate in North Carolina in 1912 was $1.34 on the hundred; today it is about $1.50," Mr. is quoted as saying in a speech the other day. Well, what of it? This fact in itself is without any special for worth paying for? Everybody knows that the citizens of North Caroline are now enjoying far more of the blessings of civilization, and in general are on a higher level of edu cation and health and prosperity, than they were 15 or 25 years ago. And this increase has come about through the action of the people themselves in vot ing to spend money to make their communities better communities and North Carolina a better state! To keep talking about the tax rate in that Mr. Bailey will get anywhere by this kind of campaigning.

the complete text of policy, which al of the state's progressive policy. of the fact, that, should be become North Carolina. That is, he could not do it unless he deliberately set out North Carolina by employing his cleverness and eloquence and high position to preach an anti-school, antiroads, anti-health, and generally an anti-progress doctrine. And of cours Mr. Bailey would not do that. He does not want to see his state turn backward. He should not becloud the issue by leading people to suppose that he, if elected, would somehow be able to cut their local tax bills.
