TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1924.

How pleasing it is to us to know that all the crazy people are behind the bars or in some hospital. Just so they are out of our sight everything is well and good. By what means and what processes the unfortunate ones reached the jails, the hospitals and other places we don't know, and more, we don't seem to care.

A visit to the jail of this county the other day revealed a sight that would pierce the heart of the most brutal being. Before we go any further allow us to say that we were at the court house and the sheriff was going to feed the prisoners and asked us to go down and see his boarders. We hesitated a bit and just to see a scene that is no near and yet so far, we accepted sheriff Roberson's invitation. We found a jail that was clean, everything in place and we imagine there are few jails in the country as clean as this one. The sheriff had four boarders, two of them were serving short sentences, the other two serving terms of an indefinite nature. These last two struck us in a peculiar way and made us question our view of justice was present.

One of them, an old negro too old to support himself and totally crazy, the other a middle aged colored man and who is adjudged crazy. We asked the old man his name and he insisted that it was "Goldsboro". We asked him also several other questions all of which he was unable to answer. The sheriff came around at that time and gave him his mid-day meal and the old man looked at his food as anyone else would and prepared to consume it. This was the only point we could check in favor of him, for he ate just as millions of others do. We asked the sheriff about him and he told us he was Neal Andrews of near Robersonville and that his father had to send him away because he was unable to care for him. It hardly seems fair that the poor old fellow should have been sent to jail. Of course he will be sent to Raleigh in the near future, but when you stop and think how old he is and think how old his father must be, why it looks as if two should be added to the list at Martin's own county home.

The middle aged man is Wheeler Hassell, a World War veteran and who was shell shocked in the struggle and from which he has never recovered. He fought for us and now we place him in jail and call it his reward. Hassell asked for his civil government in order that he might be able to read about the constitution of the United States and so that he could mark out the eighteenth amendment. On this particular point some would judge him perfectly sane, but he is a War vet and yet he is in jail—in jail because we are not appreciative enough for his services to help and see the proper authorities to get him in a government hospital. The sheriff is doing everything possible to have him removed but so far he has failed in his efforts.

Those two humans are out of our sight and so long as they remain so why worry is the attitude of some.

Cold weather is losing its case in the season's court and it won't be long now before the weather complainers will wish cold weather had won.

—IN WILLIAMSTON—

What town has got a splendid street? Where men say when they chance to meet,
I tell you boys it's hard to beat:
—Williamston.

Where dry-goods stores are up-to-date And drug stores too I calculate, As good as any in the State:
—In Williamston.

Where grocers have a well filled store, With farmers products all galore And promise of abundance more:
—Williamston.

A bridge that's three or four miles long; A subject for a fabled song, Splendidly built so neat and strong:
—Williamston.

It's gentle blood you claim well then, Your fathers all were gentlemen, And this is true I'm pleased to pen:
—In Williamston.

Keep the traditions of your race And do not let them fall apart, That meaner things may take their place:
—In Williamston.

My name has kin in this old State Tho' not of very recent date Warners and Washingtons did mate:
—Near Williamston.

And so I'm one with you, you see; When we come down to pedigree, And love to see you all agree,
—In Williamston.

And so I wish to see your name; Should be observed without a stain, When you such Ancestry proclaim:
—In Williamston.

And why I should suggest to you That to tradition you be true Before I bid you all adieu,
—In Williamston.

J. E. WARNER

THE DAMAGE TO SKEWARKEE

This is surely the age of advertising—that fine art which keeps before the public eye the goods of the dealers, but so often this art loses its beauty by constant repetition. The clubs in this and other states are waging a war against the numerous billboards along the beautiful highways. Whether this is fair or not remains to be discussed. But a close observer will readily see that the ad-

FOR OVER 40 YEARS

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE has been used successfully in the treatment of Catarrh. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which Quickly Relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic, which acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces, thus reducing the inflammation. Sold by all druggists. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

vertisers are overdoing the thing; they are assuming that the world is theirs and, therefore, the highways are peculiarly their own. Not content with one display, they string the ads along like peas in a pod until the eye of the autoist gets a blurred vision of the whole, and the sameness becomes tiresome. Modesty in advertising is just as effective and far more pleasing to the public.

The effect of overdoing the thing can be seen at Skewarkee Church, that beautiful spot with its historic structure and stately pines, and graceful cedars; the situation is pleasing and just at the entrance to Williamston on the Martin-Beaufort Highway, and yet a lover of the beautiful is shocked at the appearance of the spot. Up and down, over and under, sidewise and crosswise, signs appear ranging from the best cure for dog mange to filmy garments for "dead game sports". Every tree along the length of the grove is covered with signs, many repetitions making the advertising scheme a huge joke.

What we desire to learn is why the people interested in this spot are so indifferent to its beauty and upkeep. Why not order every sign taken down, shrub the undergrowth, cut out enough cedars to open a view in the lower part of the grove (so that evil-doers cannot hide therein), and give the entire space a good spring cleaning? The only sign that should be found at Skewarkee would be the name of the church and the date of its incorporation, so that strangers will know something of the historic spot. Why not start a movement to rid the place of the spoilers?—Hattie Throver.

When it comes to the true merits of Williamston, Rev. J. E. Warner has recorded them in his poem "In Williamston". We are every fortunate to have Mr. Warner to contribute to the paper and we are sure our readers enjoy his poems, not to mention the good points they carry.

Hate Dishwashing? Read This Carefully

NO longer is dishwashing a distasteful task to thousands of women. They now use Red Seal Lye to soften the water and loosen the dirt and grease. Then a quick rinse in hot water and the dishes and silver are not only immaculately clean but sanitary as well. Try washing dishes the "Red Seal" way.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Our Readers Want to Know
Jobs that housewives used to dread—such as cleaning toilets, sinks and greasy pots and pans—are now made easy tasks by letting Red Seal Lye do the "dirty work."

Red Seal Lye is the best odor-destroyer you ever used. And as a disinfectant there is nothing that approaches this handy household product in effectiveness.

Thrifty women by the thousands make their own soap right at home by using Red Seal Lye in combination with meat scraps and grease.
