Farmers Are Good Pay, Extensive Holder of Farm Mortgages Says, Citing Infrequent Foreclosures

FERTILIZING

The farmers who have made use of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's farm loan division represent twenty-five states, and the total area on which mortgages are held (approximately 1,750,000 acres), would constitute a plot of land the size of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

These farm investments on December 31, 1923, totaled $142,244, $74,572. Of this amount $45,512, 600 was loaned last year, according to a statement recently issued by Robert Lynn Cox, Second Vice-President, and head of the Metropolitan's farm loan division.

The extent of the crop production of 2,750,000 acres (covered under mortgages to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company) is indicated by the fact that if only 20 per cent. of the acreage were put in corn, the annual production, figuring 35 bushels to the acre, at an average price of 65 cents, would make a return of $28,687, 500.

RICE GROWING IN ARKANSAS

Loans are made in the best agricultural sections of Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and other states, chiefly in the central, southwestern and northwestern territory. Despite widely current reports of the serious situation facing farmers, it is a noticeable fact that Mr. Cox reports only 45 foreclosures pending out of 15,648 mortgages. Only eight farms have been placed in foreclosure in Mississippi and four of these were subsequently reclaimed.

According to Mr. Cox, a realization of the economic hope of the American farmer, long deferred, is now in sight. "The farmer," he said, "is getting at last his chance to share largely in the economic better economic conditions in the world, and I am sure he will not disappoint those who believe we can look to rural surroundings for the development of our best citizenship."
