Entered at the Post Office at Williamston, North Carolina as second-class matter, under the act of March 3, 1879.
Address all communications to The Enterprise, Williamston, N. C.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 5, 1924.

The opening-up of a hardware store in our city supplies a missing link in the business chain of Williamston and narrows the gap in the business unit of Martin county.

With an up to the minute hardware store, selling everything and at a price within the reach of all, Williamston should feel fortunate and give its unflinching support to such a business.

REAL DEMOCRATIC INDUSTRY

Employees of the telephone industry now number over 350,000. In 1923 the company had 281,149 stockholders, about one-sixth of whom were employees of the Bell System.

Adding the number of employees of the Bell System who are not stockholders to the total number of stockholders, we find an army of 594,293 persons directly interested in the telephone industry. One hundred thousand additional employees of the Bell System are now paying for stock on the installment basis.

This company has a larger number of stockholders than any other organization in the country and represents real "democracy" in industry.

TAXATION AND TAX-

EXEMPT INCOME REPORT

The Federal Trade Commission recently submitted to the Senate a report of taxation and tax-exempt income.

The report shows the amount of tax exempt securities now outstanding; estimates the amounts held by corporations and individuals and the taxes which might be collected from them, if they were taxable; shows the increases of indebtedness, national, state and local, and the purposes for which incurred; gives the aggregate tax burdens, national, state and local, and considers where the heaviest burdens lie.

The total amount of tax-exempt securities outstanding on December 31, 1922, was about $32,000,000,000 and consists of nearly $12,000,000,000 of wholly tax-free and over $20,000,000,000 of surtaxable securities. Of the wholly tax-free obligations, $2,294,000,000 were federal and $8,797,000,000 were state and local.

The general taxpayer must make up to the government the amounts which it loses through inability to tax the income from these billions and future issues of tax-exempt bonds.

BURLINGTON MAN PROVIDES AID FOR DESTITUTE PEOPLE

(Burlington News)
The sight of a man, his wife, and five tiny tots apparently in the worst circumstances, was too much for W. H. Morton, a cotton mill man here, who followed an impulse to approach the family moving east along the tracks of the Southern Railway. In the arms of both the father and mother huddled little bits of humanity too fragile to trudge their way. Clinging to the other arm of each were other little folks, travel-worn and hungry.

Mr. Morton was told by the husband that he had left Siler City in search for work. He expected to find it in the textile mills here, but found them in most part idle, with a great surplus of labor waiting for the full time resumption of their means of livelihood.

To the question, "Where are you going?" the man replied: "To Durham." And the trip was to be made over the weary stretch of cross-ties that are almost in countless thousands between here and there. He viewed the look of "lost hope" on the faces, then asked, "Have you had anything to eat?" They had not.

Soon the unfortunate family was seated in a cafe for the first meal of a long day. According to information gathered from a source other than Mr. Morton, he then loaded them in his car and carried them to Hillsboro.

There he gave the story to the chief of police, who assured him he would find them lodging for the night, and would see to it that they would not have to walk on their journey to Durham.

Although the teeth of poverty had gnawed to the core, this man, with a loyal wife, did not seek out the great motor traffic lanes, where a life might easily have been had. Some spark that few go on foot, where the misery of each step might be endured as their own, the pangs of hunger subdued, and the whines of little tots stifled out by the breeze.

According to this man, many textile operatives are up against it. Few of them, he stated, have laid aside savings that balance the scale of months with their earning power partially or wholly cut off.

News items in the big American ladies state that President Coolidge, get tom cat is gone, that he deliberately and perhaps foolishly walked away from the White House, the world's headquarters for good times, and yet Tom could stand it no longer.

It is not stated in the news item why Tom left such elegant apartments to mingle in society of lower degrees. It may be that the White House foods were too rich, or there was too much hand shaking, or it may be that Tom was getting too many political secrets or perhaps the faithful old cat could not stand the address of his good master when the names of Davis and Bryan were mentioned. It is also possible that Old Tom saw the end of his reign at the White House and he thought it wise to leave in peace in August rather than be swept out to meet the wintry breeze of March the 4th.

Rather than say, foolish cat it may be better to say wise old Tom.

The meeting at the Roanoke Fair Grounds here next Saturday is one of great importance to every man, woman and child. The meeting has to do with the interests and the future of the people in this section and therefore should be well attended. The speakers are making only four stops in this great State; so the people of this section should feel honored and make the most of the meeting.

The catching of a bunch of sugar thieves is of not so much importance as the example it gives. No matter what methods one may use, if his actions be sneaking, he is sure to be caught. It may require a long time or he may be caught in the first steps, but to go on and on and not be caught is no more.

Just four more weeks before the farmer will know what to expect for his days of toil in the field.

Are you self-conscious about the impression you make on people?

PERSONAL appearance has a lot to do with the way you feel. Clothes count, of course. But still there is one thing so many people overlook—something that at once brands them as either fastidious or careless—their teeth.
Notice today how you, yourself, watch another person's teeth when he or she is talking. If the teeth are not well kept they at once become a liability.
