FOURTH WEEK OF REVIVAL ENDS NEXT SUNDAY

Good Derived Very Outstanding in Many Respects

This marks the fourth week of the Leaman-Coston revival and according to statements made by Mr. Leaman the party will remain here at least another week. At one of his services, Mr. Leaman stated that the revival would close when the people of the town were in a better position to meet their God.

Mr. Leaman stated in his last night's sermon that the work of God had just commenced in our town, that the ground had been prepared and that some real work of God would be accomplished.

The good derived from the meeting thus far is very outstanding in many respects. The Sunday schools have realized an increase in attendance of over 200 per cent in some cases while it has increased greatly in all. Two Christian federations have been formed, one by the men and one by the ladies of the town. There is to be another federation formed and will be among the young ladies of the town. The exact number that has been turned to God is not known at present, but it is certain that it will be several hundred. While these may be the outstanding features of the meeting thus far, the good does not stop there but reaches many corners and crevices where good was unknown before.

Sunday afternoon Mr. Leaman will preach to women only. The service will be held at three o'clock in the afternoon and every woman that can possibly attend is urged to do so.

For the men a meeting will be held Sunday afternoon also, but not at the tabernacle. The place of the meeting will be announced later by Mr. Leaman.

The attendance upon the meeting during the early part of the week was large when the condition of the weather is taken into consideration. Since the bad weather, the attendance has gradually increased, and last night the Evangelist's sermon was heard by most 2,000 people.

The merchants of the town are closing their stores and are attending the morning services. The graded school attended yesterday and this morning in a body and Mr. Leaman spoke to them this morning.

Wednesday Morning's Sermon

Wednesday morning's service at the tabernacle was enjoyed by all present, the sermon preached that morning on the "Judgments" was one of the most interesting that has been heard during the entire meeting.

The Evangelist said that the prevailing idea of a general judgment, where all people, great and small, good and bad, would come together to be graded out, some to the right and some to the left, was an error. But there are five different judgments and when an individual has obeyed Christ, there will then be no more condemnation and every sin will be forgiven, though sins may have been committed.

The second judgment will be only for the purpose of rewarding the believers and only believers will be judged. The acts of charity done to help the poor, the church work, and other good works done in the name of Jesus by the believers will be the only ones counted. The giving of millions to feed the poor unless given in the name of the Lord will count for naught.

The third judgment will be at the second coming of Christ, when he comes to judge the nations. First his judgment will be of the saints and then the saints will attend him in the judgment and many people will be left without a chance, after this judgment.

The fourth judgment will only be for sinners, and will be for those who are then dead and may die thereafter. This judgment will be held before the Great White Throne, more than a thousand years after the millennium. At this judgment there will not be a single Christian.

The fifth judgment will only deal with the faults of the Christians.

The Evangelist stated that he would not discuss what was commonly known as the sixth judgment, for the reason that he did not understand it and that he had never yet seen anyone who did. He refused to discuss anything of which he knew nothing about. The judgment referred to was addressed to the people of God in these words, "Know ye not, that ye shall judge angels?"

Last Evening's Sermon

Last evening's sermon was taken Paul's vision in the forest and it was a very fine dissertation on the

WOMAN'S FEDERATION FORMED

Forty Members Enrolled At Meeting Yesterday Afternoon

Woman's Federation was organized yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wheeler Martin on Main street. There were about forty members enrolled and there are many more who express their desire to join.

Rev. Leaman of the Evangelistic party presided over the meeting and helped the ladies to complete their organization details. Mrs. Wheeler Martin was elected president, Mrs. J. L. Rodgers, vice president and Mrs. J. W. Watts, jr., secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Leaman explained the mission of the Federation to the women, giving them the duties of all members of a Christian Women's Federation. They are to go out among the people of the town and county and testify for Christ and to help save the lost. The organization will hold three meetings during the remainder of this week and the next and as long as the revival meeting lasts. During that time the meetings will be held in private homes, but other plans will be made to carry on the work after the close of the revival.

The Men's Federation was formed several weeks ago and this organization is doing splendid work; the members already having conducted a service out of town.

There is yet to be another federation formed which will be among the young ladies of the town. When this one is organized it will bring the total to three and the work from these three organizations is expected to be of great benefit to this community.

MOONSHINE REVIEW OF LAST WEEK

Officers Busy In Many Sections of the County

Moonshining in Martin county as reviewed for one week is an everyday affair almost. Five out of seven days proved to be busy ones for the revenue officers. The review follows:

Monday morning, Deputy Sheriff J. R. Manning and Claude Jones caught a still at Franklin Neck, near Dardens. With the still they captured five gallons of whisky and a large quantity of beer. The operators ran and escaped capture.

Wednesday, Revenue agents Harris and Holly accompanied by Sheriff Roberson visited Cross Roads township and in that vicinity they captured a steam plant, 500 gallons of beer and other material used by the moonshiners. This outfit was cold and showed no signs of having been operated in the past few days.

Thursday the same corps of officers, accompanied by Deputies J. R. Manning and Claude Jones went down to visit the Free Union section. At this place they found two copper stills, which they captured with several barrels of beer. Several other places were visited where they found stills and 3,250 gallons of beer. The operators were not present at any of the stills captured.

Friday, J. R. Manning and Claude Jones captured a still near the Grim Shaw place. This still was in operation and boiling hot, in fact it was so extremely hot that the cap blew off just as the officers approached the scene. Samuel Modlin was operating the still. The beer and still were taken and Mr. Modlin will appear before Recorder Smith here at an early date.

Saturday morning, Sheriff Roberson and J. R. Manning with Agent Harris, made a second trip to the Free Union district and found a still and eight barrels of beer. No one was present and the indications were that the still had not been operated in several days.

THE INTEREST OF THE TIDEWATER

Many Road Sentences Meted Out By Judge Devin

The towns and cities having water fronts in the Tidewater country are greatly interested in the state development of Public Port Terminals and Water Transportation.

The State Commission on Ship and Water Transportation sent out questionnaires to the various Tidewater towns, calling for information about the State Port Terminals that might be established in various places. Nine responses were received as follows: Fayetteville, Wilmington, Southport, Morehead City, Beaufort, Cape Lookout, New Bern, Morehead City, and Winton. The information furnished by these places appears on pages 41-60 of the Commission's Report.

The Report of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission states that docks, wharves and landing places are available at some 25 or 30 towns in the state, that the Commission has been entered since through gifts at Southport, Wilmington, New Bern, Morehead City, and Manteo, and that others are promised.

It is not too late for the upper Tidewater country to get into the game. If the Bill now before the people for approval on November 4 carries, it will be the duty of the Port Terminals and Transportation Commission named in the Act to employ experienced, competent engineers to survey the available sites, locate the public ports on the ocean, sound and river waters of the state, and build terminal facilities necessary.

Both the Commission Report and the Act to be approved by popular vote concern the whole of our Tidewater Country. If any Tidewater town or city misses a chance, it ought not to be due to any indifference on their part.

At present such ports as we have on the inland waters and ocean fronts of the state are privately owned and operated. They need to be state-owned, publicly operated, and open on an equal footing to all private boat lines whatsoever.

There are 68 public port terminals in 31 states of the Union, many or most of them created in the last 25 years. There is no way to control rail rates except by water competition; and there is no way to have freedom in water rate competition except by public port facilities open and equal to the commerce of all the world.

Private port terminals are built to create profits for private owners. Public port terminals are built to develop communities and states upon a business basis. The Upper as certainly as the Lower Tidewater needs public port terminals.

"The right of free men is an open trade; it seems as if we stood and looked with listless gaze, while our neighbors, after their wonted manner, are scrambling for our spoils," said Dr. Joseph Caldwell nearly a hundred years ago.

North Carolina is still looking but she is no longer listless.

CRIMINAL DOCKET COMPLETED YESTERDAY

Many Road Sentences Meted Out By Judge Devin

The criminal docket of the Superior court was completed yesterday afternoon. The docket was unusual in that there were so few liquor and assault cases called.

Practically all the time was taken up in cases of theft there being few cases of fighting and so many cases of theft, it would indicate that some folks are getting too lazy to fight or to work and are stealing a living instead.

The following cases were disposed of since the last issue of this paper:

State vs Stephen Staton, Jr. in which case Staton was charged with house breaking and larceny. Staton was found guilty and was sentenced to the State reformatory for not less than three nor more than five years.

The next case called was State vs James D. Gurganus for assaulting with deadly weapon. There was prayer for judgment and the case was continued for a term of two years, capias to issue upon request of either the Solicitor or the Sheriff, if the defendant did not remain of good behavior.

In the case of State vs M. B. Daniel for abandonment, the defendant was found guilty and required to pay to F. J. Rebeck the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars in cash and the balance in ten monthly installments of five dollars each. The defendant, upon payment, is to have immediate charge of Bennett Daniel, his six year old son.

William Hopkins and Arthur Elison, in the case of State against them for house breaking and larceny were found not guilty by the jury.

The case of State vs Viola Staton for larceny and receiving was not prosecuted.

In the case of State vs John McKee for seduction, the case was continued.

William Syke, in the case of State against him for assault, plead guilty and received a jail sentence of twelve months with leave to be hired out for cost by the judge.

In State vs Elijah Manning, for larceny of an automobile, Manning was sentenced to the Edgecombe reformatory for a term of one year.

In State vs Henry Parker, for assault, Parker pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the county jail for the term of one year to be hired out for cost.

In the case of State vs John Isom Hyman, for house breaking and larceny, Hyman plead guilty and was sentenced to the Edgecombe reformatory for a term of two years.

In the case of State against William Mills, for larceny and receiving the defendant plead guilty and was sentenced to the Edgecombe reformatory for a term of eight months.

In the case of State versus Ben Biggs, with a charge of larceny and house breaking, Biggs plead guilty and he was sentenced to work the Edgecombe roads for a term of eight months also.

State vs Jesse Rogers for larceny and receiving was the last of five cases in which all the defendant's were caught at one time, on a Saturday night after they had been breaking into the warehouse at the river wharf and stealing sugar which they had been selling to liquor makers. For the small sum of five cents per pound. On the night they were arrested they did not steal any sugar but they were so badly frightened when their plans were frustrated that they confessed everything in regard to their previous raids. Rogers plead guilty, also, and he was sentenced to the Edgecombe roads for a term of one year.

This case completed the criminal docket for this term of court and the civil docket was begun yesterday afternoon and will continue throughout the greater part of next week as the docket is a large one.

ROANOKE FAIR ASSOCIATION TO ISSUE PAPER

To Reach Thousands of People in This Section

According to an announcement made by Manager H. M. Poe, the Roanoke Fair Association will issue this year in the next few weeks a paper advertising the Roanoke Fair which is to be held here the 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 of next month.

Manager Poe says, and he means what he says, he must reach every person from Pitt county to the west to the farthest on this side of the Chowan river and tell them of the fair which is to be held here. The number of copies to be printed and mailed out will run into many thousands. Its contents will be of a varied nature, dealing with the different departments of the fair and giving a general idea of what might be expected of the association this year.

The name of the paper has not been selected as yet, but there are several under consideration and an appropriate one will be chosen by the editor and will be announced at an early date.

The contents will not be of a wild nature but will be very conservative nature, giving in the best way possible the progress and development of the Roanoke Fair since its organization several years ago.

We do not know Manager Poe's ability when it comes to issuing a paper, for it is one thing he has never attempted, but judging from his success with his other many undertakings the paper will be a great success.

Every person in Martin county will receive one as well as many, many people in other counties. Arrangements have already been made for the printing of the paper and it is hoped that it will be ready for distribution in the next few weeks.

LOCAL MARKET SOLD OVER 140,000 LBS. YESTERDAY

Sold at an Average of 24 Cents; Farmers Pleased

The three auction tobacco warehouses of the local market had the largest break yesterday they have experienced in two years. Over 140,000 pounds of the weed was on the three warehouse floors for sale. The prices received were the highest of the season. The market made an average of twenty-four cents on all tobacco sold.

The farmers were well pleased with the sales and expressed themselves very favorably as to the strength of the Williamston market. This speaks well for the local market and a continued success is expected.

Today's sales on the warehouse floors were almost as heavy as those of yesterday with the price holding its own. While the number of pounds are not yet known, it is thought that about 132,000 are on the floor.

TUBERCULOSIS SEALS SALE TO START IN NOV.

Mrs. Luke Lamb To Be in Charge of Sale Here

The annual sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals held in Williamston this year. Mrs. Luke Lamb has been interested in local enterprises for civic improvement for some time, and as representative of the State Tuberculosis Association, proposes to launch an intensive sale of Seals in this community and double or triple the returns of last year.

The local benefit derived from a large sale is obvious. The sale is planned and controlled by a state organization that operates on a "for the people, by the people, and of the people" basis. Every citizen familiar with the work of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association is cognizant of the fact that for every dollar paid out for seals, seventy-five cents is retained in the city for use in preventive tuberculosis work, twenty-five cents going back to the State and National Associations for operating expenses. The significance of that statement cannot be overlooked. It means that prevention and treatment of tuberculosis is provided for the citizen of this town who has small or no funds without pauperizing him; it allows for the maintenance or part maintenance of his family while he regains his health. Briefly, it helps build up a healthy citizenship.

Mrs. Lamb, under orders from the Association office has all plans formulated to place the seals on the market on Thanksgiving Day. They will remain on sale until December 25th.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT EVERETTS

Meeting Being Conducted by Rev. Yearby of Tarboro

The Everetts Baptist Church started its series of revival services last Friday night. The pastor of the church opened the meeting and conducted the services until Monday night when he was relieved by Mr. Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tarboro.

Mr. Yearby delivered a very strong and forceful sermon Monday night, using the following text for his sermon, "If My People that are called by My Name, will Humble Themselves, and Pray, and Turn from their Wickedness, I will Hear from Heaven, I will forgive your Sins and I will Heal Your Land."

In his first sermon he made an explanation as to the type of revival he wished to see in this meeting, and that was an old time, Hebrew born, God sent revival. His sermon was based on humility and pointed out the reasons we should humble ourselves.

"We must humble ourselves, because God can't use a proud person. God tells us in his word that whosoever humbles himself as a little child, the same is the greatest in the sight of God. We should be humble, for we are in God's presence. We should also humble ourselves because we are dependent upon God for all things of life. If we fail to humble ourselves God can and may humble us in a thousand ways. Sometimes it may be by death or some dear one to us in order that we may be humble."

DURHAM COUNTY BUILDING $114,000 COUNTY HOME

County Home to be Located on the Roxboro Road

Durham county is building a county home that will cost $114,000 when it is completed. It will be located only two miles from the city of Durham on the Roxboro road. It will be one of the finest homes in the state when it is finished and the county of Durham should be proud of providing such a home for its aged, who are poverty stricken and homeless.

Durham county is setting an example in the building of this home that many other counties of our fair state, might pattern after, one would certainly say, who had seen some of the county homes in our section.

Durham county, though a small county is a very rich one, and can afford to spend over a hundred thousand for the comfort of its poor and while few other counties are able to spend this much, they are able to have much better ones than they now have. Take our own county home it is not as good as our prosperous county can afford and this fact is generally conceded by the most conservative of our citizens.

We suggest that we, the people of Martin county, get busy and build a new home, one that will cost $14,000. Surely we can do this if the people of Durham county can build one that costs $114,000.

EVERETTS SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

The Everetts school opens its 1924-25 session next Monday in its newly constructed school building.

Mr. R. A. Phillips, principal of the school, announces that all arrangements will be completed for the opening next Monday and that the work of the school for this session promises to be the best yet.

The school heretofore has been carrying on under unusual difficulties in that it was confined to a very small building with little or no equipment. The new building is very modern, it having steam heat, lights and new equipment.

Every pupil is urged to attend the opening exercises next Monday.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

On September 11th, our sister Augusta M. Woodard, was called to her reward and it is now for us to question why she was taken, but to bow in humble submission to His will. But when her spirit left this earth to dwell with the Heavenly Father, whom she loved so much, we lost one of our most loyal and most loved members.

WHEREAS, Be it resolved,

That the members of the Woman's Missionary and Ladies' Aid Societies of the Christian church fully realize the loss of one who has worked and served so steadfastly with them thru many years and one who has been a spiritual light to its members in their association with her.

THAT, as her friends, we will keep her memory dear, and hold in high regard her life, of which it may be said, that she was gentle in spirit, true in character, a wise parent, a loyal friend. Indeed, her life was one in which the teachings of Jesus Christ were exemplified.

THAT, a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our friend, a copy each sent to The Enterprise and to the North Carolina Christian for publication.
