

FARM POULTRY FLOCK

PAYS CLUB WOMAN

Washington, N. C. Nov. 24.—Mrs. P. A. Burbage, a member of the home demonstration club at Ransomville in Beaufort county enjoys working with her poultry and believes that pure bred flocks are profitable even as a 'sideline' on the farm," says Miss Violet Alexander, home demonstration agent for Beaufort county.

"Mrs. Burbage has a 200-egg capacity incubator which she set twice in addition to setting about fifteen or more hens. She was also one of the 300 farmers and farmer's wives who sold on the first cooperative car lot shipment of poultry from Beaufort County and was very proud to receive the largest individual check amounting to $123.26 for 90 cull hens and 10 old roosters."

Besides supplying her table, Miss Alexander states that Mrs. Burbage also sold the following surplus products for the first nine months of the year:

630 dozen eggs sold since first 1924 for $141.65; 125 young chickens sold for $78.25; 100 old chickens sold for $123.26; 2 turkeys sold for $7.50; total for nine months $350.66

"In addition to this neat little bank account Mrs. Burbage has supplied her table throughout this period," says Miss Alexander. "She also has a source of egg supply for the winter and the basis for a larger flock for next year. She now has 125 old and 175 new Barred Rocks and 16 young turkeys. What Mrs. Burbage has done this year can double next year and any other farm woman, if she is interested, can do the same."

WEEKLY MARKET NOTES

Raleigh, Nov. 24.—The State Division of Markets cooperating with farm and home agents of the State College Extension Division in making a survey of methods used in marketing poultry. It has been found in some counties that merchants are begging for eggs at 50 cents per dozen while in other counties the eggs go begging for buyers. In Cleveland county a producer is selling his eggs in New York at 84 cents per dozen. This producer has uniform, fertile, fresh eggs from a pure bred flock.

Turkey prices are good in North Carolina and there is no reason why all turkeys may not be sold at a profit in the State.

Fall pigs should be pushed for the market next March instead of feeding them poorly and carrying over the pigs for another year.

In some eastern counties the supply of milk is less than 15 gallons per person per year which is one-sixth of a normal supply. Some counties have even less than the fifteen gallons. An increase in the cow population would mean better and more wholesome food for the babies, a source of steady income for the farmer and richer soils.

Vegetable growers of Columbus, Robeson, Brunswick and New Hanover counties attended a meeting at Chadbourn on November 25 to hear plans outlined by George Ross, Chief of the Division of Markets, as to an effective method of distributing their crops. The Division now has a market news service and inspection service available for these growers.

Mr. Ross will attend the annual meeting of the National Association of State Marketing officials in Chicago on December 1, 2 and 3.

OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER

One egg in November is worth three in March, finds one poultry investigator who therefore encourages liberal feeding to the early pullet.

Lespedeza will prevent hilly land from washing, finds a farmer of Randolph county who will plant thirty acres to the crop next spring.

T. H. Crisp of Vance county brought 200 day-old chicks last spring raised 85 per cent of them and after selling the cockerels and culling the pullets had 780 choice ones left. These began laying in early September and had reached production by October 15. He is now selling about $100 worth of eggs each week and they are costing him only $60. per week.

Hog cholera has been ravaging the swine herds in some eastern Carolina counties. One farm agent treated 211 head in one day for six farmers in an effort to stay the epidemic. The agents are giving instruction in how to handle hogs under cholera conditions and this is doing much to prevent further outbreaks.

Lands tilled in Alamance county four years ago were in corn this season and made increased yields in every case. In some fields the increase was 100 per cent.

The best market for North Carolina turkeys this year will be found in North Carolina rather than on eastern markets, states V. W. Lewis, livestock marketing specialist.

Tom Tarheel says that he and his wife have found that it's nice to keep some eggs, butter and cream at home instead of trying to sell it all to folks in town.

SPECIAL RADIO PLANS FOR GOLDEN RULE DAY

Stations Throughout America Will Broadcast Sunday Programs for Near East Relief.

In connection with the state-wide celebration of International Golden Rule Sunday on December 7, which is being arranged through state and county committees of the Near East Relief, it is announced that special radio programs are being arranged for that day by all the broadcasting stations in the United States. Practically every regular Sunday program will be devoted to the observance of this day, with appropriate music and sermons, and several stations which are or-

MAJ. GEN. JAMES G. HARBORD clearly alert on Sunday will broadcast special Golden Rule Day programs. It is stated that 290 clergymen, the most prominent pulpits in America, will preach radio sermons for these invisible audiences, using the Golden Rule as their text. Arrangements for the Golden Rule Day broadcasting are being made with the co-operation of General James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, who is one of the national Board of Trustees of Near East Relief.

It is interesting to recall the inception of this Golden Rule Day idea, which has received enthusiastic endorsement from President Coolidge and the rulers of many European countries. That the idea had its origin in Geneva, Switzerland, is an occasion for surprise, because nearly every one of the great humanitarian projects of today have had their birth in the little Alpine Republic, a country which, though small in area, cherishes ideals that tower like its noble mountains.

The first International Golden Rule dinner was held at the Hotel des Bergues in Geneva on August 30. Paul Hymans, president of the Council of the League of Nations, presided. Representatives of twenty-three nations were present. They elected as the president of their international organization an American, Charles V. Vickrey of New York, who has been the head of the Near East Relief organization in America for several years.

To launch the plans for observance of Golden Rule Sunday in America, a similar dinner was held at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York a few weeks later. This has been followed by hundreds of similar organizational dinners throughout the United States, including the occasion in Washington when President Coolidge was the principal speaker.

At all these dinners the guests have been seated at plain pine tables and have partaken together of the same simple menu which is provided daily for the thousands of orphans under American care in Bible Lands. Tin cups and earthen bowls, made in the orphanage workshops in Greece and Palestine, have been used.

On December 7 every household in the United States is invited to participate in a similar observance, and then to send their contribution for the support of this orphanage work during the coming year.

ANCIENT CHANT REVIVED

Beirut, Syria.—For many centuries, children in Palestine have used, for grace before meals, a chant which has been handed down from early church fathers. The chant survives today as a thrice-daily exercise in all orphanages of the Near East Relief. Several thousand copies of words and music have been sent to America for use in the observance of Golden Rule Sunday on December 7.

TO BLESS AMERICANS

Moscow.—The annual ceremony of the Armenian church, known as the "Blessing of the Americans," will take place at Erivan, Caucasian Russia, next month. The Armenian Catholicos or Pope will preside. The ceremony is an expression of gratitude for help which the United States has extended to Armenia through the Near East Relief during the past few years.
