TOBACCO PRICES ARE MADE BY THE CO-OPS

to me that notwithstanding the fact that the '22 crop was the finest he had ever seen that it would average less than 12 cents on the Danville market. He added significantly that he knew what he was talking about and I assume that he spoke for his association and with authority. I mentioned above having received a check for balance to my credit. In this I was less fortunate than those receiving notice that they had been overpaid. Every settlement that comes under my observation showing overpayment showed also that he had received a very high average. In many instances more than three times the auction valuation.

One Overpayment

I recall that in 1914 an auction warehouse made me a cash advance on my tobacco then growing—some 40 acres, and every penny of these advances was applied to the production of this crop. When the crop was delivered the warehouseman at my request applied all the net proceeds of my sale to the credit of these advances. My account when all was sold showed I had been overpaid about 60 per cent. In other words, the net proceeds from my crop were about 40 per cent of the advance. In this case I was not given a statement showing a reserve fund to set this or any part of it, nor was I informed that I had acquired an interest in the warehouse, but I did refund every cent of overpayment with interest. There was a short crop that year, and the average price for leaf tobacco, as I recall it, was about 9 cents.

There was no tobacco growers' cooperative association in 1914, and the farmers did not then have a friend in Mr. James H. Wilson to investigate conditions for the relief of the farmer.

Cordially yours,
RUFUS CARTER.
Danville, Va., March 20, 1925.
