

DAIRYING - AT HOME AND ABROAD

Unloading Cheese Along the Canal at Amsterdam
Thousands of tons of Dutch cheese like those in the picture are unloaded annually. A big percentage is exported. Holland is one of the most productive dairy countries in the world. The most intensive and scientific methods are practiced. Cow testing associations are numerous.

Chile, South America
A South American Milkman
This picture was taken in Anaco, Chile Island, Chile. A cow of milk being on either side of a mule or some other native beast of burden and a goat measure are all this milkman needs to serve his flock. The goat measure has been used for centuries. The lady customer wears an intact lock-up the lock-up for short measure.

Lowville, N. Y., U. S. A.
This Cheese Curd Growing at 6641 Lbs.
It took 47,000 lbs. of milk to make it. They do things on a big scale in the U. S. A. You may be sure that it is good to eat too, because scientific methods, up-to-date housing facilities and complete sanitary measures all enter into the production of milk in America's greatest dairy State.

Seattle, Washington, U. S. A.
Segis Pictorial Prospect, a Real Champion
Her home is on Carleton Mill Farm, Seattle, Wash. Her milk is especially for babies. It is a very rich milk, especially for babies. It is a very rich milk, especially for babies. It is a very rich milk, especially for babies.

New Zealand
Early in the Morning the Milkman Arrives
Wellington, N. Z. milk supply is all under the control of the city which permits no milk to be sold except that which has been inspected and certified by the Health officials. The City buys the milk from the farmers and allows peddlers to sell it at a fixed price—No peddling here.

Antwerp, Belgium
The Lady Milkman Makes Her Daily Trip in Her Dog Chaise
In Belgium, you know, as well as in Holland, it is a very common thing to see a team of dogs harnessed to a milk wagon, but usually the driver of the team gives them a helping push. This lady must have been tired or she would surely have helped out her little team.

Dairying at Home and Abroad
The production of more milk, richer milk, purer milk starts months ahead where dairying is done on real business standards. Extreme care is given in rationing, housing and sanitation of the dairy farms.

Don't Trust to Luck

You've worked hard—and saved long for that home you are going to build—so exercise as good judgment in your choice and selection of materials that are to go into it.

When you buy lumber and other building materials at home—from a home dealer—you do not have to trust to luck in what you get.

Come to our yards and let us submit plans or go over the plans you have and help you decide just what you want. All of our experience in materials is at your beck and call. You can personally inspect materials and have the right to exchange (without expense) all deliveries that do not please you.

Concrete for Appearance as used on the farm of Dan Leshor, Waynesboro, Pa.

Concrete on the farm indicates progress, success, and prosperity. It helps the farmer make more money; makes his work easier and lets him work quicker. It makes a farm a more attractive and more efficient business place. You may not desire a "show place," but you must admire the permanency, economy and freedom from repair expense which come with Concrete Improvements on the farm.

Build with Concrete, and you need build but once. Concrete never rots, rusts, burns or wears out. It is the farmer's easiest-to-work, least expensive and most lasting building material. When you think of new farm improvements, ask any Security Cement dealer, how to make them with Concrete; or write direct to the manufacturer for helpful information.
