A Day of Many Blessings

When we look over the pages of a day's work with fairness and in the spirit of justice and truth, we must admit that much has been and still is being done for us.

There has been on day in recorded history that so much has been done for the public welfare as there is at this very day.

Nothing happens that would hinder man but that the National, State, county, or local government is there with a remedy and a protector.

When any disease appears, either in man, animal, fowl, or plant, there is a public representative immediately on hand to help.

Price of Rubber Take Flight

A few months ago rubber was selling at 17 cents a pound; now it has gone as high as 61 cents, or more than three times as high.

The United States does not produce a pound of rubber, yet it is by far the largest user of any nation in the world, importing in 1924 736,000,000 pounds. Considerable alarm is felt in some quarters as to the outcome of the question of rubber supply. Eng-

Letters To The Editor

REPLIES TO WASHINGTON DAILY NEWS

Mr. W. C. Manning, Williamston, N. C.

Dear Editor:—Please allow me space in your paper, The Enterprise, to make a short reply to the editor of the Washington Daily News, and to his "special correspondent," in regard to what they have said about Martin County and her officials.

The editor of the Daily News has written in such a way as to make those most familiar with the facts think that martial law has been declared and he has been appointed governor general over Martin County; and also has been commissioned to abuse Martin County and her officials beyond reason; and has not confined himself to the facts in the case.

We lay no claims to omniscience nor do we believe that the editor should, for we are told by the Book Divine that we should pick the mote out of our own eye before we can take the beam out of our brother's eye. We do not claim that the records of our county is clear and without blemish and if the editor will stop from abusing us long enough to think of the records of his own county, that it is not as white as snow. I want to call his attention to the lynching of Parker from the river bridge. My father told me that he was in Washington next day after Parker was lynched, and nearly everyone he met was laughing how they kicked Parker from the bridge, and rejoicing and shouting was heard on every street about the brutal crime they had committed. Has the editor forgotten about the prisoner taken from jail and hung to a sweet gum on the edge of Washington. That was another crime that received indorsement from your people. I want the gentleman to tell me how many men did your sheriff arrest for the lynching of Parker? How many were tried for mob violence? How many were arrested for the lynching of the man on the edge of town. Did your sheriff raise his hands or open his mouth? Mr. Editor, get busy and wash your own records; get them as white as the robe of the "Lamb," and then come over to Martin, and we will give you a job; until you have bleached your own records quit tampering with Martin's affairs.

After the act of March 29th our sheriff and his deputies arrested practically every member of the mob, and they have been tried and part sent to the State prison and the remainder fined heavily; therefore, you see, Mr. Editor, that our sheriff did better than yours, for he made no arrest and every member was allowed to go free, and you must have pinned roses of indorsement on them.

In regard to the "special correspondent; I noticed that he did not have the moral courage to sign his name. When a man attempts to rebuke and abuse another and is not man enough to sign his name I do not put any credence to such an article. I like to see a man that is a man. I will assure you that if Sheriff Roberson should write an article he would place his name to it, for he is a man of courage and ability and the people of Martin County know it and have an unlimited confidence in him. His acts as sheriff were weighed and found good by the grand jury; and when a man says the grand jury was whitewashing, "he must measure their corn in his half bushel."

The Daily News editor probably thinks he is damaging Martin county or her officials, but he must remember that, as the great Persian knight wrote, "abuse always rebounds back upon itself," and should the editor look over his subscription list 12 months from today he will think that it has struck his Martin County subscribers. Thanking you, Mr. Manning, for space, I am Respectfully yours, A. DAWSON GRIFFIN.
