VIRGINIA-CAROLINA DAY A BIG DAY AT THE FAIR

Wednesday, September the 9th, is the big day for the farmers of the Tidewater section of Virginia and eastern North Carolina at the Greater Interstate Norfolk Virginia Fair. Special preparations are being made to make "farmers' day" the biggest event of the week. Short talks by farm experts, special display of rare agriculture products, and new and extra entertainment features are to be provided. The slogan for the day will be "Our Farmers" and every one has been put on the committee to see that no stone is left unturned to make every farmer and his family with his friends have "the one big day." Special horse races will be held in addition to the regular races; there will be a watermelon-eating contest by the "pickaninies." An old time fiddlers' contest and many other special features. At night there will be two big bands playing all the time, in addition to the band that will give special concerts for the farmers gathering in the day time. Fifteen big circus stage acts and the big bathing beauty parade with a mammoth display of fireworks at night will be seen. While this will be a big day it must be fully understood that every day during the fair special features that will interest the farmer will be given, in fact the whole week will be a sort of farmers convention for over two hundred farmers have been listed as exhibitors in the agriculture hall. The fair this year will outdo all previous ones; in fact, the bigness of it really makes it a mammoth exposition of the farming and industrial pursuits. The grounds will be lighted up by over ten thousand different colored lights and the grand midway will have twenty big shows in addition to ten new and turiling rides. Joy and fun for all will be in abundance, and those that come will hold forever the happiest memories of the Greater Interstate Norfolk Virginia Fair, which this year will open on Monday, the seventh, and will run both day and night throughout the entire week.
