Liquor Again Takes Its Toll

Crime added another of its horrors to the community last Friday in the quiet, an conservative town of Windsor. Yet, when the case is reviewed there is nothing in it or about it. The crime is, of course, laid at the door of Raymond Sprull and the indictment is against him, and it is he and his family who will have to suffer the consequences. But all the fault does not lie at his door. The entire community that has tolerated the manufacture and sale of liquor is much to blame. Doubtless many of the so-called leading citizens have helped to create the condition of lawlessness which enabled Sprull to stay drunk for months at a time until his mind is so impaired that he deliberately shoots down a man in cold blood.

We don't have to leave our own town to find drunken old "sags" and we are not preaching to our friends across the way. We have our own problems, but may we hope that we may consider that happening and profit by it.

All in Readiness for Market Opening

Every show window trimmed, a smile of welcome on every citizen's face and a greeting that will make friends should be the order of the day next week when thousands of visitors will come to our town.

The largest crowd ever expected at a tobacco opening promises to be in Williamston next week, and it is our duty to make them feel at home. And we are going to do our best. The merchants are offering values that will prove that Williamston is a trading center. Already the goods are coming in and in such quantities that all previous orders will be small in comparison. Join in and help to make our visitors feel at home.

The warehousemen are on the job and guarantee their support. Think it over and get busy.

"Liquor hid under woman's dress" reads a headline. It certainly was not a modern dress, and we all know the reason well why it wasn't a modern dress. And since there was a half gallon of liquor, the style must have been of that type dating back to the Revolutionary times.

COOLIDGE ON THE RADIO. THE FARMER'S SHARE. THE 24-OUNCE DRESS. OLD SWIMMING HOLES.

The Agricultural Department shows that in 1924 the farmers averaged a profit of 21 cents a bushel on wheat and 29 cents a bushel on corn. Many lost money on every bushel, others made more than the average.

Farmers that raised potatoes on the average actually lost money, and would have been better off if they hadn't planted a potato.

A good wheat speculator, knowing that the prosperous class wanted La Follette badly beaten, and was sure to put up the price of wheat, could easily buy a million bushels of wheat early in the campaign, and sell it at a profit of one million dollars.

It was a lucky farmer that could raise five thousand bushels of wheat and sell it at a profit of one thousand dollars.

No man can guess what power to speak well over the radio may mean in years to come.

The other night bridge parties laid down their cards, women on farms stopped the late cleaning up of dishes, their husbands came in from evening chores, tens of millions listened to the President's clear, incisive matter of fact voice, discussing in plain fashion the importance of national economies and laying down, to the satisfaction of every hearer, the simple truth that the people's money belongs to the PEOPLE.

It was an innovation when Woodrow Wilson, so perfectly dressed, drove to the Capitol and talked direct to Senators, Representatives, the Supreme Court and others.

"Wonderful audience," the world said.

But it was no audience at all

Poem

Uncle John

We used to wear knee-breeches in the budding spring of youth—when a feller's legs was worthy and digestion told the truth.— When the stone-bruise was a fashion, and the drowsy bumble-bee nursed the soul-devoirin' passion to defend his liberty. Yes, we used to wear knee-breeches in the economic day; when a keesful mother figured that the long ones didn't pay.— And she'd sock observations on her young an' hopeful son,— till the camouflage amounted to about the same as none!

Today—we wear knee-breeches, though we're slightly overgrown; it takes about a forty-eight to span our torrid zone.— A loose, colonial pucker grips the half-bosotted shins—with extra fitted' sox to store our corns an' bunions in. The gentler sex applauds us when we sweat the tiny sphere, but—beyond the pale of kin-folks—they can hardly be sincere!

In English coal mines, mechanical cutters and carriers of coal are driving out men by the thousands. "The truth shall set you free," says the Bible. Science IS the truth, and you realize what science has done to set humans free when you look at the pictures of women that used to work in English coal mines, crawling on their hands and knees through the narrow passages, an iron chain around their necks, passing under their bodies and fastened to a small coal car.

Turn from that picture of a woman pulling coal on her hands and knees to a modern mechanical coal carrier, moved by electricity.

Patriotic citizens of Indiana contribute $12,500 to preserve James Whitcomb Riley's "Ole Swimmint' Hole." That's worth white, sentiment is beautiful.

The government ought to spend a few thousand times $12,500 to fill up a lot of mosquitoes' old swimming holes, swamps and other breeding places of malaria.

Some of the money that President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon are going to save might well be spent wiping out disease, deserts and swamps on Uncle Sam's great farm.

American officers that went to England to play polo against the British officers beat the British, and the polo military title stays in the United States. That is good. But why are Americans enlisted men sent over to act as servants?

Before You Know It

Last spring when you hung it away you thought you would "one day soon" send it to be cleaned—pressed—and have it ready for fall wear.

Well—fall is almost here, and before you know it a brisk, cold breeze will be blowing, and you haven't yet sent us that suit for needed work.

We will make it look like new. Our prices for cleaning and pressing are very low. Let us call for your work.
